STAGE INMATES KILLED. Brutal Work of Mexican Bandits in Sonora.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14.— A despatch from Tucson, Ariz., to The Herald says :- Mexican bandits held up the stage which runs between Potam and Torin, on the Yaqui River, in Sonora, last Tuesday night, killing all of the six passengers. Among them was Filiberto Alverado, a wealthy Mexican, who owns a number of ranches along the Yaqui River. The authorities at Guvamas were at once notified that Alverado and his wife had taken the stage from Potam to Torin, and the bandits no doubt thought he carthe bandits no doubt thought he carried a large sum of money with him. The stage carries very little mail and rarely any money or valuables, so that Alverado must have been the mark for the bandits. The hold-up took place about half way between the two towns, but just how the stage was attacked will never be known, as all of the passengers and the driver were killed. They were picked up on the afternoon of the were picked up on the afternoon of the tragedy, and the circumstances give evidence that they put up a fight, else they would not have all been killed. Their bodies were rifled of everything of value on them. The traces had been cut and the horses had been allowed to run wild. The cover of the lowed to run wild. The cover of the stage and the body were both shot full of holes.

It is thought by the Guyamas authorities that the perpetrators of the deed were some of the bandits who have taken refuge in the mountains back of the Yaqui River and were expecting Alverado. Friends of the murdered rancher say that he had little money with him at the time. Alverado had been magried only two months. With him were Senorita Julia Bardo and Senorita C. H. De Gonzales, both of prominent families and both of whom were murdered. were murdered.

The top of the new elevator of the Canada Flour Mills Company has been fitted up as a pigeon cote. It occupies the whole top of the elevator and has been partitioned off and fixed with boxes so that the birds have a large and roomy home. The making of this pigeon cote cost Mr. Stevens, president of the company, seventy dollars.

"Mr. Stevens' is a great lover of pigeons," said Chief Holmes this morning. "He likes to see them around. When I was at the elevator he used to always keep telling me to feed the pigeons. Mr. Stevens had quite a few around them. They mostly stayed in the barn. Every time there was a shooting match the boys used to come around and steal nearly all the pigeons. If guess Mr. Stevens put the new pigeon house at the top of the elevator to prevent the boys stealing the birds."

The first day's debating has been of benefit to the Opposition. The effect of Mr. Gamey's charges upon the country will be strengthened by Mr. Sutherland's statement that similar advances were made to him. The impression that the member for Manitoulin played an unworthy part probably will be modified by the recital of Mr. Sutherland's experiences. The member for South Oxford stated that he was approached, that he scorned the proposals and made them publicand that he was branded as a liar. The story was not new, but Mr.

put with bitterness but force. The accused would nominate their tribunal. The Premier had styled it a State prosecution. It would mean that the prosecutors would prosecute, themselves. The whole Government stood accused. Mr. Whitney traversed Mr. Ross' argument as to the extreme, respect in which a finding of the judges would be received. Speaking with the high respect for the bench which every Canadian feels, he yet submitted that it would be well not to bring the judiciary into the case.

From the standpoint of sheer de-bating, Mr. Whitney's examination of the precedents quoted by Mr. Ross was the most effective stroke of the the precedents quoted by Mr. Ross was the most effective stroke of the day. He fairly shattered them. In the Caron case, the Liberal party had opposed a reference to a commission, and had urged that the charges be passed upon by the House. In this connection Mr. Whitney quoted from Sir Richard Cartwright a particularly effective statement of the argument that the House should not "account to the nominee of the Government" for its sayings and doings. At the time of the bribery plot, Mr. Whitney showed, the Committee on Privileges and Elections took the matter up, heard evidence, and recommended the appointment of a commission on the express ground that the session was so far advanced that they would not have time to finish the work. This session is beginning.

In the case of the Pacific Scandal, the original proposal was to refer Mr. Huntington's charges to a special committee, Owing to some legal complications, it was proposed to constitute the members of the special committee a commission. The Liberals opposed this with the uttermost vigor. Mr. Blake and Mr. Mackenzie criticised the reference to a commission with great force. Resolutions were passed by the Liberal members. One of these declared that "the House of Commons is the proper body to institute and prosecute an
