

THE KING AMONG HIS SOLDIERS

Recent Royal Review Held at Aldershot

Forty Thousand Spectators Hear His Majesty Speak of Improvement in Providing Recreation for Troops.

(London Daily Mail.)

Fully 40,000 spectators were present at a review of troops by the king at Aldershot. Long before the khaki-clad soldiers had arrived, the reserved enclosure and surrounding slopes were filled with people. From early morning crowded motor cars, waggons and omnibuses arrived from all parts.

The Queen and Princess Mary wore grey costumes and cloaks, and Prince George, in naval uniform, motored to the royal pavilion. Soon after the king rode up with his staff.

This peace-time review of a warlike pageant was a wonderful picture in the brilliant morning sunshine. Although the troops were still in khaki, the review marked the transfer from war to peace.

The review presented all the familiar peace-time features. Cavalry galloped past to their own regimental marches; riflemen marched by to the tune of "The South Wales Borderers" to the "Men of Harlech," the Fusiliers to the "British Grenadiers," and the R. A. S. C. to "Wait for the Wagon." Pipes were there, marching at the head of Cameron Highlanders and Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

The Duke of Connaught, an old favorite with troops and public, left the king's side now and again to take his place at the head of the Royal Dublin Fusiliers, the Rifle Brigade and other battalions of which he is colonel-in-chief. Each time he was loudly cheered. After the march-past three cheers for the king were given, caps being raised on the points of swords and bayonets.

The king and queen, who were repeatedly cheered, afterwards visited the gymnasium and swimming baths and frequently applauded the exhibition of life-saving and games.

MOTOR PARTY WITH NINETY-TWO CARS

From Michigan to Tour Province of Ontario—What Good Roads Bring.

(Toronto Globe.)

Big preparations are being made to entertain the three hundred and sixty good roads boosters of the Michigan Pikes Association, who will arrive in this city from Detroit on Friday, July 16, on their tour through Ontario.

A delegation from the Ontario Motor League, consisting of Alderman Frank Johnston, G. A. Hodgson, Dr. R. E. Doolittle and W. G. Robertson, waited on the City Council this week and outlined the advisability of a civic reception for the motor tourists from across the border. The Board of Control received the suggestions very favorably, but gave no definite reply, as the procedure requires the matter to be referred to the Entertainment Committee.

Hold Meeting in Queen's Park.

In all probability the visitors will be given a banquet by the city at the King Edward Hotel, after which a monster procession will proceed to Queen's Park, where the Ford Band of 55 members and the male quartette will render some selections at the band stand, and a few addresses will be delivered by good roads speakers who will accompany the tour.

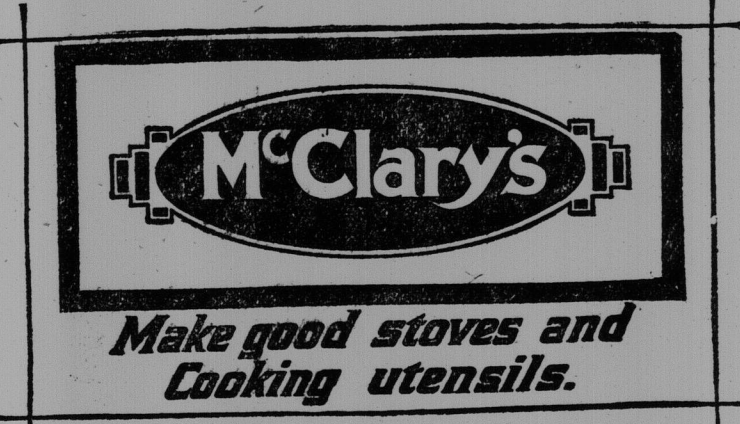

The "pikers" who will travel through Ontario from Windsor to Toronto, thence over the Great Northern Highway to South St. Mary, are also to be accorded receptions at Windsor, Chatham, London, Hamilton, Barrie, Orillia, Brantford, tour on the Muskoka Lakes, Burk's Falls, North Bay, Sudbury, Espanola, Blind River, Thessalon and the "Soo."

Will Consist of 92 Cars.

This "1920 International Good Roads Tour" will be the largest project ever attempted in Canada or the United States. The tour plans call for a maximum of 75 passenger cars, and 17 motor trucks, all on pneumatic tires, to carry the cooking outfit, shower baths, refrigerating plant, emergency repairs, hospital, wireless equipment, fire fighting apparatus, tents, blankets and personal baggage. The equipment will be so complete that all the comforts and conveniences of modern camping life will be provided. Provision has also been made to light the camp each night with electricity, and each night stop will be the scene of a veritable portable village of tents.

Provide for Canadians.

Motorists who contemplate accepting this invitation are requested to send in their applications to Mr. Robertson at once, with a remittance of $50 to cover the initial expenses of the trip.

A New Character

When, four years ago, KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE TEA first appeared, something more than a new tea had been produced—a new character in tea had been created. Only after most searching experiments in flavor-blending were we at last able to develop that peculiarly mellow richness of flavor so delightful to the taste, which has won for KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE the high place it holds. The total annual sale of KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE has doubled twice in the last two years.

We are confident that you will say that it is different to any tea you ever tasted.

and recreation of the troops. The queen and I were especially pleased to find that steps are being taken to look after the married families in these schemes. The provision of clubs for the married women and playgrounds for the children is a new and admirable development.

"It is gratifying to see the progress made in raising the efficiency of units to something approaching pre-war standards. The young soldiers enlisted since the armistice in our voluntary army give every promise of proving themselves worthy successors to the old expeditionary force, the glorious memory of which will live forever in the history of the great war."

His Majesty and a Nurse

Leaving the back gate of the Royal Pavilion, Aldershot, for a gallop over the hills with Princess Mary, the king rode up before Miss L. I. Parsons, a nursing sister of Queen Alexandra's Nursing Service, who was the only spectator. Miss Parsons afterwards said that the king and Princess Mary were "so nice to me. His Majesty, pointing to my war ribbon, asked me if I served in France. I told him that I had been more than two years in Salonika. 'Are you quite well after it all?' he asked. When he heard that I was still feeling the effects of malaria, which I contracted there, he said, 'I am sorry. I hope you will soon be well.' Both the princess and the king wished me good day."

The king and queen, accompanied by Princess Mary and Prince George, visited the Brigade of Guards and saw the domestic side of the soldiers' life. The queen showed keen interest in the comfort of the wives and children, and made a surprise visit to the married quarters.

The royal party then motored to the Cambridge Hospital, where they were received by Colonel H.C.R. Hime and the superintendent, Miss E. M. Lyde. The king and queen went through the officers' and men's wards. The convalescents cheered the royal party warmly as they left.

The King Under Fire

The king, Princess Mary and Prince George, mounted on chargers, one day watched the cavalry and Royal Horse Artillery do battle in the famous Long Valley at Aldershot.

The king was in his field marshal's uniform, Princess Mary wore a becoming riding habit, and Prince George, who had changed his new naval uniform for a grey lounge suit, was greatly interested in the battle, and frequently asked questions. During the battle the king was under fire from a Hotchkiss gun. He laughed heartily when he heard of his "narrow escape."

Six hundred cadets welcomed the king and queen with a salvo of cheers to Sandhurst College. The royal party, which included the Duke of Connaught, Princess Mary and Prince George, watched a march past and then attended service in the college church. The king afterwards inspected the college.

It Pays to Feed Empire Feeds!

Cattlemen, farmers and dairymen have learned that it is profitable to buy stock feeds by proteins and that the feed containing the proper amount of proteins is the feed that brings results.

Another consideration steps in, however, and that is, that beyond a certain point, protein ingredients may be present in too great quantity for the animal to use, and there is waste.

EMPIRE FEEDS are rightly balanced

Empire Dairy and Hog Feeds contain not less than 16% proteins (guaranteed), which will be used for the nourishment of the animal, without waste.

We aim to put up feeds that will pay the user. Only good sound grains and other ingredients are used, and certainly no filler or other useless stuff will ever enter into EMPIRE FEEDS. Try a quantity for a fair testing time. We will abide by the resulting improvement in your stock. Ask your dealer for the honest feeds—EMPIRE BRANDS.
