'A COLONIAL GIRL" TOMORROW NIGHT.

"A Colonial Girl" will appear at the Grand tomorrow night. All the To-ronto papers spoke highly of the performance last week. The following is a synopsis of the World's criticism: "Go to the Grand tonight, tomorrow night or Saturday matinee, and live two pleasant hours in the stirring times of the revolutionary war, amid the gallantry of military officers, the rudeness of common soldiers and the romance that the old colonial days alone can arouse. See manly Howard Gould as Godfrey Remsen, make merry love to dainty Miss Grace Freeman, as Mollie Hedden, and with quickened pulse relive your own sweet story. Observe in the case of Miss Eleanor Carr, as Lady Judith Danvers, Godfrey's cousin, how a woman scorned may turn against a former lover, even to the endangering of his life. See how a pampered, flattered officer like Capt.
Lovelace, played by Robert Conners,
-may forget to be self-restrained, and in his unbridled self-conceit forget that honor makes a man. Go and be amused, instructed, edified; and you will be a sfrange man if the last curtain does a strange man if the last curtain does not find you a better man than the

"'A Colonial Girl' is a pretty picture. It is staged historically exact. The play as a picture will last; as an addition to dramatic literature, it has but little to commend it. Nevertheless, there are powerful dramatic situations, which, though not wholly original, still serve to make the story fascinating. Nothing prettier has been seen in To-ronto than the first act, wherein Godfrey Remsen woos and weds Mollie Hedden. There is comedy in the play well sustained by excellent actors. In fact, every part is essayed with intelligence, while the whole performance is a finished one. Those who miss 'A Colonial Girl' do not know a good thing when it is in town. See it."

An Eastern War Cloud. UNEASINESS PREVAILS.

London, Nov. 13 .- The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail says: An uneasy feeling regarding the relations of Russia and Japan is spreading here. There is no doubt that Japan is practically allied with China, despite the degradation which the empress dowa- in a wide circle. ger inflicted upon the Chinese envoys to Japan on their recent return. This was merely a tactful move, with a view of appeasing Russia. A large Russian fleet intends wintering in Nagasaki harbor, and some remonstrance by Japan is probable. Prince Henry of Prussia, the commander of the German squadron in the North Pacific, is watching the progress of events. One of them was taken out dead, another had one foot instructions are the result of the increasing tension between Japan and Russia.

AN EASTERN WAR CLOUD.

London, Nov. 13.-Amid much wild talk concerning the relations of Russia and Japan, the Times' Seoul correspondent writes in a suggestive fashion, which is worthy of consideration. He argues that there is going to be a great struggle in the far east, chiefly between Japan and Russia, on account of the trade of that territory. Practically Japan's only market is the United States, and this trade is destined to drop as prices begin to rise in Japan, and the country become more industrial. This being so, the correspondent argues, Corea is the key to the question. If Russia is thoroughly entrenched there, she will be able to watch every line of Japanese communication with the continent, cut off her markets on the mainland, and even menace Japanese harmony. menace Japanese harmony. But Japan has control of the peninsula, she will have a more advantageous position in the Yellow Sea than Port Arthur gives to Russia, on account of the unrivaled harbors of West Corea. Thus Japan, while vitally interested in China, must desire a disposition of Corea before there can be any settlement of the Chinese problem. If the Chinese matter is forced to the front, Japan will be compelled to hurry a decision as regards Corea. Herein lies the danger, as it is not likely that Russia will care to share her domination of the Yellow Sea with an inimi-cal country which bids fair to become a great naval power, while nothing will compensate Japan for the loss of the peninsula, which is indispensable to her, both for commercial and strategic London, Nov. 13.—The Times, referring editorially this morning to the speech of United States Ambassador Choate at the annual banquet of the Walter Scott Club in Edinburgh on Friday evening, said: "The American people are generous enough to like us better for being proud and glad of their sympathy, than for having given them our own. Now the British people, amid the chorus of depreciation and abuse from the continental press, find in the hearty approbation of a great, free nation, encouragement and strength of a kind which even ironclads cannot supply." Proceeding to discuss the bearings of the Samoan agreement, the Times remarks: "Both the English and American people will remember that in the very nature of things Germany can never be a friend of either in quite the same sense as they are, and ought increasingly to become friends of one another.'

LIFE SAVED .- Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians.
A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me: I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with refluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any
