

Riverdale Heights

THE SPLENDID HOMESITE SUB-DIVISION THE INVESTOR'S BEST OPPORTUNITY

This sub-division is splendidly situated, east of Jones Avenue, on the hill. From the Heights a beautiful view can be obtained over the lake and the eastern part of the city. The property is high and dry, naturally drained, and slopes gradually from north to south. The southern part of the property is in orchard, and the soil is the finest for gardening land. Remember this is not suburban property, but right in a well-populated district of the city, with all the city conveniences right up to the property. The streets are now being graded, and within a short time all the improvements will be laid. NOW is your best time to invest. Get in on the ground floor price. Buy while you have the chance of first selection. Why invest away outside the city limits, off the car line, in a suburban district, when you can get city property within a short distance of the car line—within twenty minutes of the heart of the city? Buy where others are buying and building—where others have bought and built. Remember you don't need an airship or an automobile to get to Riverdale Heights. Take a Parliament car, walk north on Jones Avenue to Hunter Street, where our representatives will meet you. This property opens THANKSGIVING DAY. See this and you will see why scores have been waiting for this opportunity.

Too Much Cheese in Britain.
OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—B. McNamara, Canadian trade commissioner at Manchester, reports that the cheese market is in a somewhat stagnant condition. Chicago Gospel.
J. P. Bickel & Co. say at the close: Wheat—Higher. Firmer cables and predictions of smaller primary shipments, together with continuance of an excellent cash demand served as stimulants and shorts were free buyers. At the extreme high price realizing sales ceased market. The vigorous strength of the market and an excellent cash demand will obtain during the next two months, which will, in our opinion, prevent any accumulation of stocks.
Corn—Notwithstanding the upturn in wheat, corn prices had a hard time of it and held much advance. Local bulls were the best buyers and the fact that wheat did not advance would rather create a lack of short interest. The fact of a nature that would be frightened by a little wet weather. Cash prices unchanged with demand poor.
Oats—The market steadied and was decisively higher with other grains. Local buyers are buying oats and it is expected that the December option will be advanced and good prices steady to the West.
Rye—The market is not so active as it was a few days ago. Local bulls are trying to force a break. Conditions are bullish and wheat should be bought on all fair returns.
Lard—Notwithstanding the local element is not so active as it was a few days ago. Local bulls are trying to force a break. Conditions are bullish and wheat should be bought on all fair returns.
Soybeans—The market is not so active as it was a few days ago. Local bulls are trying to force a break. Conditions are bullish and wheat should be bought on all fair returns.
