LET 'EM RIP.

When grinding up our loins to run The race our fathers ran,
We leave the helping hand of home
To do the best we can.

THE DOCTOR'S STORY.

(Concluded.)

'What is the meaning of this, woman?' I said, as sternly as I could gather courage to speak, while a shivering dress was running over me. 'Do you mean to sell your own body?'

his will! And then came my husband—the man whom he had first gaily and then earnestly before all the world. Oh! gold is a mighty conjurer, doctor. He was poor; we were rich; and it was thus he became suddenly blind. It was thus he went away quietly, after seeking me through all the world, ready to saddle his hands in my blood. And I was brought—brought for gold. With a haub, to be worn as long as it pleased my buyer to wear me, and when he, tired of my fashion, gave me to his valet, as he would his worn coat. My lot was not singular. He was tired—he wearied of my discontent—of the discontent himself had created—and he postponed me off with the same liberality he would have treated a servant. He sent me home.

displeased, entered the room. He walked over to the bed and looked at the woman, and then turned to me with a sad and said:
'Has she gone in, doc?'
'She is not yet dead,' I answered.
'There was a cure here last night inquiring after blind Maud's doc. I told him she was likely to be around again for a spell; but he said his duty was done when he gave her this letter, though I don't think it is for her. It's got another name on the liver—Mrs. Robert Wharton.'

ALL CURES MADE EASY!
HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.
Bad Legs, Ulcerous Sores, Bad Breasts, and Old Wounds.

Nothing has the power of reducing inflammation and subduing pain in these complaints in the same degree as Holloway's Ointment and purifying Pills. When used simultaneously they drive all inflammation and depravities from the system, subvert and remove all callosities, scabs, sores, and all the skin diseases, and all the ailments of the limbs, and leave the sinews and muscles lax and uncontracted.
A cure may always be effected, even under the worst circumstances, if the use of these medicines be persevered in with the notice of such of their scrupulousness whom it may concern, they will read a service that will never be forgotten, as a cure is certain.

On the appearance of any of those maladies the Ointment should be well rubbed at least three times a day upon the neck and upper part of the chest, so as to penetrate to the glands, as it is forced into them; this course will at once remove inflammation and ulceration. The worst cases will yield to this treatment by following the printed directions.

Butler's Rosemary Hair Cleaner.
AN elegant preparation for the Toilet and Nursery possessing, in the highest degree, the property of removing dandruff and Dandruff from the Head, and by its penetrating qualities increasing the growth of the Hair.
