THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1917

With all its evils, and their name is legion, war is forcing upon millions of our people a few things that are for our good. The most of us are learning to live either without meat or to eat but little of it. Multitudes will doubtless be surprised to discover that their health is all the better for this experience. There are few who are not denying themselves a score of things once hardly deemed luxuries, but which look quite unnecessary now in the light of their cost today. In addition to this they shall measure the sacrifices that have been made to share with suffering men and women across the sea, the unselfish service that has been called forth by the demand for the soldiers' needs, the heroism awakened in the hearts of those who have answered their country's call, or who have given their sons and daughters, their husbands, their brothers, to what they have felt was a great cause. Alas that so many lessons we seem able to learn only out of bitterness and sorrow!

"Ye shall know them by their fruits." In the election campaign now on the intelligent elector will judge the politician and his party by their record and not by their promises.

With eighty per cent. profits in their business last year the Davies Packing Company ought to be able to buy some Victory bonds. But will they? Five and one-half per cent. to them must look pretty small.

Referring to the fees to be paid to the thousands of enumerators required throughout Canada under the new franchise act, an exchange says: In these days of Bacon Barons and Pork Profiteers the remuneration may not be counted high, though in comparison with the soldiers' $1.10 a day they appear quite generous. The hours to be served daily while engaged in the work are stated as six and the enumerators are to receive $4 a day while engaged in the work, with an additional $8 for the time between the completion of the list and polling day, and they are to receive an additional $7 for their attending at the poll on that day.

If the women looked like pictures in fashion magazines the men would take to the woods.

An advertisement by The Bell Telephone Co. of Canada to improve PARTY-LINE SERVICE

Co-operation: Each subscriber should co-operate to better the service on his line. The practices suggested below have been found to greatly improve party-line service:

1. Before calling, find out whether the line is in use. If it is, hang up your receiver promptly.
2. Emergencies will arise. If a party-line subscriber desires to make an emergency call, the persons using it should give up the line temporarily.
3. Do not allow children or others to listen or interrupt your neighbor's conversation when the line is in use.

4. Make your calls as brief as possible. Short talks will keep the line open and make the service of most value to everyone.
5. Answer promptly when you hear your ring.

The Bell Telephone Co. of Canada

"Good service  our true intent."

Exemption Tribunal.

From Wednesday to Tuesday, inclusive, the local exemption tribunal sitting at Glencoe has dealt with 135 applications for military service. Of these an extension of four months was granted in one case, three were adjourned for hearing, and the balance, nearly all of farmers, were allowed.

A. D. McCallum of London has received official notice of the death of his son, Lieut. Earl C. McCallum, reported last week as killed in action on October 31st. Lieut. McCallum was an accountant with the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Winnipeg, and enlisted from there in July, 1915. Prior to going to Winnipeg, he was in the Bank of Commerce at Strathroy for some time. He was well known in hockey circles, being a member of the champion team of the Bankers' League of Winnipeg, and was 24 years of age. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. MacCallum, London, formerly of Ekfrid; one sister, Mrs. Chas. Howey, London, and five brothers, Clarence W., manager of the Royal Bank, Conquest, Sask.; Jack, Walkerville, and George and Donald at home. A younger brother, Bombardier L. C. McCallum, is serving with the 60th Battery somewhere in France.

Sound Logic.

A colored preacher had just concluded a sermon on "Salvation as free" and announced that a collection would be taken up for the benefit of the person and his family. A member in the audience objected to the paradoxical nature of the proceedings and received this bit of negro logic in response:—"S'pose yo' was thirsty an' come to a river. Yo' could kneel down an' drink yer fill, couldn't yo'? An' it wouldn't cost yo' nothin'. Dat water would be free. But, s'posin' yo' was to bab dat water piped to yo' house, yo'd hab to pay, wouldn't yo'? Waa, brudder, so it is wid salvation. De salvation am free, but it's de habin' it piped to yo' dat yo' got to pay fo'."

You know of course that every industry of any importance has a paper of its own, one to which it gives its united support by way of advertising and subscriptions. Those interested do this that the paper may live and continue to be useful to them by aggressively advocating their interests. You have a paper that for over twenty-six years has been looking after the interests of the farmer. Have you given it your support? If not, see that you subscribe for The Weekly Sun, Toronto, the farmers business paper, from the present time to 1st January, 1918. It will cost you only One Dollar but you will find the dollar well and profitably spent.

The Ladies of Hell.

(Because they wear kilts, the Highlanders have been called by the Germans "The Ladies of Hell.")

There's a toss of the sporran,
A swing of the kilt,
And a scotch frae the pipers
In blood-stirring lilt:
They step out together,
As the pibroch notes swell—
Oh, they're bonnie braw fighters,
The Ladies of Hell.

They are far frae the heather
As far frae the moor;
As the rack of their hillsides
Their faces are dour,
Oh, "The Campbells are coming"
Frae corrie and fell—
What thrill to their eglans,
These Ladies of Hell!

As they charged at Cloudden
Like fire o'er the brae,
Their brothers are charging
In Flanders today;
And one lesson in manners
The Boche has learned well,
It's "Make way for the ladies!"—
The Ladies of Hell.
