

- grammar, 120-193-240-266—
on water considered as a moving power for machinery, 204-250-314—on popularity, 280
Fence, a new one described, 260 Fertility of a country, how it may be improved, 32
Filillo Liparo, his account of the Roman Arcadia, 228
Fishes kept alive without water, 94 Fishes, hints on the generation of certain kinds of, 89
Fletcher Andrew, lord Milton, memoirs of, 1
Fox, account of the, 153
Fox, C. J. charade by, 334
Fruit trees, query respecting, 334
Generation of certain fishes, hints
respecting, 89
Generation of the viper, hints
on, 320
Grammatical disquisitions, 120-193-240-266
Gypsum, as a manure, experiments on, 149
Hugi, baron of, anecdote of, 331
Hedge, a new kind described 290
Herrings and other fishes sustained by mineral substances, 169
Highlands of Scotland, revenue there less than the expence of collecting it, 26—remarkable advantages there for manufactures and population, 34
Holly tree, remarkable one, 333
Houghton major, his discoveries
in Africa, 10
Hoïssa, a remarkable city in Africa, discovery of, 12
Improvements now going on in India, 35-70-187-295
Inch Columb, account of, 137
India, improvements going on in, 35-70-187-295—fishes generated in a remarkable manner, 90
Indian magnanimity, 299 Indigent blind, a plan for their relief, 75
Insects and reptiles, observations
on, 291
Intelligence respecting arts and agriculture, 69
Iron manufactures, improvement in, 69
Isabella, her letters to Albert, 131-274
Juvens on the caterpillar, 287
Kites, superstitious veneration for in Sardinia, 328
Lambert, extracts from his Seasons, 311
Leaves of trees food for sheep, 150
Letters from Isabella to Albert 131-274—from colonel Skene
to the earl of Tweeddale 210
Lettuce found to sustain silk
worms 170
Life of lord Milton, 1
Lime, its use in the management of silk worms, 179
Locusts destroyed by rooks, 328
Love and joy, a tale, 144
Machinery, new invented improvements in, 146
Machinery, effects of water on driving, 204-250
Manures, discovery of a new kind, 335
Medina, a city in Africa, notices
respecting, 16
Memoirs of lord Milton, 1
Mephitic gas prejudicial to silk
worms, 176
Mica, a hint by, 151
Migration of eels, 10
Milton lord, memoirs of, 1
Mineral substances affording food for animals, examples of, 166
Mira, moral reflections by, 22-61-325
Miscellaneous observations, 97
Misobrontes's reply to Thooder-proof, 284
Moral reflections by Mira, 22-61-325
Natural history of the tiger, 41—
of the fox, 253—of the oustiviti, 265—of the white bear, 325
Niger, river, discovered to flow eastward, 19
Nitre, thoughts on the production of, 67—plants that are peculiarly calculated to produce it, 68
Nutrition of animals, disquisitions on, 161
Oats, comparative trial of the different kinds of 243
Observations on the viper, 5