"MUST BE FRIENDS."

How Sir Walter Scott Began His Life-Long Friendship With the Grandmother of Tom Hughes.

The correspondence of Mrs. Mary Anne Hughes, grandmother of Thomas Hughes, of "Tom Brown" fame, with Sir Walter Scott, which has lately been published in the Century Magazine, is full of pleasant and interesting things; but perhaps nothing is more delightfully characteristic of both the correspondents than the manner in which their friendship began. Mrs. Hughes was very fond of dogs; her intimate friend, Mrs. Hayman (also a friend of Scott), whom she visited twice a week, strongly disliked them. Near Mrs. Hayman's house, where Mrs. Hughes must pass it every time, was a stable in which was kept a wretched dog so obviously half-starved that the compassionate woman fell into the habit of bringing him a parcel of bones wrapped in newspaper and tucked inside her ample muff.

The dog soon knew and watched for her, and manifested touching signs of gratitude and affection. Mrs. Hayman found the performance a fruitful subject of mirth, and made much fun of the "folly and gressiness," as she termed it, of her friend's peculiar form of charity. "On the morning when I went to meet Sir Walter Scott," Mrs. Hughes noted in her journal, "he had arrived, and was sitting with her, and immediately on my entrance she cried out, 'Well! Have you been pampering your nasty, mangy cur?' And when I answered in the affirmative, she turned to Sir Walter and said, 'I don't know, Mr. Scott, whether you will thank me for the introduction, unless she wins you over by her singing; but I must tell you that this simpleton lives in the cloisters of Westminster and comes here twice or thrice a week, bringing with her a parcel of dirty bones, with which she fills her nice new muff, for a nasty half-starved cur, and feeds the creature with them.'"

"He made no reply for a minute or two, but leaned back in his chair gazing hard at me under his shaggy brows, but with the most benevolent smile; then thrusting out his hand he caught hold of mine in a grip which I can only compare to a blacksmith's vise, exclaiming, 'You and I must be friends!' which during his remaining life he verified."

Fire beetles as Candles.

An interesting fact, vouched for by the natives and confirmed by competent European observers, is that the Bays, or "Bottle Bird," of India, after weaving its nest with wonderful ingenuity and art, affixes about the entrance to its odd-shaped home numerous tiny clay balls. These clay balls serve as so many candlesticks for some extremely odd candles, the candles in question being nothing else than fire beetles, which in that part of the world, glow with a brilliancy unknown to the natives of colder regions.

The birds catch the beetles and stick them, while alive, of course, into the clay balls, where they remain and furnish quite an illumination.

If the object of the captor in thus utilizing his prisoners is to protect himself from his numerous enemies, he is thoroughly successful.

Snakes and all others who prey upon him are frightened away by the lights with which he guards his home.

Good Type of Welsh Clergyman.

Canon Griffiths Roberts, rector of Peterson-super-Ely, in the Diocese of Landaff, has been appointed Dean of Bangor. He was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, and has spent the whole of his ecclesiastical career in the principality. The new Dean is a good type of the native Welsh clergyman. A man of moderate views, a good parochial organizer, a preacher and writer who, in either English or Welsh, is listened to gladly, he has done much quiet, sound work for the Church in Wales. Canon Roberts has, among other literary work, edited the Welsh weekly journal Y Llan, and he was one of the four Welsh clergymen chosen to translate the Coronation Service into Welsh and to make, on the Accession of the King, the necessary alterations in the Welsh prayer-book. The chancel of Bangor Cathedral has just been reopened after complete renovation, the expense of which was borne by Lord Penrhyn. The work of beautifying the chancel occupied over six months, the whole of the old fresco work being reproduced.

Told of the Ladies.

A Berlin woman bequeathed her property to a cat. Mrs. L. Goodman, the oldest living woman artist, is 90. She has painted upward of 1,200 portraits.

For the first time on record a young lady has won the literary medical scholarship at Queen's college, Galway.

A German professor has been investigating the causes of insanity among women and has come to the conclusion that if women are admitted into competition with men the inevitable result will be a tremendous increase of insanity among the women. He finds that the percentage of women teachers who become insane is almost double that of the men teachers.

What Others Say.

Farmers, as a rule, are not fond of figures. As a rule, they count the cost, at least when it has to be done with pen and figures. It is easier to kill next year's weeds now than during the summer of 1904.

Be a servant to but one business, but make that business great. Do not run back and forth to no purpose. A step saved is more than one gained. Let your head save heels.

We have come to our present state of success in farming through the plain, everyday men who have not been ashamed to be seen in their shirt sleeves.

NEEDLEWORK DESIGNS.

One That Can Be Used to Advantage in Various Directions.

Needlework is always in vogue, and its beauty as a decoration in the home is always appreciated. Among the old time designs used in this dainty work there lingers an atmosphere of charm, and the colonial design shown in the accompanying illustration can be used in various ways. For chair backs and arms it is wrought on natural gray linen in colors of blue and green blended in a solid shaded Kensington stitch, making in effect what we call iridescent work; berries in burnt orange in satin stitch, stems in outline in hunters' green and ribbons at base of the wreath in two shades of mahogany in tapestry stitch. This same design can be used in the corners of a square luncheon cloth, with plate and napkins to match, wrought in china blue linens or cottons or in all white on an unbleached linen. Four corners of a sofa pillow wrought in blues from the silvery to the metallic on a gray green or mahogany satin sheeting ground make a choice pillow.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Daughter and Father.

There are two things that can be done by a father for his daughter and that, if they were always done, would in the course of a single generation make our womankind approach a level which they have never yet reached. The first is to gain the confidence of his daughter in her earlier years, and the second is to keep it unimpaired and to perpetuate it. If he be his daughter's friend and chosen companion, sharing all her little confidences and imparting to her much of what he knows, with the intuition of a woman and the breadth and sanity of a man, the girl will grow up with a mind unlike the minds of many women in whom femininity verges upon fatuity. From close association with a father the young girl quite unconsciously acquires something of the largeness of the man's nature and loses something of the pettiness and narrowness of the woman's. His tolerant, genial spirit will moderate her tense emotionalism; his sense of humor will rid her of sentiment and imbue her with a sense of true proportion; his fun, his good comradeship, his affection and his knowledge of life will help to send her forth into the world strengthened and developed as no purely feminine influence could strengthen and develop her.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Whooping Cough.

Jacob Sobel gives the results of his own experience with the paroxysms of whooping cough treated by pulling the lower jaw downward and forward. Pulling the lower jaw downward and forward controls the paroxysms of whooping cough in most instances and most of the time. The method is usually more successful in older children than in younger ones and infants. In cases without a whoop the expiratory spasm with its asphyxia is generally overcome, and in those with a whoop the latter is prevented. It is as successful as any single drug, or even more so. Mothers should be instructed in its use, so that attacks, especially at night, might be arrested. The manipulation is harmless and painless. Its only contraindication is the presence of food in the mouth or esophagus. Patients thus treated are less likely to suffer from complications and sequelae than those treated only medicinally. It is advisable to try this method in other spasmodic coughs and laryngeal spasms.—New York Medical Record.

Home Shampoo Breeds Earache.

"One reason why women are troubled with earache more generally than men is their method of drying the hair after a home shampoo," said a doctor. "They dry it with a fan, which is quite proper, but the way they use the fan is entirely improper. Instead of holding that so as to send the wind through the strands of hair they manipulate it in such fashion that they blow a regular gale right into the ear, and the consequence is that for several days after the shampoo the cleansed locks clothe a head that is the seat of a mighty assortment of aches and pains. If, instead of the fans, the hair itself were made the center of the artificial cyclone, the drying process would be effected more quickly and a severe attack of earache averted."

Lip Soreness From Thread Biting.

Ladies who do a great deal of sewing frequently suffer a great deal from soreness of the mouth and lips and are often at a loss to ascertain the cause of the trouble. Half the time it is simply the result of biting off thread instead of using a pair of shears for cutting. In the case of silk thread the danger is quite marked, because it is usual to soak the thread in acetate of lead, partly to harden it and give it a good surface and also perhaps to increase its weight somewhat. If this practice is followed regularly and very much silk thread is used, the results may be quite serious and even lead to blood poisoning.
