Monthly Meetings Hereafter—The Lead Ores of Kootenay-Miscellaneous Matters.

The longest and in many ways the most important meeting that the British Columbia Board of Trade has held in many months was that of yesterday afternoon - the quarterly general gathering of the members. President A. C. Flumerfelt was in the chair, ship largely increased, we beg to recommend a scheme which we consider will provide valuable facilities Leiser, Herbert Cuthbert, James Hutcheson, J. B. The session opened shortly after 3 o'clock and continued until 6, the list of business being as varied as it was long.

The first item presented, after the reading and adoption of minutes, was in the form of a report from the committee on the powers of the council, which read as follows: To the President and Members of the British Columbia Board of Trade: GENTLEMEN :-- The committee to examine into the powers of the Council of the Board of Trade, and to report upon the same, etc., beg to report as follows:

The act (Dominion) under which the Board of Trade is incorporated, and the by laws of the board, have been carefully examined. The former is a general or skeleton act and contemplates the passage, by each board in-corporating under it, of by laws and regulaons for the government of the board, the management of its council and the assign. ment to it of such powers as may be thought expedient. In general the only authority given to the council by the act is the right to hold meetings and adjourn same and appoint a board of examiners, etc, re the inspection of flour, meat, etc., and to transact at its meetings such business as may be assigned to it by by law.

The only business assigned to the council by by law is the right: (a) To arrange the place of meeting; (b) To place non residents on the list of honorary membership; (c) To relieve arbitrators from the fine of $5 for neglecting to attend an arbitration; (d) To suspend or expel members (under certain

As at present constituted the council has 10 authority to transact the general business of the board or to draw up and present petitions, etc. In fact the act has not been complied with, and the council has not been given proper authority to transact the business which it should perform.

Your committee therefore recommend that the by-laws of the board be amended, and the powers and duties of the council enlarged and more clearly defined.

Mr. Robert Ward—"That is of course Mr. Ward said it would be remembered that the Board had had the advice of one of the most prominent constitutional lawyers, in the province. His opinion was that whatever had been done by the council had been done strictly in order and in accordance with the law. It was very probable that the by-laws might be altered advantageously in certain respects, and he therefore advised the reference of the report to a special committee with instructions to embody the suggestions contained in a draft of amendments to the

We are of opinion that if this scheme is successfully carried out by this board, other | po boards of trade in British Columbia will find it advantageous to co-operate, in which case an exchange of the information referred to will form a complete index of the state of business, which is not within the means of many members of the board to otherwise btain. In a few years the system suggested should become a record indispensable to business men generally, and possibly be the means of inaugurating a closer union of the boards of trade throughout this province. Mr. Ward thought the suggestion contained in the petition a good one. There was a large and influential class of business men, members of the board, who did not derive the help that they might look for and expect from their membership in the board. These gentlemen would find the adoption of such a plan as this petition proposed, of great value to them, and it would not, he (Mr. Ward) thought, interfere in any way with the service rendered by private nterprise—by Bradstreet's or by Dun's. The plan adopted was not untried entirely, for he believed the experiment had been made and the system found to work advantageously by the Truro Board of Trade. It was not, as he understood it, intended that the board should operate the mercantile agency, but that it be carried on under the pices of the board.

this report it would appear that much of the work that had been done by the council in the past had been done illegally and out of order. Was this the fact?

The Particle of the petition dr. William Wilson, one of the petitioners, thought the document sufficiently self-explanatory. The object sought was very clearly set forth—to provide a reliable system. tem by which retailers might obtain definite information as to the solvency or otherwise Mr. Robert Ward—"That is of course of those who sought to transact a credit trade with them. It would, in short, give the retailers similar advantages to those previded for the wholesalers by such private enterprises as the Dun and Bradstreet agencies. There would be practical benefit which would ne doubt induce many to be-

Mr. Ward thought that the board might a little further. There were many valuable suggestions in the letter which apparoperations and regulating credit would be at ently had been overlooked, and which might with advantage be given attention. Should not the communication be referred to the undertaking, Mr. Wilson's resolution council for consideration. The subject had seemed premature and undesirable, and he aiready been brought to the attention of the board, but from a different quarter. He be-lieved that the Dominion government had, on this previous occasion, refused to make any change in the duty on lead; it was still ower, however, to encourage home production by granting a bonus on lead ex-

> William Wilson held that what was wanted was not a change in the duty but a larger market. He thought that reciprosity in lead would be more advantageous to Kootenay than the elevation of the protec-

Mr. Prior remarked that the American people were not such fools as to throw open their markets to Canadian lead, and inquired if Mr. Wilson was aware of what the duty on lead is. Mr. Wilson was not -he thought, how-

Mr. Prior explained that it was formerly $40 a ton but is now $20—one cent a pound. The discussion here terminated. Mr. Robert Ward having resigned his office as trustee, in view of his intended removal to England, the selection of his successor was referred to the council. As auditors for the present year the chair again named Messrs W. H. Bone, H. E. Connon and J. B Gordon. Mr. Herbert Cuthbert, briefly explaining its scope and object, introduced the following resolution, due notice of which had beer "That ordinary meetings of the board be held "-instead of quarterly-" on the first Friday in each month." The resolution was seconded and supported by Mr. J. Piercy, and provoked opposition from Messrs. L Crease and Gustav Leiser. Mr. Ward favored the proposed change if, as Mr. Cuthbert said, it would strengthen the interest of the membership in the work of the board. The resolution was finally adopted on a vote of 13 to 10. had when in 1878, and ever since then, she showed her condemnation of Liberal perfidy by returning supporters of the late Sir John Macdonald. The story of Grit tions for the vacan treachery practised upon British Columbia by advertisement. by the government at Ottawa from 1874 to 1878 need not be repeated to old-timers in the Pacific province. But as a steady tide of immigration from the East has char very materially the complexion and senti-ment of the electorate, there is too great reason to fear that unsuspecting new-comers who know nothing of what wrongs may be done to British Columbia by a Federal government that is not in sympathy with the outlying provinces may unwittingly place themselves again in the power of a federal administration that will take the first opportunity to treat this province as it was eated by the Mackenzie government.

Those who may think that the Liberal party in Canada have abandoned their op-position to British Columbia are badly misaken, and if they only attended Liberal neetings in the Eastern provinces and heard the doctrines that are preached by Referm stumpers to the farmers of Ontario they could get their eyes opened. The Grit plan of campaign is undoubtedly of the Janus They are "all things to all men if order. happily they might gain some," and while a two sided shield is used by them to array the religious factions of Quebec and Ontario against each other, no less diegraceful are the appeals which they are making to the selfishness of the farmers of Ontario against the Province of British Columbia, John Charlton, M.P., who is generally recognized as one of Laurier's lead ing lieutenants in Ontario, showed unmistakably at a public meeting held in Wiarton in the interests of Dr. Bonnar, that the old Grit antipathy to British Columbia is still alive in the party. Mr. Charlton condemned the government for saddling the farmers of Ontario with the cost of building the C.P R. through to the Coast when the country was not ripe for such an enterprise and would not be for years to come. He said, too, that an offer was laid on the table to build the road for three-fifths of the sum paid to the C P.R., and blamed the government for rejecting this and accepting the syrdicate bargain. Now, everyone who will read Sir John Macdonald's speech on the "bogus syndicate" in the Hansard for the session of the winter of 1881, will see that the acceptance of that "bogus syndi-cate" which Mr. Charlton and his Grit

The Grit doctrine in reference to mines is that the government shall exercise the functions of a sort of Feudal Lord, to whom miners and mine-owners must pay heavy tribute. Their mining policy in Ontario is "confusion worse confounded," the leading character-istics exhibited by the government being greed and parsimony. From every mine that is worked the government exacts a royalty that is taken from the net earnings of the plant and property, which in many cases is independent of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supera delicately flavoured beverage which may heavy doctors' bills. At the meeting of members of the Calvary Baptist church this week a report was presented by the managers recommending that the resignation of the pastor, Rev. Thomas Baldwin, be not accepted. After quite a spirited discussion it was, however, decided to accept. The names of two well-known Ontario divines of considerable prominence have been suggested in connection with the icaves him nothing for his labor or for any of the capital which he has invested. So thoroughly did this policy paralyze the mining industry in Ontario that the region around Sudbury became known as "Hardy's Silent Hills." His remuneration will be at the rate of 5 per cent. upon his own esti-mate which is in the neighborhood of $60, 000; and his duty will be to undertake the making of the necessary working plans and specifications, and devote his entire time to the supervision of construction of the new filter beds. In reply to a question by Ald. Bragg as to whether the plans could not be completed in less than a month, Mr. Jorgenson said that he thought they might.
