

WM. FORRESTER TO AGAIN FIGHT FOR SOUTH PERTH SEAT, LOST IN 1917 BY OVERSEAS SOLDIER VOTE

Received Unanimous Nomination At Liberal Convention At St. Marys Tuesday.

ELECTION CORRUPT, SAYS CAPT. F. G. SANDERSON

F. F. Pardee Reveals Vain Efforts of Meighen To Hide Real Issues.

ST. MARYS, Oct. 11.—William Forrester, a prominent flax man of Mitchell, was the unanimous choice of the South Perth Liberal Association at its convention in the town hall here this afternoon. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and a crowded hall faced the speakers as they arrived shortly after 1 o'clock. William Forrester, the popular candidate, was the first to speak, and the building rocked with applause as he rose from his chair.

WM. G. FORRESTER, WELL-KNOWN FLAX MAN OF MITCHELL.

"You are all aware," said Mr. Forrester, "that we are in the immediate vicinity of a general election. Four years ago you voted good enough to elect me, but I never had an opportunity to fill the seat. You all know the reason. The Ottawa Government annulled your vote and elected another man in my place, doing the act of the Kaiser themselves, which is just about the size of the old Tory Government. They are autocratic and want to do without the people as much as possible.

"Look at the enormous debt piled on your back which you have to pay by the sweat of your brow, and if the present Government is allowed to remain and go on increasing this debt from year to year, where shall we end? The country will automatically go bankrupt. And now one word more: I want to impress upon the Liberals of South Perth the fact that if we become organized we can win this fight and win it easily, but we must all put our shoulder to the wheel and remain as united as ever before.

Must Work Hard. "I leave everything in your hands and assure you I shall leave no stone unturned to get more attain the result which I did four years ago. I carried the riding, as you know, but was cheated out of it. It now behooves all who want responsible government to stand together and help wipe out these disgraceful conditions."

Capt. Fred G. Sanderson, the next speaker, briefly outlined his attitude towards the present Government. He remarked that this was the first political convention he had attended where ladies were present. He was very glad they had the franchise, for he knew they could not be swayed one way or the other; but he was convinced that the women of South Perth would do all in their power to help turn out the present Government.

"I have a confession to make," said Capt. Sanderson, "I was overseas during the election of 1917 and voted for Union Government, and were I today confronted by the same condition I would do so again. But there is nothing but Liberal blood in my veins and I have been opposed to the Government since the day of the armistice. There never was a more corrupt election fought on the face of the earth than that of 1917. (Applause.)

"I have no doubt in my mind that Mr. Forrester won the election in South Perth and that his seat was occupied by the Government man for four years. This party, with its fancy name, call it what you like, is the old Tory party camouflaged and dressed up in new attire to fool the people. But they cannot be fooled. (Applause.) This fight will be a strenuous one and more or less mixed up, with three candidates in the field. There is no doubt in my mind, however, but what we can win and place Mr. Forrester in the seat he won in 1917.

"Our Tory friends trot out the flag and tell us we don't vote for them, we are more or less a traitor to our country. They put 'God Save the King' on their advertising when it should really be 'God Save the Government.' F. F. Pardee, in rising to speak, commented that he had not spoken in South Perth since the last general election. 'I was at the meeting,' he said, 'when a good fight and carried the colors high only to have his seat stolen. The same Forrester standing for the same principles in today's election for your solid support to help him carry the Liberal banner to victory.

Board of Education To Consider Pensioner's Case.

A surprise was sprung on some members of No. 2 committee of the board of education at Tuesday's meeting, when they were informed that they had been paying a former employee her salary since 1913.

Mrs. Harding, who is now in her 32nd year, resigned from her position as janitress of Grand Avenue School owing to ill-health eight years ago. When her resignation was accepted by the board, it was decided owing to her advanced age to allow her salary of $21.65 a month to continue for a short period. The short period passed, and so did years, but she continued to receive her salary monthly.

A short time ago the board of education informed the pensioner that her monthly stipend would be discontinued. This resulted in a letter being sent to No. 2 committee by Mrs. Harding, protesting against their harsh method in depriving her of her only means of support.

Tears were brought to the eyes of the committee when they heard the details. A few suggestions were offered, but member stated that he would do nothing towards cutting of the woman's salary. It was even suggested by another member that the committee should finance the cause.

Finally the matter was referred to the board for further consideration.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS PROCEEDING RAPIDLY

Progress is being made at Port Stanley on the harbor improvements which were undertaken by the Dominion Government. It is believed that there will be enough work on hand to keep the men occupied until weather conditions stop the dredging and repair work.

Dredging is proceeding steadily at Port Burwell, and the harbor will be put in shape for handling heavy shipments of coal. At the present time, it is stated more coal is being handled via Port Burwell than is handled at both Port Stanley and Rosedale.

The contract for the year at Port Burwell will likely total 500,000, practically all of which is used by the C. P. R.

ment, and also pay for the damage to his property.

Land Washed into Cove. Thomas Blanchard, who owns some lots on the corner of Elmwood and Wharfside road, wanted to know what was going to be done with his property. He said that the water from the storm sewers was being dumped onto it, and his lots carried down to the cove. And while the land was disappearing the assessor came along and raised his assessment $740 on one lot, and $125 on another. He was promised the details of the city's plans for his relief at the next meeting.

Thousands of the angry citizens from Wellington road jumped up. They wanted a sewer. The deputation stated that the people of that district during the middle of a pond during rainy days. When the rain ceased they were surrounded by mudholes. There was a drain running through their section from Maryboro, "black" and the sewage from this came into their cellars at times.

Uncomplimentary Remarks Made. They had some uncomplimentary remarks to make he was not in court when called as a witness. Mr. Rogers was hurriedly summoned, and the bench warrant seemed to be having an argument. Mrs. Warlow called to her: "John is saying terrible things about me" witness testified.

Witness said that she went down off her porch and took hold of Mrs. Warlow's arm, saying to Warlow: "Leave this little trouble over until Monday, and leave her alone tonight."

"No, you don't," Warlow said, the witness stated.

Witness Saw Flash. "I saw a flash, and I heard a noise, and Mrs. Warlow fell off my arm," said Mrs. Tierney. "I heard another shot and I saw Warlow in a sitting posture on the lawn."

James Clegg, Walkerville baker, where Mrs. Warlow was employed, and brother-in-law of the prisoner, testified that in November, 1920, friction developed between Mr. and Mrs. Warlow and quarrels were frequent, he said. In January, 1921, the two agreed to separate, Mrs. Warlow going to live with Mrs. Tierney.

About 10 days before the shooting, Clegg said, Warlow showed him a revolver, and said that he was carrying it because Norman Warlow, his cousin, was carrying one.

Cross-examined by J. H. Rodd, K.C., counsel for the prisoner, Mr. Clegg testified that Norman Warlow had been very friendly with Mrs. John Warlow ever since she had come from Montreal. He said that their friendship had frequently caused quarrels between Mr. and Mrs. Warlow.

He started a good pudding-proof, but he didn't finish it.

There's a lot of trouble in the world from puddings that taste good but don't do good.

They "eat" well, but that ends the recommendation.
