DUBIOUS

About What Her Husband Would Say.

A Mich. woman tried Postum because coffee disagreed with her and her husband. Tea is just as harmful as coffee because it contains caffeine—the same drug found in coffee. She writes:

"My husband was sick for three years with catarrh of the bladder, and palpitation of the heart, caused by coffee. Was unable to work at all and in bed part of the time.

"I had stomach trouble, was weak and fretful so I could not attend to my housework—both of us using coffee all the time and not realizing it was harmful.

"One morning the grocer's wife said she believed coffee was the cause of our trouble and advised Postum. I took it home rather dubiously what my husband would say—he was fond of coffee.

"But I took coffee right off the table and we haven't used a cup of it since. You should have seen the change in us, and now my husband never complains of heart palpitation any more. My stomach trouble went away into weeks after I began Postum. My children love it and it does them good, which can't be said of coffee.

"A lady visited us who was usually half sick. I told her I'd make her a cup of Postum. She said it was tasteless stuff, but she watched me make it, boiling it thoroughly for 15 minutes, and when done she said it was splendid. Long boiling brings out the flavour and food quality." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

HE TOLD HALF TRUTHS

Sir James Deals Severely With Mr. Rowell's Speech.

The Liberal Leader Told Only Part of the Story to the Gathering in London and Left a False Impression, Says Premier—Sir James Not Impressed With the Enthusiastic Assembly of 3,000.

Toronto, July 4.—When asked yesterday for a few observations regarding the meeting in London on the holiday which was addressed by N. W. Rowell, K.C., leader of the Opposition, on the temperance question, Sir James Whitney said:

"There are people who would never dream of such a thing as telling part of a story to the public, which would be sure to carry with it an incorrect understanding of the truth, and not telling the truth openly and boldly. Mr. Rowell, I am afraid, is not one of these people.

"There is nothing to be said regarding the statements of Mr. Rowell. Every political speaker contends that he is right and his proposition should be acquiesced in, and calls upon everybody to acquiesce to it.

"I do not care to comment on his initial summer meeting. It was held in the city of London, which has a population of about 50,000, in the centre of thickly populated counties. Advantage was taken of the holiday and bands were on hand. But with all these favorable conditions nearly 3,000, according to The Globe, assembled. I observed what was very startling, namely, the absence at the meeting of all the prominent men of the Liberal party in London and vicinity. It was hardly fair treatment to mete out to Mr. Rowell.

"I was also sorry to observe the misrepresentations of which Mr. Rowell was guilty in his statements about club licenses. The Globe put these words into his mouth: 'There were no club licenses in Ontario when the present Government came into power. And there will be no more when they get out.'

"He also said that many clubs were simply drinking the opening of the statement evidently being to convey the impression that before our advent into power clubs had no power to sell intoxicating liquors. But Mr. Rowell failed to tell the people that the clubs, which were in existence when we came into power, were acting under charters granted by our predecessors, and these charters gave the power to the clubs to sell intoxicating liquors. I never heard Mr. Rowell kicking up a row with the old Government on this ground.

"After we came into power we compelled these clubs, empowered by their charters to sell liquor, to take out licenses in addition and to pay for the licenses. And we issued charters to a number of clubs ourselves. In every case they were obliged to take out licenses and pay for them."

Battle in Mexico.

At the Rebel Front, Bachimba, Mexico, July 4.—Shells from the artillery of the Federal forces began falling near the hills where the rebels are entrenched, two miles from Bachimba, shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday. At the same time the Federal cavalry, in three columns, began moving up slowly.

Shortly before noon the shelling by the Federal forces became more frequent, the rebels finally with their artillery, while rebel sharpshooters waited for the Federal cavalry to move into range.

The Federal shells were not well placed at the opening of the battle and the rebels held their position easily.
