Over Its Enthusiastic Reception of the Duke and Duchess of York.

Happy Reply of King Edward's Heir to the Nineteen Addresses Thrust Upon Him.

nobly today in its welcome to the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York. There were thousands of visitors in the city and the greeting to their royal highnesses was of the most enthusiastic character. It has been a subject of comment that at Quebec and at Montreal the crowds did not cheer. This was not the case at the capital. From the time that the Duke and his escort arrived at the station, until they reached Rideau Hall, it was one continuous volley of cheering, and their royal highnesses were noticeably gratified. At Elgin street station the Duke and Duchess were welcomed by the Governor General and a brilliant staff. The military and police arrangements were simply perfect, not a hitch occurring. The city never looked better, the decorations being far in advance of anything ever attempted here before. This is due to the fact that the civic reception committee had spent its appropriation in a most judicious manner, placing the entire contract for decorating in the hands of an English firm which has been doing this class of work for the last fifty years. The English newspaper correspondents accompanying the party concede that Ottawa carried the palm in the way of effective decorations. Arriving at Parliament Hill, the Duke and Duchess were met by a tremendous concourse of people, numbering thousands, over 5,000 school children uniting in singing God Save the King, and on the departure of the royal party, the Maple Leaf Forever

The Duke and Duchess were comed to the royal navilion on Parliament Hill by the Governor General, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mayor Morris, the latter resplendent in his new offi-cial robes. After the royal party had Hull, four national societies, the Otthis vicinity, veterans of the Fenian raid. Canadians of Massachusetts, and the Ojibaway Indians of Ontario.

The Duke made a most felicitous re-

It will afford me much pleasure to communicate to my dear father, the King, these gratifying assurances of devotion to his throne and

It is espeople remained unabated. It is especially gratifying to me to meet you here on the threshold of a building, the corner-stone of which was laid by my dear father. Standing here in the capital of Canada, in the shadow of this noble pile, it is impossible, with-out a feeling of pride, to reflect how far short of the actual results were the hopes and aspirations of that day, now more than forty years ago. Otta-wa was then but the capital of two provinces, yoked together in an uneasy union. Today it is the capital of a great and prosperous Dominion, stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans, the centre of the politi-cal life and administration of a contenied and united peeople.

On leaving parliament grounds to proceed to Rideau Hall the royal party eceived one continuous ovation. This afternoon the Duke and Duch ess, Lord and Lady Minto, and a brilliant staff saw the first contest for the lacrosse championship, the contestants being the Capitals and Cornwalls. After an exciting match the Capitals were the winners by 3 to 2. At the conclusion the Duke was presented with the ball which had used, also a lacrosse stick enclosed in a handsome leather case. He then handed the Minto cup over to the winners, and left the grounds amid the cheers of the thousands of spectatained at an official dinner at Govern-ment House by their Excellencies the Governor General and Countess Minto. Over one hundred guests were present. After dinner the members of the party taken their places, the presentation of exposition is considered to have carteen being fired at the heads of the tion, but visitors here today claim that royal party, among these being greet- tion, but visitors here today claim that ings from the cities of Ottawa and transcend those of Buffalo, OTTAWA, Sept. 20.-It is definitely ettled that the Governor General will not go west with their Royal Highes. Lord Minto's intention is to join the Duke to take part in a duck shooting expedition in Manitoba or-ganized by Senator Kirchoffer, and then return to Toronto with the Duke. His Excellency will also visit Halifax on the occasion of the good-bye to their Royal Highnesses.

OTTAWA MAYOR'S OFFICIAL ROBES. (Ottawa Oitizen.)

Mayor Morris in his official robes will not be by any means the least striking figure among the distinguish-ed civil and military dignitaries assembled in the pavillion on Parliament Hill on Friday next to welcome their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York to the capital of Canada. Ottawa's chief magistrate will wear a flowing crimson robe, the gold chain of office, knee breeches, silk stockings, shoes with silver buckles and a gold-laced cocked hat, all of the correct official pattern oned by civic conventionality in Great Britain: It certainly makes a gorgeous outfit. The robe is of crimon broadcloth, trimmed all round with dian otter, which, backed by a broad outline of black silk velvet, produces a strikingly rich effect. On each shoulder is a broad bow of crimson silk ribbon to retain the claim of office in place. The lining of the garment is heavy white silk. The suit to be worn beneath the robe is of the court pattern worn by chief magistrates, corresponding in out to the dress of a King's counsel. It is of fine black broadcloth, and with the knee breeches are worn the regulation black silk stockings and patent leather shoes with buckles of solid silver. Nothing icher in the line of civic official aphas ever been seen in Canada, yet it is entirely the product of local skill, the robe having been designed and made up in the establishment of G. M. Holbrook, and the shoes turned out by A. J. Stephens & Sons, Sparks Irwin, C. M. G., presided.

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.-Friday's magof Tawa, Sept. 21.—Friday's magnificent welcome to the heir apparent was almost eclipsed by today's demonstrations in honor of their Royal Highnesses. The weather was simply superb, and all the festivities and ceremonies passed off without a hitch. Once in a generation or so is Canada permitted to witness the quaint and interesting ceremony which occurred in the ball room at Rideau Hall yesterday. The number of speciators yesterday. The number of spectators was limited. The Sun's correspondent was one of the two newspaper correspondents privileged to be present. With members of the staffs of His Royal highness and the Governor Gen-ess was seated on the Of those designated to receive the King's favor there was a good reprewere one or two noticeable absentees, including Sir John Boyd, Col. T. B. Evans, and Dr. G. M. Grant of King-Colonels Drury, Otter and Lessard, who received C. B.'s; Governor Jette, who was created K. C. M. G.; Colonel Buchanan, Major Denison, Joseph Pope, Dr. Peterson, Rev. D. Matthieu Mayor Howland of Toronto, and Major Maude, C. M. G.'s. Mr. Shaughnessy was the last to receive the honor from the Duke. Probably the most trying ordel of sent was when Mr. Keppel called out the name of "Mr. Thomas Shaughnessy," and the well known president of the Canadian Pacific Railway came forward, to be created a Knight Bach-Mr. Shaughnessy, who was attired in morning dress, stepped into the centre of the room and, according to prescribed rules, had to advance to the throne unattended. He was jus a triffe nervous, as would any man under such trying circumstances, but in his promenade to the throne showed that he knew how to bear his part properly. In his progress he made three courtly bows and then dropped upon his knees before the Duke. His Royal Highness received the sword rom the Duke of Roxborough and ouched Mr. Shaughnessy lightly both shoulders. The new knight then rose, and the man who commenced his now president of one of the greatest railway corporations in the world, retired with the title of "Sir Thomas Shaughnessy." This closed the cere mony, the Duke, Governor General and the Countess of Minto retiring amid the strains of the national anthem.

A few minutes later the Duke left Rideau Hall to drive through the streets of Hull en route to Parliament Hill. The demonstration in the transpontine city was a memorable one the most noticeable feature being the gathering of 6,000 employes of the E. B. Eddy Co., who gave the Duke most enthusiastic greeting. At Parliament Hill there was a tremendous oncourse of spectators, and when heir Royal Highnesses arrived the cheering was loud and prolonged. Without any formalities or prelimin aries, the Duke pulled the cord which inveiled Herbert's masterpiece statue of her late Majesty.

The Second Field Battery thundered out from Nepean Point a royal salute of twenty-one guns, and a great cheer went up from the multitude, followed by the singing of the national anthem. "It is with great pleasure that the Duchess and myself assist at the inauguration of a national monument to drove up town to see the illuminations and decorations. The electrical effects on the parliament buildings were simply superb. The Pan-American slopious reign achieved to this beautiful statue with feelings of gratitude for all that her long and simply superb. and with loving respect and admira-tion for the bright example be-queathed to them in a great and noble life. It has been truly said that sh was the mother of her people." the great throng, led by Laurier, gave three cheers and a tiger for the ilus> trious visitors. The presentation of medals to the South African heroes was then proeeded with. The first to go up was Lt. Eddie Holland, V. C. The Duke of Roxborough read the recommendation of General Smith-Dorien, reciting the action which merited the honor and then the Duke of York pinned on the decoration. His Royal Highness shook hands with and felicitated the proud recipient. The Duchess of York stood beside the Duke of Roxborough Lieut. Holland was given an enthusiastic cheer as he descended the steps. Then in alphabetical order, the mer ollowed each other, saluted His Royal Highness, received their medals, saluted again and retired. The three nurses, Misses. Hurcomb, Richardson and Forbes, were loudly cheered. The climax of enthusiasm was reach ed when Trooper Mulloy, the hero, was led up, escorted by Lieut. Holland. His approach was noticed by Her Royal Highness, who evidently spoke to the Duke concerning him. In presenting the medal to Mulloy, His Royal Highness told the blind trooper that he was very glad to meet him and sorry to know that he had lost tion through which he had passed. Her Royal Highness also spoke to Mulloy telling him that her sister, the Duchess of Teck, had spoken to her concerning him. "When I go home," said the Duchess, "I will tell my sister that I had the pleasure of meeting you. blind trooper was visited by the Duchess of Teck, who gave him an arm chair and evinced much sympathy. Mulloy was given an ovation from the crowd.

The royal party drove off amid hearty cheers, the Duchess and Counthe Duke and Governor General went to the Rideau club for luncheon. About 70 members of the club were presen in addition to the Duke's staff. Col.

In the afternoon a garden honor of the royal visitors was given at Rideau hall by the Earl and Couness of Minto. Over 2,000 guests were present. The gathering was a sp did success.

Sixty odd members of local corps declined to parade to receive their medals in the uniforms of the corps to which they belonged or in civilian to which they belonged or in civiliant to which they marched from the drill hall to Parliament hill, entered the grounds at the central gate and lined up two deep, all dressed in khaki.

The orders of the militia department were not observed nevertheless, and the khakiolad soldiers marched up when their names were called and received the decorations from the hands of His Royal Highness. It is said some inkling of the trouble had reached the ears of Viscount Creighton, aide-decamp to His Royal Highness, and that he had an interview with the major general, with the result that the orders about men being refused entrance to the roped inclosure of the grounds were rescinded and the soldiers in khaki marched through the ropes and received their medals. It is also said the minister of militia in sisted that the men should be allowed to receive their medals in khaki, and that there will be no trouble in the department after their Royal Highlesses have left is the statement of the knowing ones. The sympathies of the crowd were with the khaki boys, who were given a rousing cheer.

The address presented to the Duchess by Her Excellency the Countess of Minto at Ottawa today, on behalf of the National Council of Women of Women of Canada, was prepared very artistically. The border is a handsome scroll showing a design of rose, thistle and shamrock intermingled with the maple leaf, the Canadian emblem symbolizing the union of the mother untry with the dominion. The design is carried out in water colors, the purple of the thistle, the delicate rose tints, the amber and scarlet and gold of the maple leaves, the bright green of the shamrock, combining to form a very beautiful whole. The scroll was placed in a casket of Canadian woods, the casket of curled maple, lined with bird's eve maple. An inlaid "M" enclosed in a diamond on the cover is the only decoration. The address is

To Her Royal Highners the Duchess of Cornwall and York:

Cornwall and York:

May it please Your Royal Highness:

The members of the National Council of Women of Canada venture to approach Your Royal Highness with glad and loyal greetings on this happy occasion of your risit to Canada.

Our society is broadly representative of the women of this dominion; the welcome which it extends is a message from the women of the east and of the west, from those that dwell in the broad prairie lands on the coast of great seas and in populous women of the east and of the west, from those that dwell in the broad prairie lands on the coast of great seas and in populous cities; various as is the country of their birth or adoption are the women of this council, yet are they bound together by a common allegiance, by their fealty to one sovereign, by their heritage in one great empire, by their consecration to the idea of spiritual unity of which the British Empire is at once the realization and the pledge.

And as the women of the Council strive to further the harmonious development of this complex Canadian people, to strengthen the bonds between all who are privileged to be British subjects, and to fulfil to all men the law of service, they are upheld by those illustrious examples of pure and lofty womanhood set forth by her late Majesty Queen Victoria, of ever blessed memory, by Her Majesty Queen Alexandra and by her late Royal Highness, the much-beloved Duchess of Teck.

To you and to His Royal Highness the Duke of Cornwail and York we offer the tribute of our loyalty and devotion, our hope that your journey through Canada may be to you as bleasant an experience as it

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.-The Royal party, after dinner at government house last evening, drove up town to see the Illuminations. A band concert was in rogress on Parliament Hill, and when Duke and Duchess reached the front of the main building they were cheered by thousands, a recognition which as as much appreciated as unexpected. The Royal Canadian Dragoons furnished the escort. Sunday was spent quietly. This orning their Royal Highnesses and Lady Minto, accompanied by the Governor General, attended divine service at Christ Church Cathedral, but there was no ostentatious display, the only indication of anything unusual being the mounted escort. The church was nacked to overflowing. Rev. Mr. Kitson, the rector, preached the sermon from Galatians xxiv., 1. The sermon was of a patriotic character, the preacher referring incidentally to the ardy recognition of King Alfred's inuence in founding the British Em-

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 22.-Principal Grant is in the general hospital, critically ill. He suffered a chill on the voyage from England, and because of this illness could not attend at Otferred on him by the King.

A change has been made in the royal programme, which will be gratifying news to the people of British Columbia. It has now been decided that the and attend all functions. At first it was arranged that she should not go beyond Banff. It is also settled that the Governor General will not go to British Columbia, but as intimated the other day, will join the Duke for the shooting in Manitoba, visit Toronto with him, and say good bye at Halifax. Lady Minto will accompany the Duke and Duchess to Newfoundland on the Ophir, returning on one of the war-ships to Halifax.

Visiting newspaper correspondents, over thirty in number, were entertained by the local newspaper men to a smoking concert in parliament building last evening. Among the guests were Mayor Morris, Mayor Howland of Toronto, Col. Alymer, adjt. general; News. A splendid musical programme was given by local artists.

THE "LITTLE FATHER"

Kept Pres. Loubet Marking Time All Morning.

Nichelas of Russia Plays the Autocrat in France to the Limit.

COMPLEGNE France, Sept. 20.-Empero Nicholas exercised the prerogative of an autocrat today and kept President Loubet and all the French occupants of the Chateau Compelegne marking time the whole morning until he had signified his desires It was fully expected that he would drive to Pierrefonds and visit the castle and that afterwards he would go shooting in the great park attached to the Chateau Compiegne. All the arrangements had been made and 500 pheasants were brought especially last evening and let loose in the covers. His majesty remained in his apartments after breakfast quietly until ten o'clock, when he took a short promenade in the gardens, attired in a lark lounge suit and top boots, with the Czarina clad in her invariable half mourning and followed by a hound. The Empress carried her camera, with which she took a number of views.

After returning to the Chateau the Emperor had a long interview with M. Waldeck-Rousseau, the French premier. It lasted at least two hours. Count Lamsdorff, the Russian foreign minister, also conferred with M. Delcasse, the French minister of foreign affairs.

After giving it to be understood that he would go to Pierrefonds, the Czar left the Chateau with the Czarina in a victoria with no escort except a few detectives. Measures were taken within the park, however, that absolutely preclude the approach of any stranger. The entire outer circle of the park was patrolled by cuirassiers, while every few yards along the palisade were foot solidiers. In order to test the sateguards, five detectives were instructed to attempt to enter the park last evening. In every case invariable half mourning and followed by a detectives were instructed to attempt to enter the park last evening. In every case they were captured.

The Emperor changed his route unexpectedly and, instead of proceeding to Pierrefonds, took a short drive to Beauxmonts, returing to the Chateau Complegne at five o'clock.

Compiegne presented a most animated aspect. In the afternoon an immense concourse gathered in the hope of seeing the Czar and Czarina. But the only satisfaction was a pleasant surprise visit to the town hall from M. Loubet. His progress between the Chateau Compiegne and the town hall constituted a striking comment upon the extraordinary precautions surrounding every step the Czar has taken since he set foot on French soil. M. Loubet gave no inkling of his intention. The first thing known, not merely by the general public, but to the police, was when the President of France, accompanied by M. Waldeck-Rousseau and General Dubois, chief of the military household, emerged from the gates of the Chateau on foot. The road to the town hall was hastily cleared as well as possible. The mayor, who was at the town hall with a view to the possibility of such a visit, had to send out and gather in the members of the town council. The whole proceedings were carried out in the most informal fashion.

Two interesting incidents of the day were the reception by Emperor Nicholas of Gende Boisdeffre, former chief of the French staff, and the baptism of the infant son of the Count de Montebello, French ambassador to Russia.

The rationalists, who only remember the part General de Boisdeffre played in the Dreyfus affair, exult in his reception by the Czar as a reflection upon the government.

The baptism of the son of Count de Montebello tock place in the apartments of the Czar. Only the Czar and Czarina and the members of the family of the Count were present. The child was christened Nicholas after the czar, who said the creed in Russian.

The crowning feature of the day's events was the cale performance in the Chateau was the gala performance in the Chateau theatre which followed a grand banquet in the famous hall of columns, at which the nembers of the French cabinet, they officers of the senate and the chamber of deputies and leading members of the suit of the Czar and M. Loubet were present.

C. A. DUFF-MILLER

Gives Valuable Vase to be Competed for by Princess Louise Bussars

LONDON, Sept. 5.-C. A. Duff-Miller, igent general of New Brunswick in London, who sails today on the Allan S.S. Australasian, has taken with him to Canada a handsome and valuable presentation vase, intended as a prize to be offered by him for an annual riding and shooting competition between squads selected from each troop composed of one officer and three troopers of the 8th Princess Louise's New Brunswick Hussars, with which corps Mr. Duff-Miller was at one time connected. The vase, which is the workmanship of Mappin & Webb, London, is in the form of a replica of the famous Warwick vase in the grounds of Warwick Castle. The original vase, a magnificent specimen of ancient art, was adiscovered in a lake near Adrains villa at the Tivoli, and was purchased from Sir William Hamilton, British ambassador at the court of Naples in the time of Nelson, by the present Earl of Warwick's grand-father. Sculptured in pure white marble, it is circular in shape, and capable of containing 160 gallons. The vase is placed on a square pedestal, the large handles formed by interwoven vine branches, whilst tendrils shoot and sparkle thin leaves and grapes around the upper margin. Extending around the body of the vase appears a panther skin, showing the head and claws, together with some exquisitively carved faces, emblematic of wine and mirth, whist the "thrysus," or vine clad spear of Bacchus, another "lituus," or crooked staff of the Augurs, are amongst its other ornaments.

As stated, the vase will be competed for annually, the winning team holding it for a year. an annual riding and shooting competition between squads selected from each troop ed by C. A. Duff-Miller, Agent General for New Brunswick."

The interest thus manifested by Mr. Duff-Miller in his old corps will, no doubt, be much appreciated by both officers and troop-ers of the 8th Hussars.
