

ENGLISH GOLD BY MILLIONS

Estimated That $60,000,000
Will Be Shipped This Year for Canadian Use.

MONTREAL, May 28.—(Special).—As far as experienced financiers can judge, very nearly sixty millions of dollars of new money will be coming to Canada during the present fiscal year, this being apart from the government loan of fifty millions, the greater part of which will be used to meet loans maturing during the present year.

It is estimated that besides the ten millions which the Dominion Government will have to borrow in order to give effect to the resolution of parliament loaning the Grand Trunk Pacific, the cable has just announced that the Grand Trunk Pacific branch line issue of five millions has been over-subscribed, and as most of these lines are to be started forthwith, it looks as if the greater part of this amount will find its way to the Dominion before the end of the year.

It will be also remembered that William Mackenzie sailed for London a few days since, and that means of course more money for the Mackenzie and Mann system. In fact, bankers are of the opinion that at least five millions of English money will be obtained by the Canadian Northern this year, and perhaps this amount may be increased before the president of the C.N.R. gets away from the money centre of the world.

Then, it is reported on very excellent authority that the municipal loans of Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Calgary and other places will total a sum not at all under ten millions, and it may be that the amount will not be far short of fifteen millions.

This is not all, for the Lake Superior Corporation is in the market for five millions, and the Montreal harbor board with its drydock project will certainly require a like amount. So it goes without saying that from fifty-five to sixty millions will represent the amount of new Canadian borrowing for 1909, and it should be added that other loans may be floated which have not been considered.

THE PHONE ENQUIRY

Continued From Page 1.

over 600 phones for $9 a year; that the Aylmer exchange could reach as many phones at a cost of $3 per year (the subscribers buying their own telephones in the first place), and to the representatives from east of St. Thomas, that in West Elgin the rural telephones were constantly increasing in number and service, and to almost everyone present that when comparisons were made there were a total of over 2000 telephones in the southern counties, which, if linked together, could put just that number in touch with St. Thomas.

The conference had the effect of showing the rural telephone men that they were stronger than they had imagined. The association was formed and the next step was to see what could be done in the matter of getting the City of St. Thomas. As long as the city was tied to the Bell Telephone Co. it was realized that there would be no scheme forthcoming to offer competition. In fact, the nearer the independent got to the city the less phones they could install, the exclusive franchise given by the Bell acting as a barrier to independent movement. Several miles on each side of the city, the association, therefore, confined its request to St. Thomas to not renew the exclusive franchise to the Bell Company when it expired in April.

The different steps that lead to the organization of the association and later to the request to the city council, were in the nature of an agitation, and the Bell Telephone Co. came forward with an offer that was a great improvement over the offer made five years ago, when it was given an exclusive franchise. This time it only asked three years' franchise, offered $50 worth of telephone service to the city, agreed to put down a certain amount of underground work and to erect a fine new building with a central energy system.

The offer was accepted, the city also requiring the Bell Company to agree to give connections to any rural company on as favorable terms as granted anywhere else in the province. In the meantime the new association will have three years to complete its plans to offer competition to St. Thomas (with large rural connections), unless by that time the city has decided to embark on municipal ownership.

St. Thomas Journal: The City of Toronto intends to start an enquiry into the rates charged by the Bell Telephone Company. This is a direct result of The World's aggressive campaign and is a tribute to that paper's influence.

The expiration of the agreement with the city 12 years ago, Mr. Dunstan makes the plea for changing extra rates to the new city districts. Failing a new agreement or intervention by the railway commission, telephone subscribers in these districts must wait till they are numerous enough to require a new exchange, says Mr. Dunstan.

This is obviously a put-out, as West Toronto has an exchange now, and the cost is no more there than on the beach exchange, while ten cents extra is levied on city calls.

St. Thomas Journal: Provincial municipal ownership is the only form of telephone monopoly Ontario should have.

Let the Special Ballots Help You Win in The Toronto World's $15,000 Prize Contest

With paid-in-advance subscriptions The World will give special ballots, good for from 125 up to 10,000 votes. It won't take you long to secure a few subscriptions to The World. Begin now and work for the prize of your choice with all your might for a week and you will be surprised to see how much you can accomplish.

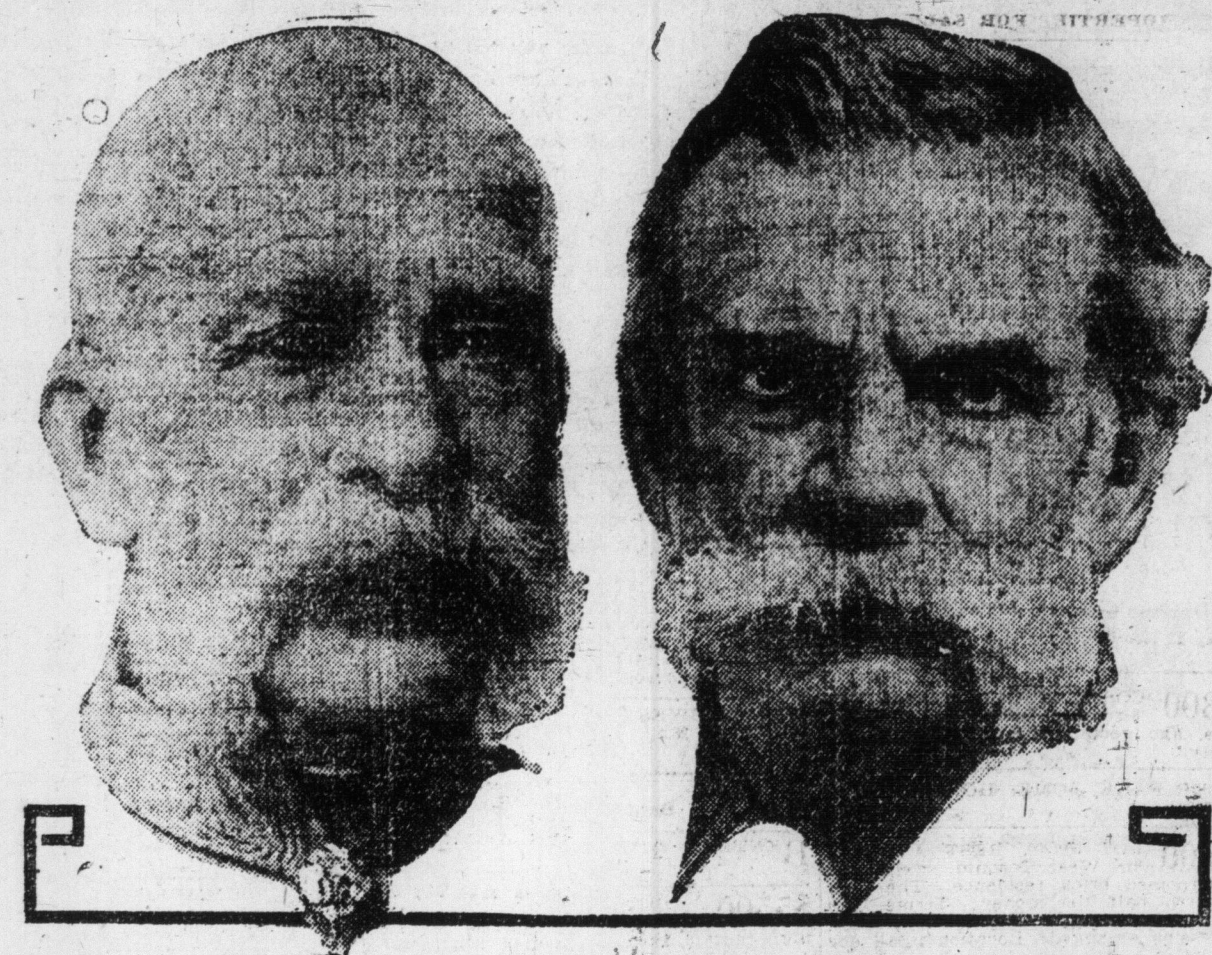

Clip the Ballot from page 2 of The Toronto World every day, mail it and others you may clip before the date expires to

Prize Contest Department

The Toronto World, Toronto, Ont.

Nominating blanks furnished on request.

IS THIS OLD MACHINIST HEIR TO AUSTRIA'S PROUD THRONE

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEF OF AUSTRIA.

JOHANN ORTH OF PAINEVILLE, O.

Note the marked resemblance between the two men. The cut of the whiskers, the forehead, the nose, the chin, the eyebrows.

PAINEVILLE, Ohio, May 28.—By disappearing when the spotlight of publicity was turned on him, Johann Orth, humble $15 a week machinist of this city, has convinced investigators that he is in reality Archduke Johann, nephew of the Emperor of Austria and rightful heir to the throne of the Hapsburgs, centre of the greatest mystery of the century, and the hero of royalty's prettiest romance.

Here is the story of that romance—the story of an archduke and the beautiful peasant singer for whom he gave up rank, honors, royal power, wealth, everything in the world for LOVE. Prematurely old and broken and lone.

ly—for his wife it seems died in the night at Painesville to intimates told what happened after, before and after:

By Dorothy Dale.

One summer's day in 1886, a humble Vienna citizen, Herr Stibel, took his wife and three daughters to picnic in the woods near the city. The girls were good girls. They helped swell the family purse by singing in the royal opera house, and the father had set up his little shop before noon and taken them to enjoy the open.

They had just spread their luncheon. Mill, the youngest girl, who earned her mite by dancing, piqued about in her glee to be outdoors.

Suddenly she dropped, frightened. A shot had whistled by from an enclosure in the woods. A handsome, soldierly looking man in hunter's costume appeared. He was earnest in his apologies. Hostile Herr Stibel invited him to stay for the luncheon.

The man stayed, entered into the simple spirit of the little home party. His dress had the distinguished cut of the nobleman. His whiskers and moustache betokened a man of rank. But his brown eyes were so kindly and his manners so unaffected that no one suspected he was other than the engineer, John Orth, whom he introduced himself to be.

After Stibel might have noticed how much those eyes looked in the direction of Mill. Also a change in the girl. Never before had her eyes seemed so full of light, the smile of her pretty lips so sweet. She looked like a "yamp" of the woods.

When the day was over Orth asked if he might come to visit the family at Painesville to intimates told what happened after, before and after:

By Dorothy Dale.

One summer's day in 1886, a humble Vienna citizen, Herr Stibel, took his wife and three daughters to picnic in the woods near the city. The girls were good girls. They helped swell the family purse by singing in the royal opera house, and the father had set up his little shop before noon and taken them to enjoy the open.

They had just spread their luncheon. Mill, the youngest girl, who earned her mite by dancing, piqued about in her glee to be outdoors.

Suddenly she dropped, frightened. A shot had whistled by from an enclosure in the woods. A handsome, soldierly looking man in hunter's costume appeared. He was earnest in his apologies. Hostile Herr Stibel invited him to stay for the luncheon.

The man stayed, entered into the simple spirit of the little home party. His dress had the distinguished cut of the nobleman. His whiskers and moustache betokened a man of rank. But his brown eyes were so kindly and his manners so unaffected that no one suspected he was other than the engineer, John Orth, whom he introduced himself to be.

After Stibel might have noticed how much those eyes looked in the direction of Mill. Also a change in the girl. Never before had her eyes seemed so full of light, the smile of her pretty lips so sweet. She looked like a "yamp" of the woods.

When the day was over Orth asked if he might come to visit the family at Painesville to intimates told what happened after, before and after:

By Dorothy Dale.

One summer's day in 1886, a humble Vienna citizen, Herr Stibel, took his wife and three daughters to picnic in the woods near the city. The girls were good girls. They helped swell the family purse by singing in the royal opera house, and the father had set up his little shop before noon and taken them to enjoy the open.

They had just spread their luncheon. Mill, the youngest girl, who earned her mite by dancing, piqued about in her glee to be outdoors.

Suddenly she dropped, frightened. A shot had whistled by from an enclosure in the woods. A handsome, soldierly looking man in hunter's costume appeared. He was earnest in his apologies. Hostile Herr Stibel invited him to stay for the luncheon.

The man stayed, entered into the simple spirit of the little home party. His dress had the distinguished cut of the nobleman. His whiskers and moustache betokened a man of rank. But his brown eyes were so kindly and his manners so unaffected that no one suspected he was other than the engineer, John Orth, whom he introduced himself to be.

After Stibel might have noticed how much those eyes looked in the direction of Mill. Also a change in the girl. Never before had her eyes seemed so full of light, the smile of her pretty lips so sweet. She looked like a "yamp" of the woods.

When the day was over Orth asked if he might come to visit the family at Painesville to intimates told what happened after, before and after:

By Dorothy Dale.

One summer's day in 1886, a humble Vienna citizen, Herr Stibel, took his wife and three daughters to picnic in the woods near the city. The girls were good girls. They helped swell the family purse by singing in the royal opera house, and the father had set up his little shop before noon and taken them to enjoy the open.

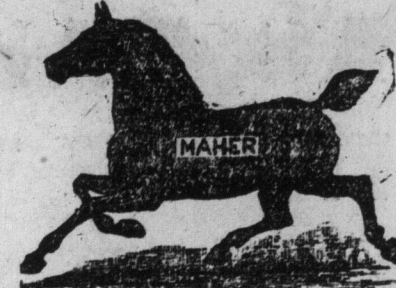

MAHER'S HORSE EXCHANGE

16 TO 28 HAYDEN STREET

Near Cor. Yonge and Bloor.

PHONE NORTH 3920

AUCTION
SALES Every Monday and Thursday
at 11 a.m.

PRIVATE
SALES of Horses,
Carriages,
etc.,
Every Day.

"THE HORSE MARKET OF CANADA."

AUCTION SALES OF 250 HORSES

Monday, May 31st
at 11 a.m.

150 Horses

of all classes: Heavy Draughts, General Purpose, Express and Delivery Horses, Carriage Cobs, Saddle and Road Horses, consigned to us by some of the best horsemen in Canada. And

TWO CAR LOADS OF BUSH HORSES

FROM

"The White Pine Lumber Co."

WEBBWOOD, ONTARIO

These Horses are right out of hard work and have been consigned to us with instructions to sell for the high dollar.

Thursday, June 3rd
at 11 a.m.

100 Horses

of all classes. We are receiving several consignments weekly of good Wagon Horses, and City people requiring horses for the Summer's work will do well to look through our Stables before purchasing.

Also on Monday and Thursday we shall sell a number of serviceably sound workers and drivers, consigned to us by City people who have no further use for them.

All Horses sold with a warranty are returnable by noon the day following sale, if not as represented.

Take Yonge, Dupont, Avenue
Road, Belt Line or Church
Cars to within half a block Stables.

P. MAHER, ISAAC WATSON, GEORGE JACKSON,
Proprietor. Auctioneer. Asst. Auctioneer

"GIVE ME 20 CONVICTS; I'LL MAKE MEN OF 15 OF THEM"

Iowa Clergyman Preaching That Paroled First Offenders Can Be Saved. Says He'll Practice His Preaching and Redeem Three-quarters of the Jail Birds State
Gives Over to His Guardianship.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 28.—Rev. Robert B. H. Bell, prominent Des Moines Episcopal clergyman, wants to take up the responsibility of society for the future behavior of 20 men convicted for the first time of crime. Further, he'll give a bond to the state to make honorable citizens of three-fourths of them.

Rev. Bell, openly charging that members of the state parole board are hard-hearted and inhumane, secured the passage of a law permitting courts at their discretion to parole to the guardianship of a private citizen any man convicted for a first offense.

Now he wants more. He wants the law amended so as to make it mandatory upon the courts to parole first offenders. He wanted:

Place the convicted men under the guardianship of a good citizen. Require him to make good to the state the costs of his prosecution and conviction. Require him to make good, so far as possible, the wrong he has done.

Rev. Bell's theory is that the man who commits a crime would never do so again if the proper spirit is aroused within him. He contends that the humiliation of a prison sentence, the feeling on the part of the convict that he has paid his debt to society, the fact that he is turned free without a way to live, and other reasons make the man commit his second crime.

Rev. Robt. B. H. Bell.

"It is not such a sin to make one mistake," he says, "but it is a great sin to make the same mistake twice. Men sent to the penitentiary might be saved to be useful citizens, if, before they were stamped with the stigma of prison life, they have their manhood appealed to, are given a helping hand, and encouraged to take a new grip of life."

FARMS FOR SALE

W. A. Lawson's List.

A SELECTION FROM W. A. Lawson's List. son's list, Ontario's Farm, to. Tell him what you can have and he will send you full description.

25 ACRES—ONE MILE FROM TOWN. Credit, electric cars and railway station, school, postoffice, churches, frame house, barn, stables, other buildings; two acres orchard, water, wire fences; rich sandy choice garden land; fifty-five hundred.

100 ACRES—COUNTY DURHAM. mile and half from village, sandy level, seventeen timber; clean, well-cultivated; orchard, frame house, large also, stables thirty head, other barns, stables twenty-head, everything in first-class order; ten hundred.

100 ACRES—THIRTY-FIVE MILES from Toronto, close to good road, elegant brick house, cut-stone, telephone in house, daily mail delivered at gate; ornamental trees, very good place; clay loam and sandy loam, well cultivated; orchard, frame house, large also, stables thirty head, other barns, stables twenty-head, everything in first-class order; ten hundred.

105 ACRES—ONE MILE FROM TOWN. clay loam; ninety acres cultivated; sixteen hardwood, three apples and other fruits; frame house, nine rooms, cellar; bank barn, blue-foot stone wall; other barns and outbuildings; stables for thirty head; buildings in good repair; eight thousand.

200 ACRES—TOWNSHIP MULLEN. mile and half school, five miles station, rich clay loam; hundred ten cultivated; forty level, balance rolling, well-cultivated; orchard, frame house, large also, stables thirty head, other barns, stables twenty-head, everything in first-class order; ten hundred.

250 ACRES—COUNTY NORFOLK. town; close to school; well-cultivated; two hundred cleared, hundred now in meadow, fifty acres pine and oak wood; choice apple orchard; running stream; fences good; frame house, bank barn, stone cellar, turntable, bank barn, foot stone wall; other barn on stone wall; stables forty head; other buildings, all in good repair; ten thousand.

SOME MEN ARE LEARNING. Others know that Lawson does not deal in poor quality land. In Southern Ontario, Why will you let the best land go to shrewd Americans and Canadians? We are doubling their money, and the crops that the one crop will pay for the ground it grows on, and the ground is increasing in value every year. Do not miss it. You will let him try? Write today.

THE ABOVE ARE FOR SALE BY W. A. Lawson, Ontario's Farm, to. Tell him what you can have and he will send you full description.

A. Willis' List.

A. WILLIS, 6 TORONTO STREET.

FRUIT AND POULTRY FARM. $800 cash will purchase it. choice potato and market garden land; two acres orchard; 90 apple trees; plum trees, four pear trees; 100 acres of apples last year strong; strong house about 20 x 40, containing ten rooms; adjoining school, postoffice and near railway station. 15 hours' ride from the cars from Toronto. A. Willis, 6 Toronto-street.

Store For Sale.

$4500 WILL BUY CORNER BRICK store, story and a half, well established business; clean, nice group; stock also for sale; reasonable terms; payment. A. Willis, 6 Toronto-street.

House For Sale.

BEECH AVENUE. $2500. WILL BE a new, detached, seven-roomed, well-furnished house, nicely decorated, heated by gas, hot water connections, etc. $800 cash. A. Willis, 6 Toronto-street.

He practices what he preaches, Rev. Bell. Because he has faith in his theories, he announces that he is going to become guardian for 20 first offenders, if the state will parole them in his custody.

"When they do," he says confidently, "just watch me make men of them."

Cricket To-Day.

St. James' Cricket Club will meet Grace Church in a cricket match at 2.30 p.m. today. The game will be played on the grounds of the club. The game will be played on the grounds of the club.

Roosevelt will be tendered a banquet at 8 p.m. at the R.C.A. So far he has secured 85 specimens of 22 different species.

Levi C. Weir of New York, president of the Adirondack Club, resigned. Dr. Pringle, for four years in Chatham as a physician, has left shortly for Toronto, where he has received a position as inspector of the Dominion Government.