Eldorado

It has often been a source of surprise that an easily accessible district like the now famous Steamboat Mines, so near Vancouver, should so long have escaped the attention of prospectors and operators. The ext planation is simple. The now famous Nevada district of Goldfield and Tonopah was ignored for years because mining experts, including no less an authority than John Hays Hammond, declared that mines would never be found in a porphry belt and was passed up again and again by prospecfors, until some man who knew Nevada recognized the rock as identical in character and formation with that of the famous

Staggering

The samples brought to Vancouver from Steamboat have shown values staggering to both prospectors and assayers. many of them showing thousands of dollars to the ton, and not being specially selected, but fair average specimens.

In the Heart of This Rich District

Are the claims owned and controlled by the Steamboat Central Mines, Ltd. Assays taken from surface show an average of $19.60 in gold. The vein averages about 10 feet, is well defined, has been traced for a distance of 3,000 feet, and should prove one of the biggest dividend payers of the decade. No expensive machinery is required to work the property, which can, on expert advice. be mined for $2.50 a ton. It is proposed to put a 50-stamp on the property, putting the company in a position to treat the ore themselves without going to the expense of having to haul the rock to some other mill.
