To conclude that a tea packed in a sealed air-tight packet, if it is even as good in the first place, is better, as it has not been ex posed at all, and is the same as when the grocer took it in?

so exquisitely each is so fine. We cannot of this kind of work.

Repeated visits to the rooms of the Outario Society of Artists, whose annual exhibition of paintings is now on, leave one with a few favorite pictures which delight the eye and recreate the mind. There is, for example, Mr. G. A. Reid's charming decorative panel, "Summer," than which Mr. Reid has done nothing more beautiful; indeed, it shows a hitherto unrevealed side of Mr. Reid's genius. The pose of the two girls seated in the shade of the great trees wind along the road to the sea, by Miss that in which three black female figures wind along the road to the sea, by Miss that in which three black female figures wind along the road to the sea, by Miss that in which three black female figures wind along the road to the sea, by Miss that in which three black female figures wind along the road to the sea, by Miss that in which three black female figures wind along the road to the sea, by Miss that in which three black female figures wind along the road to the sea, by Miss that in which three black in the centre of those grey greens and greys is very effective.

But Miss Tully's most beautiful work hangs in the water color from where she exhibits three studies of heads in red chalk; it would be difficult to tell which of these lovely studies appeals to us most; the drawing is so admirable, the expression

Mrs. G. A. Reid.

Mr. J. S. Gordon shows a charming little water color, "Neptune Square, Buckhaven," and "A Tiff" has a girl in crinolined skirt and quaint hat, who stands in the immediate foreground, for its principal figure; her attitude and expression are excellent. Atkinson has some very fine pictures, not ably, "After the Shower, Dolgelly, Wales," and "Threatening, Holland."

There are many things to be missing not more than a dozen all told—are birds that have been wounded in the fall, or were very weak, and, getting in among the moving ice, have been crushed to death, or have not been able to battle against the recent heavy storms.

East Toronto.

The cinder path on the Kingston-road has been very much cut up by vehicles this spring. County Constable Burns is determined to put a stop to it, and has summonications. beyond is that delictous blue in the trees; these colors were surely never seen on sea or land, but they are, nevertheless, the poet's dream. No more poetic conception has been seen on these walls; the very breath and languor of summer is in this exhibition, but, on the whole, it is more than usually satisfactory. We should afford to leave his figure groups with their hard realism, and give us more and more of such lovely conceptions as his "Summer." In the other panel, "Repose," we do not take such pleasure; the modern Ceres, in a sunbonnet, who sleeps on the haycock, interferes unduly with our delight in the lovely hayfield beyond; she is not so much

Miss Hawley is another lady whose work is not lacking in vigor and dash. "Cleaning Brass" is the more admirable of her two yery vivaciously colored pictures in the water color room. If the color is a bit violent in this picture, the composition is excellent, and the drawing bold and fine. Miss Hawley is another artist who has astonished us with the quality of her work this year. Mrs. Dignam exhibits only one picture. "Evening" (21), and Miss Windeat, Miss Hagerty, Miss Wrinch, MissSpurr, Miss Vickers and Miss Galbraith are other women exhibitors, whose work will be found more or less interesting.

Other pictures which we love to linger over are the water colors of Mr. W. Smith of St. Thomas; the "Evening in the Barbican, Plymouth" is Turneresque in its rich, harmonious coloring and atmospheric effects; the old harbors, too, on the picturesque old world east coast of Fife, are charming things, full—of fine work. On the north wall are two water colors by Miss Laura Muntz, that are not so attractive by their beauty as by their vigor and breating of treatment; we notice the same characteristics in the big canvases by this young lady in the main room; in "Mussel Gathering." Miss Muntz has "splashed the canvas in fine style," so that much distance is required for the proper seeing of the same; S. Ackerman, commercial traveler, Belle S. Ackerman, commercial traveler, Belleville, writes: "Some years ago I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Gil for Inflammatory Rheumatism, and three bottles effected a complete cure. I was the whole of one summer unable to move without crutches, and every movement caused excruciating pains. I am now out on the road and exposed to all kinds of weather, but have never been troubled with rheumatism since. I, however, keep a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Oil on hand, and I always recommend it to others, as it did so much for me." ed

The new Young Conservative Association led its second meeting on Saturday night in the Temple Buliding. A short but serviceable constitution was submitted by the Executive, and after some discussion was adopted. Members to be qualified to vote for officers must have joined three months prior to the election in any year.

The consideration of the constitution, varied by some capital songs, filled up the evening, and the debate on the constitution of the Senate was adjourned to the following week, when it could receive fuller discussion.

Mrs. Reid adds something yearly to the ripeness and perfection of her art; this year her flower places are an especially fine. Those who mould do well to do so at once, for there is so much refinement, so much wealth of rich coloring, that we return again and again to these "Chrysanthemuns" (ob), the "Coses" (57), and the "Carnations" (68), to feast on their beauty. We are tempted to call these pictures "portraits of flowers," so charmingly is the individuality of each depicted, coloringly are their distinctive qualities portrayed. Mrs. Reid never gives us promise colors masses of color, calling them flowers, as so many flower painters do; two or three or four charming in the simplicity of their graphs on the beauty was a flower of parents.

Carleton Place, Out.

DEAR SIR,—I have been a great sufferer from Piles. The last attack was the most severe I have experienced. For ten days I could neither sit nor stand, and walking was out of the question, so great was my suffering. I could find no relief anywhere until your Pile Ointment was recommended to me. I got a box. I was relieved by the first application. In two days I was able to resume work and felt perfectly cured within a week. I volunteer this testimonial. I desire that people who suffer as I have done may know where to get such prompt relief as I found in the use of Orien's Pile Ointment.
