There has been a great change in the matter of floors and floor coverings within a generation. A carpet is hardly to be seen nowadays. Large rugs to cover all but a narrow strip around the edge of the room or small rugs on hardwood floors, or painted floors, have quite replaced the carpet that used to cover the whole floor, and be tacked laboriously down, and be tacked untidily for house-cleaning twice a year. Those were the days when women worked.

If small rugs are used, they should not be placed in any old way, at any angle without thought. They should be placed in harmony with the lines of the room, and the disposition of the larger pieces of furniture. The materials and weaves that used to make carpets are now used to make

THE THREE TRAMPS.

You would not expect the wandering dogs to get sick of other virtuous animals after their hunger strike, but perhaps it was because they had stuffed themselves in order to make up for the meals they had missed that they began to wish they had something different besides scraps to eat. "I know what it is we want," ventured Herbie, the hound. "What we need is fowl—fat, juicy fowl." Freddie, the fosterer, and Sammy, the spaniel, licked their lips. It was seldom they tasted fowl, and the very mention of it made them hungry. "We will keep our eyes open for a nice henyard," Herbie continued. "But Freddie and Sammy had no conscience. 'If we can't come by our food honestly we are not going to steal.' 'Indeed we are not,' agreed Sammy. 'Pooh!' scoffed Herbie. 'Just wait until you see me eating fowl, then we will see how long you stick to your high and mighty ideas. But, although lots of opportunities offered themselves, Freddie and Sammy refused to have

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box
Keep well in mind this precious truth: And daily try to live it: We borrow but we cannot take with us From those to whom we give it.

Veranda Chats. I have received a great deal of help through your Mail-Box, and wish to thank each and every reader for their different replies. Are people allowed to send such help as contests, poems and songs through the Mail-Box? If they are I would like a number of contests. I inclose a stamped addressed envelope for my name. I don't think education must a girl have to train as a nurse? I heard that matriculation was necessary now. Is this so? ROSABELLE.

TALKS ON HEALTH

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D., Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and stamped, self-addressed envelope is inclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

Why Have Children's Diseases?

A certain group of very prevalent infectious diseases called "children's diseases" (measles, scarlet fever, German measles, whooping cough, chickenpox and mumps) should be restricted, rather than the child. They should be called "diseases of the child." A great part of the health and labor and expense of health boards and health officers is devoted to the "control" of these preventable diseases. We have been "controlling" the diseases of this group ever since sanitary ordinances were first devised, and our job never grows appreciably less. Dad thinks he knows the reason. He thinks he knows lots of things which may not be so. But I like dad's position on this child's disease scandal, for after all, a lot of kids are carried off by measles, and some even by chickenpox, you know. Although no one has discovered the cause of measles, scarlet fever, German measles, chickenpox or mumps, all the doctors believe that these diseases, like whooping cough and diphtheria, are due to germs which are children who have made immediate recoveries.

Grown-ups, whether they have had these diseases in childhood or not, acquire a certain resistance to render them immune themselves, they are inclined to view with a certain indifference the necessity of requiring instant isolation of every alleged "cold," since, if the "cold" prove an epidemic condition, it will not be them, but the little children who must suffer the result. Health officers side in with the grown-ups on this question merely because they get their jobs from the grown-up population, not from the children, and so they haven't the nerve to prevent the Sanitarian's Delight—they just go on "controlling" it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Diagnosis Means What's the Matter. I see you will answer all questions pertaining to health and by mail if a stamp is inclosed. I herewith inclose a stamp and would like you to tell me what is the matter with me. For several years I have been troubled with a cold, and I have been told that I have a "cold," but I don't know what it is. I have been told that I have a "cold," but I don't know what it is. I have been told that I have a "cold," but I don't know what it is.

ANSWER.—I have been troubled for several years. My trouble is how to stop readers from (1) sending me postage stamps, for which I have no use, and (2) from asking me to tell them what's the matter. Diagnosis means telling you what is the matter, and I do not diagnose individual cases, for the simple reason that it can't be done without personal examination. I would advise you to try your family doctor.

Laundering for a Consumptive.

Please tell me if there is danger in doing the laundry work of a person confined to bed with tuberculosis. I do the handkerchiefs and all the personal work. (K. E.) ANSWER.—No. Soap and water is a reliable antiseptic, and boiling destroys

Food Value of Tripe.

Has tripe any food value, and if so what is its value? (G. K.) ANSWER.—Yes. A pound of tripe has about the same food value as a quart of milk.

So Has the Earth.

I am 45 inches tall, 25 years old, weigh 222 pounds. I have a good skin. I do all my own work, and the house work the larger I get. (Mrs. J. L.) ANSWER.—A woman 45 inches tall and 25 years old should weigh 140 pounds, and not over 140 pounds. If you are 45 inches tall, you are the more you eat. (Copyright National Newspaper Service)
