The Pleasures and Advantas of the Treaty of Washing-

We are now able to take account of the Treaty of Washington, and to estimate accurately the advantages secured to England by that instrument.

By the Treaty we apologized for wrongs that we denied, and consented to be tried by newly invented laws of international obligation, so as to make good against us the American claim for damages. In this the British Government were completely successful. Guided by these new laws, a Court of Arbitration condemning us to pay to the Am-
