Riley's Final Protest. In committee of the whole Mr. Riley lost no time putting in his protest cited the petitions he had placed on the table against the bill representing nearly four hundred ratepavers. He regretted the petitions did not receive the consideration they deserved. The question of orporating the suburbs into the city oundaries had been under consideration years. The former member for Gleichen prepared a clause last year which was inserted in the Calgary city charter giving the suburban residents ample protection. By that clause the suburbs could not be incorporated with-
