LOCAL NEWS

NO SOLDIERS CAME.
A party of seven soldiers was expected today from the steamer Tunisian but they did not arrive.

HEAVY TRAVEL.
The Northland of the Eastern Steamship Company today brought 400 passengers from the States. Of these about half were for points east and connected with the C. P. R. at noon. The Boston train also brought quite a large number of passengers today.

CORRECTION.
There are two errors in the article on another page relative to Lieut. J. E. W. Oland and Lieut. Richard Oland. It was the distinguished service cross, not order, that was awarded the first named, and both were graduates of the Royal Naval College at Kingston, not the Royal Military College. They were naval, not military officers.

START WORK ON NEW LINE.
Workmen started yesterday on a cutting through the mound of rock on the city side of Kam's corner, through which will run the new spur line from the C. N. R. near the McAvity plant to the works of the St. John Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Co., Ltd., at Courtenay Bay. A trestle which will bring the line from the shore onto the dry-dock site near the base of the breakwater has also been commenced.

HAD TO STOP PLAY.
A game of ball in the church league, which was played on the Shamrock grounds last evening between Douglas Avenue and Victoria street nines, came to an abrupt ending during the third inning. The cause was the loss of two balls in a bag behind home plate. As there were no more available the umpire had to call the game. An endeavor will be made to get permission from the owners to erect a back stop.

HOME FROM WAR.
Gordon Cummings arrived home on Saturday after four years overseas. He came through the war without a scratch and returns in excellent health. He was only seventeen years old when he enlisted. A brother who went overseas with the first contingent from St. John was killed by a bomb in a dugout on Oct. 1, 1918, after having gone through nearly the whole war without a wound. The brothers are sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. Cummings of this city.

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning two men charged with drunkenness were remanded.

Fred Vincent and Carl Walls were charged by Mrs. Ida Curley proprietress of a restaurant in Carmarthen street, with refusing to pay 50 cents for two meals, which they had eaten. The case was postponed until this afternoon.

Harry Gunn and Ernest Gunn were charged with begging and also with creating a disturbance in Charlotte street. William St. Claire Wilson gave evidence that the accused about 11:45 last night asked him for "two bits" which is equivalent to twenty-five cents. Robert Peterson also gave evidence that the men begged from him. He said there were about nine fellows around in company with the accused who created a disturbance.

Both of the accused in the court called the witness a liar. The magistrate immediately sent them to jail.

Samuel Mayes, a street car motorman, was charged by Thomas Anderson, with using profane language to him. The complainant said that yesterday he was driving along Charlotte street and was stopped by the motorman who used profane language to him.

James B. Powers, conductor on the car said he did not hear the defendant use profane language. Robert Crawford also said he heard no profane language. Policeman McLeese said that an automobile driven by the complainant collided with the street car and when the motorman came to the door the complainant shook his fist at him and said "You'll pay for this" to this the motorman used profane language.

Policeman Coughlan said he heard no profane language, yet he heard words of some kind.

The court found the motorman guilty and a fine of $8 was imposed.

A case against Edgar Bierhan, charged with stealing goods to the value of $324, from the store of W. H. Thorne and Company, was postponed. Sergeant Detective John T. Power gave evidence which corroborated that of Detective Biddiscombe at a previous hearing. The sergeant detective mentioned finding a copy of the Evening Times in a vault under the King street store which is not used by the employees in the ordinary course of the business. This was objected to by E. S. Ritchie, counsel for the defense, on the grounds that the paper was not produced. Counsel for the prosecution, W. H. Harrison, contended that in mentioning the paper, he merely wished to show that some one was in the vault on the night in question. The magistrate said he would allow the evidence yet it did not necessarily show that the person who left the paper in the vault did the stealing.

The magistrate said: "Every person reads the Times."

James A. King, a brother-in-law of the accused, when asked about a revolver and cartridges which were found by the detectives in his bureau drawer, he said he bought them from the accused and paid $8 for them. A fishing reel found by the detectives, the witness also said he bought from the accused. The case for the prosecution was finished but on application of Mr. Ritchie the case was again postponed until tomorrow at noon.

Charles Murray was charged with assaulting Lawrence Lambert. The latter said he was leaving a cellar under Dr. C. M. Kelly's residence, where he was working, and the accused was sent up to help; some discussion followed and the accused hit the witness, knocking him down, jumped on him and started to hit him again.

Nell Nee and Ernest Selby gave corroborative evidence. The accused was found guilty and fined $20.

Hyman Foxman was charged with buying stolen goods, knowing them to be stolen. Harry J. Garson said he had missed about 2000 pounds of composition brass since January 1 from his premises in Water street. He met the defendant in Pond street some time after and asked him concerning the matter. The defendant told him he did buy about 200 pounds and paid $16 for it from his son, Louis Garson, and Mr. Garson told him that he missed 800 pounds. The case was postponed until this afternoon.

THE OUTING OF THE ROTARIANS

Busy Business Men Take Half Day for Recreation—A Very Jolly Picnic

The clock on the observatory marked the hour of two when the Rotarians bumped along Douglas avenue on the way to Ononette, for their annual picnic. The hands of the same clock pointed to half past ten when the last motor car bumped back again.

Rotarian F. A. Dykeman's cottage and grounds at Ononette overlook a smooth beach in one of the prettiest coves along the river. It is a very pretty and secluded place, and Mr. Dykeman has made it more attractive by planting trees and flowers, making a road and paths of beach gravel, and cultivating a fine garden. The wide verandahs look on the river, and it is but a few steps to the tree-bordered beach, and to the landing place where boats and canoes are moored, with a large motor boat at anchor a little farther on. Mr. and Mrs. Dykeman made special provision for the entertainment of their guests, and the latter had an afternoon and evening of unalloyed pleasure.

There was no field large enough for baseball, for such hitters as Rotarian Terry and Clinton Brown, but there was a tug-of-war on the beach that moved enough gravel to make a mile of highway. Those who could swim went in bathing, others pitched quoits or engaged in oratorical flights or sat on the verandah and conversed with nature. Rotarians John Bond, Dr. Merrill and A. E. Everett were early at work among the vegetables and the aid a brisk fire on the beach and a huge pot produced a lamb stew that absorbed attention with pie and coffee, for at least a half hour. George Warwick was chief of the dish-washers, and they had the St. John river for a dish-pan. If any Rotarians are needed at the Women's Institute next winter—let George do it.

After supper the whole party, except Rotarian Ginter, who was enjoying a siesta, boarded the big motor boat and two tenders, went up to Woodman's Point and cruised around for an hour. Rotarian Robert Reed wrote a fabulous amount of insurance before they set out. Percy Humphrey was the engineer. On their return there were more games, and at dusk a huge bonfire prepared by Dykeman was lighted. When it had burned out the last laggards boarded the motor cars and were soon in town again, after an outing that would bear many repetitions.

ST. SWITHIN'S DAY AND IT IS FINE

This is St. Swithin Day and many people have been watching the weather closely believing in the old tradition that should it rain upon that day a wet period will follow for forty days. Considering that today was such a fine one there is little reason to be down-hearted. St. Swithin was the seventeenth bishop of Worcester, Eng., and was greatly beloved by the poor because of his charity. In the tenth century he was canonized. It was then proposed to transfer his body to the cathedral from the churchyard at Winchester but for forty days the ceremony was deferred as it rained heavily every day for that time. The day proposed for the removal was July 15, hence the tradition, though in the Roman calendar the festival is observed on July 2, the date of his death in 662.

THE FUNERAL OF THE LATE JOSEPH LEVINE

St. John, N. B., July 14.

To the Editor of the Times and Telegraph:

Sir,—Would you be kind enough to give space in your valuable paper for this letter from one of the relatives of the late Joseph Levine. It was stated that the War Veterans turned out in large numbers to the funeral, which was a very impressive spectacle. Now, Mr. Editor, I wish to state that only two of the War Veterans of this city were at the funeral, and one sergeant representing the 38th. (A very large number that.) On Thursday morning I called up Secretary Frame of the G. W. V. A. and he told me over the phone that he would make all arrangements for a military funeral on Friday morning. He personally told me that he was unable to get the rifles for a military funeral, but the veterans would turn out in a body to attend the funeral. On Friday evening, finding that the military police had about sixty rifles at the armoury, I called Mr. Frame up and told him where he could get enough rifles for a firing party. He told me it would be three hours work to get the men drilled for a firing party. However, even if the firing party was impossible, the war veterans could have at least a representative body in attendance.

Yours truly,

EX-CORPL. A. W. PROST.

With reference to the foregoing, Mr. Frame said this morning that he regretted it was too late to make the necessary arrangements for a military funeral. As to the association attending the funeral in a body, he had inserted a notice in the press calling upon all who could attend to do so, and such action was voluntary with them.

MAY BE NEW SCHOOL FOR EAST ST. JOHN

The annual meeting of ratepayers of East St. John and Little River schools was held last evening at Little River. J. H. Tonge in the chair. Reports of the trustees and secretary were read and approved. The retiring trustee, J. H. Tonge, was re-elected for the ensuing year. W. G. Watters was appointed auditor. It was decided to hold a special meeting of the ratepayers at the East St. John school house soon to consider the matter of a new school building at East St. John.

FIRE TODAY

Fire broke out in the office of J. S. Frost's warehouse, Smythe street, at one o'clock today and did damage estimated at $60. An oil stove is thought to have been the cause. When Mr. Frost left for lunch a little after twelve o'clock, he left the stove burning with a pan of water on top of it. When one of his employees returned after lunch he found the cloth strewn and this fire spreading to the walls. He sent in an alarm from box 8. The burner had been turned down quite low.

Price is a Consideration But Not the Deciding Factor in Buying Furniture

Regardless of price, no article is a good value if it does not offer years of perfect service. Nor does price alone determine the length of service any articles may give. Quality of materials—cabinet-work and finish are the only factors that make for perfect satisfaction.

A complete Home Outfit furnished with good furniture and rugs will have the same beauty of appearance after ten years of use as it had the first day it was delivered. A Home Outfit of that quality does not necessarily mean a great expenditure of money.

Our stocks are so complete that you can select beautiful home furnishings at any price you wish to pay—from the least expensive to the most pretentious pieces—and regardless of price every article is guaranteed.

When you can buy good furniture priced as low as possible, consistent with quality, it is decidedly to your best interests. Truly, we are the Home of Home Outfits, for we probably sell more of them than any other store in St. John.
