This Book

contains in plain language all the statutes in force in Western Canada, re-written for use by Merchants, Farmers, Bankers, Law Students, Notaries, etc. Each chapter explains the general law and gives the variations in force in each of the four provinces. We know of no other work covering this field. The following are a few of the more important subjects dealt with at length:—Government, Administration of Estates, Agents, Animals, Assignments, Auctions, Automobiles, Banking Currency and Legal Tender, Bills, Notes and Cheques, Chattel Mortgages and Bills of Sale, Contracts and Agreements, Dairy Associations, Exemptions from seizure, Insurance in all its branches, Game Laws, Grain Laws, Husband and Wife, Judgments and Executions, Landlord and Tenant, Lien Notes and Conditional Sales, Limitation of Actions, Livestock, Liens, Mortgages, Master and Servant, Naturalization and Aliens, Sale of Goods, Wills, etc.

A Few First Purchasers Show Their Appreciation

Lashburn, Sask.

Dear Sirs:—Replying to your request as to my opinion re the Western Canada Law book I think it a valuable book for the average person in Western Canada to have. It gives the key to the desired information wanted on the many different subjects. It undoubtedly will save heaps of people dollars upon dollars.

Yours truly,
JAMES GRAY.

Bow River, Alta.

I received your letter of the 12th asking my opinion of the book "Western Canada Law." I like the book and think it should be in every home.

Yours truly,
NEAL McDONALD.

Kipling, Sask.

To busy farmers the book is exceedingly valuable as it presents in a very concise manner what they most require to be informed about.

Yours truly,
J. WIDDUP.

Every Citizen of Western Canada is affected by the laws of the land. It is not possible for the ordinary person to take the statutes of the various provinces and study them. Even if it were these statutes would cost over one hundred dollars. This book contains 25,000 pages of them, revised, condensed and explained in 375 pages, every page in simple ordinary language that anyone can understand.

No person needs to know the law more than the farmer; this knowledge will save him a great deal of money by keeping him out of law suits, and will sharpen his intellect. It is wise to prepare for the future. It is not your strength that counts but your wisdom.

It might be interesting to you to know that it took five years of patient work on the part of the law editor to compile this work. It is now ready for you for less than the price of one law consultation. The hundreds that have been sold and are selling, make this possible. Send for your copy today.

GOOD BOOKS MEAN LASTING USEFULNESS AND PLEASURE

"MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY," by Ambassador Gerard.—The book sensation of the year. This is the biggest war book of the year. Candid testimony of his experiences in Germany during the most critical period of the world's history. In these memoirs the reader comes face to face with the whole official German clique. The author has the experience of coming to know as familiar figures the Kaiser, the Crown Prince, the Chancellor, Admiral von Tirpitz, and scores of others about the Prussian Court. Fully illustrated with documents, etc., including the Kaiser's famous letter to President Wilson.

Our readers are greatly interested in the new books of fiction—here are some of the best.

"THE MAJOR," by Ralph Connor.—This is the latest novel by our own popular writer. It is without a doubt the finest novel Major Gordon has ever written. It will appeal to the best that is in every man and woman in Canada. The story of a Canadian lad, through college days, frontier days, and on to manhood, when he was vice-president of the peace society, until the liberty which he held so dear was threatened. Not a war book, but the story of a man's heart and mind and conscience, and the love of freedom and justice.

"THE NEXT OF KIN," by Nellie McClung.

This book reflects public feeling in typical towns and country districts throughout Canada, and shows with telling effect how Canadian men and women are doing their bit in the war. The whole book is strong and fearless, but always comforting and healing. It is the sort of book which only a person of strong sympathies and keen observation could write, for it is relentless in its truth, hopeful in its philosophy and stamped in every page with the optimism that has characterized Mrs. McClung's books. Everyone who has ever heard, or heard of, Nellie McClung, will want to read this human $1.35 book. Price, postpaid.

Price, postpaid $1.35

"OVER THE TOP," by Arthur Guy Empey.—This story is built around the big push on the Somme front by an actual fighter who was in and through it all. This is a war book, but not the kind you have been getting. It is different. At the present time this is the biggest selling book on the American continent.

Price, postpaid $1.60

"ANNE'S HOUSE OF DREAMS," by L. M. Montgomery, author of "Anne of Green Gables," etc.—Readers of the earlier "Anne" books will welcome their old friend, who, no longer Anne Shirley, but Mrs. Gilbert Blythe, is still the heroine of the series; the story is however complete in itself. For relief from all the horror of these days, no recent novel is better than "Anne's House of Dreams."

Price, postpaid $1.60

"THE INDIAN DRUM," by Wm. Mac-Harg and Edwin Balmer, authors of "The Blind Man's Eyes."—A mystery story set in the business world of modern Chicago. Whenever an Indian drum tells the toll, says an old legend; but when the "Miwaka" sank with twenty-five on board the drum beat but twenty-four. Here is the basis of a remarkable mystery story.
