A Fortnightly Magazine for the Study of the German Language and Literature.

"GERMANIA."

$2.00 per annum. Sample copies free. Liberal reduction to Clubs, Schools and Colleges.

PRESS AND PERSONAL OPINIONS OF THE "GERMANIA."

Professor H. C. O. Huss, of Princeton College.—Mit Zusendung der ersten Nummer Ihrer GERMANIA haben Sie mir eine sehr angenehme Überraschung bereitet. Ich gratulire Ihnen zu dieser originellen Idee sowie zu der vortrefflichen Ausführung derselben. Ihr Plan hat ganz meinen Beifall, und ich glaube Ihnen den besten Erfolg prophezeien zu dürfen. Unter meinen Studenten findet die GERMANIA lebhaften Anklang und schon hat sich eine grössere Anzahl derselben unterzeichnet.

Professor Alex. Melville Bell, Washington, D.C.—I think GERMANIA will be exceedingly useful, and I trust it may be successful.

Professor Edward S. Joyner, South Carolina University.—MY DEAR SIR,—I thank you for copies of the early numbers of GERMANIA. I have read them with great and growing interest. It seems to me that you have clearly conceived what is needed in such a paper, and that the execution shows excellent judgment, taste and skill. The GERMANIA will be a valuable help to teachers and students of German, and I cordially wish it the greatest success.

Professor J. E. Roessler, Northern Indiana Normal School.—MY DEAR SIR,—I thank you cordially for the early numbers of the GERMANIA, and after reading them am convinced that the paper will fill a long-felt want among the students of German. Have wished many times for just such a journal, and shall take every opportunity to recommend it.

Dr. Oscar Faulhaber, Phillips Academy, Exeter, N.H.—The variety of graded matter so carefully selected from the most noted authors with special bearing on the wants of the American student engaged in the pursuit of German literature, can not fail to secure for the GERMANIA a widespread reputation as a journal in which instruction and fascination is happily blended.

The Journalist, New York.—A very excellent fortnightly journal for the study of the German language and literature is GERMANIA.

The Academy, Syracuse, N.Y.—We have before us the first four numbers of this new magazine, and feel justified in indorsing the favourable opinion expressed by the daily press and some of our leading college professors of German.

On the whole, GERMANIA is well adapted to the private study of German, and, we are sure, will be welcomed by teachers as a pleasant companion to the usual textbooks. Even at the present rates for single copies teachers will find in its columns varied and interesting reading for their classes, at a reasonable rate. We urge all teachers of German to examine the magazine with this object in view.

American Notes and Queries.—GERMANIA is by all odds the best of the papers for the elementary study of modern language, and if one's German is rusty it is astonishing to see how the reading of GERMANIA will brighten it up without any apparent effort on the part of the reader. More useful language lessons cannot be imagined.

The Churchman, New York.—We call the attention of those studying or teaching the German tongue to the fortnightly journal GERMANIA, published by the editors, A. W. Spanboofd and E. Spanboofd. Both these gentlemen are brilliant scholars, and are on the staff of St. Paul's School, Concord, N.H. We cannot too highly commend this admirable periodical and its clever editing.

The Mail and Express, New York.—GERMANIA is an excellent journal, and admirably adapted for the purpose of enabling different grades of learners to perfect themselves in the German language and its literature.

The Canadian Bookseller, Toronto, Canada.—GERMANIA will doubtless prove a success, and will be a valuable help to teachers and students of German.

Buffalo Medical and Surgical Journal.—It is, indeed, a valuable journal, containing many interesting bits of information, historical and other. We hope it may receive the liberal support that it deserves.

The Sunday Pioneer Press, St. Paul, Minn.—A new and easy system for the study of the German language.
