BEEF RING.

Will you please illustrate in the columns of "The Farmer's Advocate," a plan for a beef ring of 20 shares, in which the cutting can be done so as to have 20 single pieces, ten to each half, five per quarter. The present plan I am using entails too much cutting, and I am informed that there are some companies using a system such as I am asking you to give us in your paper. C. D. S.

Ans.—If any reader knows of such a plan in use, will be kindly send us a clear pen-and-ink diagram, with description.

POULTRY TRESPASSING.

What steps will I have to take to prevent my neighbor's hens from trespassing on my property? If I inform him to keep them off, and he does not do so, is it lawful for me to poison or shoot them? A. J. K.

Ans.—You may have the chickens impounded under Sec. 3, of the Act Respecting Pounds (Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1897, Chapter 272), or you may serve your neighbor with notice in writing of their trespass, and if thereafter he refuses or neglects to prevent the poultry from further trespassing on your premises, you may have him brought before a Justice of the Peace and fined.

SPRING COMPLAINT IN HENS.

Hens in good condition, but suddenly topple over; legs seemingly the trouble. They gasp for breath, but otherwise seem all right as to feeding, for, in a few days, they get much better, in the meantime retaining their very red combs. Feed wheat, oats and barley, mixed; mash at noon of vegetables and chop, gravel grit included; corn at night. Not matured. R. B.

Ans.—I would judge from the description given in the letter, that the birds are affected with what we commonly call spring complaint. Birds thus affected usually get all right as soon as they lay. The cause and cure we are not certain of. The conditions appear to be, birds that are heavily fed during the winter time and lay moderately well, are inclined to go weak in the legs, etc. Occasionally, on the approach of spring, or as soon as the birds can get out of doors on the ground, the trouble disappears. The only treatment we use is to give them a moderate dose of Epsom salts, and get them outside in the fresh air. W. R. GRAHAM.

OIL CAKE COOKED OR RAW?— RUPTURE—MANGELS ON SAME GROUND.

1. How should oil cake be fed to calves, cooked or raw, and how to pigs?
2. Gelling, rising two years, has a soft swelling in the scrotum which is sometimes about three inches through, and sometimes is nearly all gone. Is this a rupture? If so, can it be cured? Calf does not seem to have any pain, and is doing well.
3. Would it be safe to sow mangels on the same land this season on which they were almost entirely destroyed by white grubs last year? Can anything be done to destroy these grubs?

SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—1. Generally speaking, it is as well uncooked for both calves and pigs.

2. This is probably a rupture. Do not be in a hurry to treat it, as it may disappear spontaneously. If the lump increases in size, or if it continues until fall, get your veterinarian to examine him, and, if necessary, operate. In such cases, a clam is usually applied.

3. There would be no special risk in sowing mangels on ground on which they failed last year, though it is doubtful whether the crop would be as good as on fresh land. White grubs can be prevented from infesting land by keeping it pretty constantly under cultivation. The eggs are laid in soil. Once they have obtained entrance, nothing can be done but wait till they disappear. They will likely change into the winged stage this season, and give little trouble.

THE SECRET OF PURE SWEET MILK

You dairy-farmers can't afford to ship impure, germ-laden milk into the towns and cities. Our medical authorities are urging the Government to penalize offending dairymen very severely—don't you run any risks. If you pass all your milk through the Root Cooler-Aerator immediately it leaves the cow, you can guarantee it pure and sweet and get a bigger price for it per gallon. The will keep the milk sweet for 48 hours because it kills the animal heat quickly and cools the milk to the same temperature as cold running water. The water is admitted at the bottom, flows through the bottom tube, then from the water column into the second tube and so on until it reaches the top tube. Thus the cylinders are kept perfectly cold all the time, and as they are deeply corrugated the milk flows down them slowly, reaching the retaining pan thoroughly cooled and aerated. Cylinders are made of heavy copper, heavily coated with pure tin and guaranteed to stand heavy water pressure. Perfectly simple to operate—no complicated parts—a child can easily clean the whole machine in 5 minutes. Made in various sizes—will cool from 40 to 75 gallons an hour. Write us to-day for catalogue and prices—every dairyman should have a Root Cooler—It's a big money maker. Address: W. A. Drummond & Co., 175 King St. E., Toronto

ROOT SANITARY MILK COOLER-AERATOR
