CITY, FRIENDS AND CHURCH

ator Coffey has built up a paper that has no equal in the Dominion of Canada or America, and for 35 years he has served his church as a journalist.

"It is not only a matter of finding words of strength to speak of Senator Coffey as husband, father or friend. Yet from the moment I first saw him, not more than four years ago, when he spoke in behalf of the Catholic laymen at my consecration as Bishop of London, I felt that I had found a friend.

Sympathy to Wife.

"Why should my private or personal grief enter in? Think of the home that will know his presence no more. To his wife of 45 years of peace, and to his family, of which he was head, in so large and deep a sense, our hearts go out. The longer the years, the harder the separation.

"I would have liked to bring into that sickroom everyone present to see how patriarchy die, see how they face eternity, and smile where others tremble; see how they give their families a meeting place in heaven. A note of joy was heard before the soul left the body.

His Wonderful Humanity.

"You are carrying out today an honest man, which is the noblest work of God, a straightforward, high-minded, honorable man. His human qualities above all the rest of his qualities. He was always putting himself behind anyone he could serve, and always wished to appear in the background.

"Only today I realize the vacancy that will be left in my heart and life. This faithful servant of Jesus Christ, lay him down to peace and rest. Remember that he was one of the children of the world, your knees and in your hearts say: 'Eternal rest be unto him, O Lord.'"

In the funeral cortege from the house the family followed the hearse, while the Knights of Columbus and the representatives of the C. M. B. A. marched in a body before it. Leaving the church, the long cortege followed the body of the late senator to the graveside in St. Peter's Cemetery.

The Pallbearers.

The honorary pallbearers were: Sir George Gibbons, K.C., Hon. C. S. Hyman, F. H. Purdon, K.C., Hon. Adam Beck, Judge Macbeth, R. C. Struthers, M. Masurel and Sheriff Cameron, while the acting pallbearers were: Philip Pocock, R. H. Dignan, F. J. Murphy, C. J. Fitzgerald, William McPhillips, F. Y. Flinnigan, W. J. Coles and M. P. McDonagh.

Special service of the Springbank line is given to accommodate the crowd of picnickers, who start for the park at 8:30.

Lunch will be served late in the afternoon, and a dance held in the evening at the pavilion.

HIGH TENSION TROUBLE CRIPPLES HYDRO POWER

Second Accident in Week Shuts Off Power for 25 Minutes—Cars Can't Run.

Hydro power was off in London for 25 minutes at noon today when a local official could not say what the trouble was. General Manager Gaultz attributed it to high tension. The London street railway did not operate any cars in that time and was preparing to draw on its auxiliary power for relief.

It was said at the hydro offices here that the entire system was out of commission for about half an hour.

DR. McNEILL WON'T REPLY TO M.H.O. HUTCHINSON

London Township Health Board Meeting This Afternoon to Consider S. Clinton Case.

Dr. D. G. MacNeill, of Arva, medical health officer of London Township, would make no reply today to the statement of Dr. Hutchinson, local M. H. O., who said yesterday that Dr. MacNeill was in error concerning a smallpox patient named Sam Clinton, who was recently discharged from the isolation hospital in this city.

Dr. MacNeill claims Clinton was discharged too soon and communicated the disease to a brother in London Township, making it necessary to have their home quarantined.

The township health board is meeting this afternoon, when the case will come up for discussion. It was intimated that the board might make some reply to Dr. Hutchinson's statement.

MAYOR MAKES

been placed in a funny light by the delivery of 75,000 ties from Lake Erie Coal Company officials in advance of the time when tenders were opened. One commissioner stated that there had been no advance arrangement, that the company had taken a chance on its price being the lowest and had sent the cars ahead in the hope that the tender would be successful. But Hon. Adam Beck has just been quoted as saying that it was arranged to purchase the ties last winter because the price was low. The two statements are diametrically opposed.

Another story was to the effect that Mayor Graham had ordered the ties, and that Mr. Beck was very "sore" when the fact came to light. This is not believed, however, in view of Mr. Beck's recent statement.

Mayor is Sick of it.

A close friend of the mayor's stated today that the mayor was heartily sick of the manner in which business was being transacted. He feels a direct responsibility to the people who placed him in office, according to his friend, and is anxious that above all the meetings should be kept open to the press.

"I will guarantee fair reports if they will let the reporters in," he said. "It's not fair to me or fair to the public. Why shouldn't we close the board of control and do everything in the same hole-and-corner way? It is hurting the scheme we worked so hard to put through."

It is definitely understood, however, that the meetings of the commission will not be open to the press.

An interesting dispatch received the other day stated that the Turkish Government had just ordered that all meetings in that country should be thrown open to the representatives of the press.

NEEDS MORE ENGINES

G. T. R. Middle Division Will Have Ten New Ones of 500 Type.

Ten locomotives of the superheater five-hundred class are under way in the Grand Trunk construction shops at Montreal under contract to be delivered to the middle division of the road by the middle of July. The new engines will be used on the through freights out of London, east and west on the main line. Two will be used on the London-Detroit run.

The new engines will be practically the same as the present "five spots." The recent new railway regulations, which permit no train to carry more than fifty cars, has compelled the company to add the new locos to handle the additional traffic.

Before the passing of this railway ordinance trains carried many more cars. They are now "split," necessitating more locomotives to handle the traffic.

It is stated that new passenger locomotives, heavier than the present type, are also under construction, to handle heavier trains that the company is running to accommodate the larger number of travellers.

ROWELL ASKS NEW ONTARIO TO MAKE IT "5 STRAIGHT"

Liberal Leader Given Splendid Reception at Cobalt and New Liskeard—His Request May Be Granted.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

North Bay, June 10.—"Make it five straight from New Ontario" was the stirring message that N. W. Rowell, riding in the rear of the Liberals of this section of the province on the completion of his hurried tour here tonight. The appeal from the Liberal leader found a hearty and loud-voiced response in the cheers that greeted it, and from all present indications there is every reason to hope that it will be realized.

Mr. Rowell spoke at two meetings today, 125 miles apart.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning brought him to Cobalt about 10 o'clock, where an informal reception was tendered him by the Temiskaming Liberals. He was then whisked by motor to New Liskeard, touching North Cobalt and Haliburton by the way, and addressed an enthusiastic gathering that had assembled in the New Liskeard Opera House in the interval of the motor trip. For a meeting called on 24 hours' notice during sweltering weather, it was a tribute to the personality of the Liberal leader and power of his cause.

The meeting at North Bay tonight was a splendid climax to this part of the campaign. The large opera house here was filled to overflowing, a band serenaded the Liberal leader, and the leading men of the town volunteered their presence on the platform to endorse his cause.

Mr. Rowell addressed himself at both meetings to problems immediately affecting New Ontario. He remarked that the reforming energy of the Whitney Government had evidently been dissipated in nine years, and there were signs of disintegration that had shaken public confidence.

Make Good Votes.

He attacked the method of granting colonization roads as being designed to make good votes rather than good roads, and pledged himself to turn these grants over to the municipal councils, who were better able to deal with such works. The refusal of the Government to give a measure of tax reform was arrogant and wanton. Assuming there were difficulties in old Ontario, Mr. Rowell declared there were no difficulties in New Ontario to prevent the advance ideas of other provinces being applied for its benefit. On this point, he declared that the lands of the T. and N. O. should be taxed and not held for speculation.

If the road was a business proposition, why not treat it as such? He emphasized the need for progressive legislation, showed the defects in the new workman's compensation law, and of the eight-hour day for miners had been incorporated in the Liberal platform of 1911.

Bilingual Question.

Applause greeted his declaration that the department of education had forfeited the confidence of the people. On the bilingual situation he said: "In a province where the majority are English speaking and the English language is the language of our Legislature and our courts, and of our commerce, and our children in Ontario who does not receive a good English education is at a disadvantage in the struggle for life. Therefore, it is the duty of the state to see that every child in this province has a good English education. It is a business proposition, and children in this province belonging to other races, as English is a race, and as English is the language of commerce, so is the language of diplomacy and of literature and of good citizenship. It is only natural that they should desire to retain their mother tongue. And so, consistent with a good English education on the one hand, it would be glad to see, and I believe a public-spirited citizen would be glad to see the children of our French-Canadian fellow citizens receive an education in their mother tongue as well as in English."

Other matters dealt with by Mr. Rowell were the extravagance on Government House in the face of a reduced grant for rural public schools, special exemption of T. and N. O. lands held for rise in value, discrimination against claimants in not being able to proceed without securing a fiat.

TO ASK $30,000

Board of Education Will Hold Special Meeting for Collegiate Request.

The board of education will hold a special meeting tomorrow afternoon to take up the question of asking the council to issue debentures for $30,000, so the improvements at the Collegiate Institute can be completed this summer.

The appointment of a teacher at Byron Prentiss and several minor matters will also be discussed.

Committee No. 2 of the board will hold a meeting tonight to open call tenders and award contracts. The committee report on the bill to have the board tomorrow, will be presented.

SCHOOL KIDDIES OVERCOME

All of the six Simcoe Street School children who were prostrated by the oppressive heat Tuesday at noon, were sufficiently recovered to be at school again yesterday. They had been playing too strenuously on the way from school and were overcome near their homes.

In spite of the great heat in London the last few days, there have been few cases reported of persons overcome. None have been taken to the hospitals. Doctors have been called to attend a few, but no cases have been serious.

C. M. A. HOLDS OUT THE OLIVE BRANCH TO AGRICULTURISTS

Passes Resolution Favoring Regular Conferences With Their Representatives.

COL. GARTSHORE HONORED Elected Second Vice-President of Association—Windsor Man President.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, June 11.—The olive branch held out to the farming community on behalf of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association by its president C. B. Gordon, Montreal, in his annual address, an advance welcomed by C. A. Dunning, a western expert grain grower, last night was further extended this morning when a resolution was passed by the delegates to the association's convention here favoring the holding of regular conference between the C. M. A. and representatives of basic industries, especially agriculture.

Other resolutions passed approved of memorializing provincial governments in favor of legislation similar to the first marshal act recently adopted in Ontario; a broad based system of technical education and industrial museums; transferring $2,000 to the Empire relief fund from the unexpended balance of the Regina relief fund and reaffirming adherence to the people of preference to products of native industry.

The following officers were elected: E. G. Henderson, Windsor, president; J. S. Sherrard, Montreal, first vice-president; Col. W. M. Gartshore, London, second vice-president; George Both, Toronto, treasurer.

Members of the general executive were elected by acclamation.

The convention will be brought to a close this evening by the annual banquet, which will take place at the Windsor Hotel.

R. D. Fairbairn, Toronto, in moving the adoption of the report of the education committee of the C. M. A. this morning, said the royal commission's report on technical education was too unwieldy, and suggested that a 200-page report be reduced to 100 pages. He thought the report should be ignored and a grant in aid of technical education sought on the lines of the agricultural act.

S. R. Parsons, after moving the adoption of the transportation committee's report, paid a tribute to the chairman of the railway commission, who, he said, had the courage of his convictions and acted promptly on them.

C. B. Gordon, the former president of the C. M. A., said in future Canada could only afford to borrow a limited amount each year for railways; while present lines should be made to pay for new ones were built.

Alexander Saunders thought manufacturers should develop more foreign trade, which would enable them to meet such bad times as prevailed at present.

C. B. Watson alleged there was discrimination in the Atlantic steamship business against Canadian millers. The rate for grain was two cents per bushel higher from Montreal than from New York.

The chairman agreed to refer this matter to the incoming executive committee for investigation.

EXEMPTION REPEAL MAY PASS TONIGHT

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—The end of the long fight over the Panama canal tolls exemption repeal bill was believed to be in sight when the Senate today resumed consideration of the measure. Prospects for a vote on the bill before adjournment tonight.

With the adoption of the so-called Simmons-Norris amendment, and the rejection of the Sutherland and Cummins amendments, it was believed that the way had been paved for a final disposition of the measure. No serious legislative obstacles toward a final vote were in prospect. Although the amendments were adopted, it was believed that they would be quickly disposed of.

spect the rights of the other political factions. Also the United States objects to having Huerta literally allow a successor, by permitting him to name as foreign minister the man who would be chosen for succession as provisional president. A serious hitch has arisen on these points.

Anarchy Feared.

The attack on Zatecas was regarded as indicating the inevitable trend of events if mediation failed. Another possibility is that if mediation is unsuccessful and fighting continues, foreign complications may arise out of conflict between the army of the United States and the American army to move from Vera Cruz to Mexico City.

Neither General Carranza nor General Villa is desired by the United States for provisional president, nor is any other one of the prominent military chiefs. The Mexican delegates have not yet formally expressed their views, but they contain a "neutral" unaffected by the passions of any party.

Treason Here.

Mazatlan, Mexico, June 10.—The Constitutionalists forces besieging Mazatlan, it was learned today, had captured the city. The Senate last night. A new wall cemetery also fell into their possession.

The discovery was made today that the breach plugs at the United States Federal gun at Fort Rosales were missing. The artillery officer in charge has been demoted.

Antilla Arrives

Tampico, Mexico, June 10.—(By way of Laredo, Texas, June 11.)—The steamship Antilla, supposed to be bringing arms and ammunition for the Constitutionalists, arrived here today and anchored off the city wharves. She is to discharge her cargo tomorrow.

A most delightful garden party and musical was given last evening at "The Grange," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Jordan, the guests of honor being Dr. and Mrs. Torrington, of Toronto. Dr. Torrington is known throughout Canada for his interest in music and musicians, and his wife, president of the National Council of Women, is also widely known.

Mrs. Jordan received with her guests, wearing a becoming gown of rose chamoisee. Mrs. Torrington, who had just recently returned from the International Congress of Women at Kansas, was attended in black lace gown, white, with trimmings of Brussels point, and carried a handsome bouquet of pink roses, the gift of the local council of women.

ARTIST PAINTS FAIR SEX HERE

Beauty Parlor on Dundas St. Does Rushing Business Today in Cosmetics.

SMILES PAINTED, TOO

Crowd Looks On While Man Hugs Models to Apply the Kalsomine.

In a beauty parlor opposite the Advertiser office today a male expert was beautifying the faces of several women. He worked laboriously and unconsciously as it were of the keen interest which onlookers took in his job.

A tray of cosmetics lay before him. A pot of brushes stood on his right side. His artist's smock was much discolored from the dripping fluids so swiftly transferred to the feminine features. Now he deftly penciled an eyebrow or rouged a cheek. A second electrical motor to assist W. B. Legate. There are six applications for the position.

To Auto to Summer Home.—Mr. and Mrs. George McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young and Miss Luta Layman will leave for Mr. McCormick's summer home in Wisconsin in a short time. The party will make the trip by automobile. Miss Layman has several important concert engagements in Wisconsin during her vacation.

Ladies Liked It.

The ladies seemed to like having their faces painted in this way. They made no objection to the somewhat rough handling of the artist expert. Smiles invariably stole over their faces as the work progressed, but it was difficult to tell if they were real or whether the artist was painting them there. Once there seemed to be a remonstrance to the artist's way of doing things and he had to grab a lily white neck rudely in both hands and give the neck a shaking.

As fast as the work of painting was completed the "ladies" were attired in diaphanous gowns and hurried downstairs to resume their places in the front show windows as wax models of fashion.

LAST ECHO HEARD IN LUSCOMBE CASE

Supreme Court Settlement Effected in Suit Brought by Creditor.

The action was dismissed, as Mr. Westervelt made a satisfactory settlement with Mrs. Slater.

This is the last chapter in the case as over 60 witnesses have been heard, and the Luscombe property as made to J. W. Westervelt.

In the lower floor of this new addition a garage will be located, while the second floor will be an extension of the existing pool room on the second floor. In the basement a barber shop will be added, while an entrance will be made at the side to give access to the offices on the upper floors. A wide staircase will be run to the top floor.

Alterations in the store on the ground floor of the building and occupied by the Scotland Woollen Mills Company are also planned. Some changes will be made in the present bowling alleys.

LONDON LIFE PICNIC

Insurance Company Employees Have Motor Jaunt and Outing.

Combining a 75-mile automobile trip yesterday with the annual picnic, the office staff, numbering 60, of the London Life Insurance Company, declare that the outing was the most novel and varied in their experience.

Leaving London in twelve automobiles at 8:30 yesterday morning, the picnicers reached Port Bruce, via Glanworth, Union and Sparta, with a short stay in Port Thomas, and a drive along the lakeshore.

At Port Bruce there was a good baseball game between two teams from the office.

The dinner served them in the little old hotel at the lakeside will be remembered for years by the company.

"It was a real old-fashioned fish dinner, beautifully cooked," said J. F. Maine, who superintended the outing, "the kind you seldom have the pleasure of being served."

The early afternoon was spent in bill-
