SERIES OF EXPLOSIONS

New York, Jan. 11.—Two hours of a series of tremendous explosions in the plant of the Canadian Car & Foundry Company at Lyndhurst, in northeastern New Jersey this afternoon created a panic throughout the countryside and caused thousands to flee to safety. At six o'clock this evening explosions were still going on sounding like the roar of heavy artillery. A great fire is raging in the plant which covers several acres.

The British steamship Hudworth, 2,496 tons net, has been sunk according to an announcement by Lloyd's shipping agency.

PEACE MUST BE A REAL ONE

President Wilson Informed by Entente War Preferable to Prussian Domination.

London, Jan. 11.—Britain and her allies have told President Wilson they desire peace—but it must be a real peace. War is preferable to Prussian domination of Europe.

Prime Minister Lloyd George told a Guild Hall meeting this afternoon that this position of the Entente Powers had been "made clear in the note replying to Germany's peace offer, but clearer still in reply to the American note."

The British premier said he had been impressed at the recent conference over the "increasing extent to which allied peoples were looking toward England."

"I am more than confident," he said, "that Britain will not fail in the trust thus imposed on her. Our navy has strangled enemy commerce—and will continue this despite tactical devices."

It was a vociferously enthusiastic crowd that greeted the premier as he delivered his speech, his first since the epochal address in the House of Commons, voicing Britain's refusal of Germany's peace terms and outlining the aims and purposes of his new ministry.

The meeting itself was called to energize the gathering of subscriptions for the "win the war loan," and Lloyd George took the opportunity emphatically to reiterate the Allies' determination to win the war.

"We did not reject peace terms," the premier said. "No terms were offered. We were offered only a trap baited with fine words."

"The Kaiser told the people the Allies rejected peace, so as to drug those he couldn't drag down."

"We all want peace, but it must be a real one," he continued, forcibly. "War is preferable to Prussian domination of Europe."

"The Allies have made that clear in their reply to Germany, and clearer still in their reply to the United States."

"The Prussian menace is a running mortgage detracting from our national security," Lloyd George declared.

"It will be cleared off forever at a better rate of interest."

Referring to the conference of the Entente nations at Rome recently, the prime minister said:

"All the Allies felt that if victory was difficult, a defeat was impossible. Arrangements were made there to deal with the whole situation."

Referring to the loan for which the meeting was called, Lloyd George said:

"A successful loan will help shorten the war. It will save lives and will save the British Empire and Europe's civilization."

"The grim realization reached at the Rome conference was to rid the world of unspeakable despotism."

"With proper support our gallant armies will cleave the road to victory during 1917."

Thousands jammed the streets and packed every available bit of space in the Guildhall. Lloyd George was granted a tremendous ovation, and there were prolonged cheers for both Chancellor of the Exchequer Bonar Law and Former Chancellor Reginald McKenna. Thousands of people thronged the streets adjacent and watched for the celebrities at the meeting.

Appeal to Reason

Ask any of the great army of Postum users what influenced them to try this beverage, and the reply nine times out of ten will be that they were convinced the caffeine and tannin in tea and coffee were harmful to health.

Some imagine it is hard to give up coffee and tea. But it isn't with the delightful aroma and flavor of Postum at hand. This flavor somewhat resembles that of a high-grade Java coffee, but there is no coffee in Postum—only the nourishing goodness of wheat, skillfully processed with a small per cent of wholesome molasses.

Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal, which has to be boiled; Instant Postum—soluble—made in the cup, instantly. Some prefer one, some the other. Made right, they are alike delicious, and the cost per cup is about the same. There's better health, comfort and efficiency in
