THE BRITISH CONTEST

By a vote of five to one, the House of Lords took the very bold step of rejecting the budget of the Asquith administration. Whether the House of Lords has the constitutional right to reject the budget is a mere incident now in the consideration of the whole matter, for what will now happen will be an appeal to the constituencies of the United Kingdom to decide whether or not their Lordships are to be sustained by the people in rejecting this particular budget at this time, as well as any budget at any time. If the peers are sustained by the popular vote their branch of parliament will have won an important victory, one which will increase their power and strength to an almost unlimited extent. For their right to interfere against the popular branch will have been established by vote of the people. It is almost impossible to conceive of such a result. If they are not sustained, the consequence will be a very great diminution of their house as a branch of the national legislature, and possibly its extinction. If they are sustained there will be evidence of the progress of the once sturdy British to a decline and fall. It is not necessary, however, to speculate. We may expect a very bitter contest in the mother country, an uprising of hostility against the peers, against which they have been only warned by the more moderate of their fellows.—Globe

The largest room in the world under one roof and unbroken by pillars is in St. Petersburg. It is 429 feet long by 150 feet wide. It is used for a drill shed, and a whole battalion can manoeuvre in it. The roof is a single arch 61 feet high.

Given Up To Die

No. 100 George St., Sorel, Quebec.
"I suffered from womb disease for seven years, with dreadful pains over the front of the body, over the back and down the legs. I had indigestion and chronic constipation and the constipation was so bad that I went sometimes for ten to fifteen days without any action of the bowels. I was ill in bed for one whole year. At one time I was so low that everyone thought I was going to die, and the last Rites of the Church were administered to me. I was treated by six different doctors without any benefit."

MADAME JOSEPH LIRETTE

The retreat opened in our parish November 21 and finished the 28th under the auspices of Reverend Fathers Caron and Pave, the former giving the English instructions and the latter, the French instructions. Both priests, being gifted speakers gave great satisfaction to the agreeable parishioners. Although the weather was very disagreeable and the roads had it did not prevent the devout people from attending daily. At every sermon the church was crowded with an extraordinary course of people and many from other parishes attended all seeming to appreciate very much the good instructions which were given. The Reverend Father Pave preached the last Mass in the parish and Father Caron has returned to Quebec.

On the 24th we had a heavy fall of rain and a great gale which did much damage. The trees which had been "completed" over Little Pabos River has been carried off. Messrs. Patrick and Peter Morris, Henry and Rod. MacNeil have gone in logging for the Grand Pabos Lumbering Company.

Mrs. Thomas Sutton spent the past week visiting her mother, Mrs. A. Leblond. Mrs. James Hayes is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Sutton.

President Roosevelt has declared "Garry Owen" to be the greatest fighting hero in the world. It has certainly done wonders, not only for Irishmen (it is particularly a Linerick man's song) but for many of the British regiments. When during the Peninsular war the battle of Talavera was fought, it was "Garry Owen" which saved the day for the British. The French, having made a breach in the walls of the town, to which they laid siege for some time with ten thousand men endeavoring to force their way in; but the gallant Sir Hugh Gough advanced to the breach, where, drawing his sword and throwing his scabbard from him he called on his men, the famous "Garry Owen" which saved the day for the British. The heart-cheering air of "Garry Owen" was instantly struck up, and the firmness and courage of his brave followers proved irresistible. The French were repulsed with great slaughter. And at Waterloo, the Connaught Rangers sang the same song—they sang and they conquer again.
