Everybody should learn to chant. There is a simple grandeur about this style of sacred song which stirs the soul, while it is capable of much variety of expression, and is especially adapted as a vehicle for the devotional utterances of a congregation. The most ancient style of singing; it will never go out of vogue, for we learn from the Book of Revelations that it will be perpetuated in Heaven. The above chant is a very choice one, and has the peculiarity of being in the minor key. It should be sung with great tenderness.
