What About To-Day's Mistakes.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

"Yes, that was yourself," I didn't have any idea that was a mistake when I was making it. Now I wonder if there is anything in my present life that I am being just as blind about?"

Try to get a perspective on your life; try to see it as you will look back on it in ten years.

Of course, you won't be entirely successful, but if you try honestly, you may be able to lift a corner of the veil and get a little idea of your present mistakes and unappreciated opportunities.

"Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide," is a misleading sentiment. The moment to decide comes to every one of us times without number. We never stop making important decisions until we stop breathing.

So don't waste any time or energy in fretting over past mistakes and lost opportunities. When you find your mind turning that way, take it by the scruff of the neck and turn it towards your present life. The moment you catch yourself thinking of past mistakes, let that be a signal to you to ask yourself these questions:

"Am I making any great mistake NOW?"

"Am I losing any valuable opportunity NOW?"

"Am I doing or failing to do anything NOW that I shall regret in five years?"

And by the time you have answered these questions about the vital present, you will probably have forgotten the dead past.

What an absurd waste of energy! How much more intelligently we can use our time in thinking, "What is there that I ought to be doing to-day, to make myself better off to-morrow?"

If we are inclined to think of yesterday's mistakes, try it. Say to

HOT FLASHES.

Women in middle age often complain of hot flashes. They are at that stage of life when their delicate organism needs a tonic and helping-hand which only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can give them. Many women suffer needlessly from girlhood to womanhood and from motherhood to old age—with backache, dizziness or headache. A woman often becomes sleepless, nervous, "broken down," irritable and feels tired from morning to night. When pains and aches rack the womanly system at frequent intervals, ask your neighbor about Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Mrs. J. INHOPE, of 221 S. Benton Street, Baltimore, Md., says: "I wrote you about nine months ago, telling you of my condition. I have a fine baby girl—she weighed nine pounds when born. She is my third child and the strongest of them all. My suffering was only for two hours. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of Dr. Pierce's Sarsaparilla. I never had a well day before I took your medicine. I was surprised how well I felt—could eat—was always hungry, and never had a sick stomach. The nurse who was with me said the medicine was wonderful because I got along so nicely after having had so much trouble before. She intends to recommend it to all her suffering patients. Everybody is astonished at me because I only weighed 105 pounds before and now I weigh 135. I have had several ladies come to me and ask about Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am willing to recommend it to all who suffer and want help. If any want information I will be glad to give it."

Household Notes.

After a whisk broom has become ragged, trim off evenly and use as a sink brush.

The very best way to clean rusty needles is to run them up and down in the earth.

Excellent pantry cloths for glassware and china are made from cheese-cloth hemmed.

Mud stains can be removed from black garments by rubbing the stains with a raw cut potato.

When a worn place or hole appears in the matting it can be darned with strands of raffia.

A lump of camphor placed near silverware that is not in use will prevent it from tarnishing.

Grapes are much more delicious if they are allowed to lie in ice water at least five minutes before serving.

A dash of scallion potatoes is much more savory if a sweet green pepper is boiled and chopped fine and put in.

Nutmegs can be tested by pricking them with a pin. If they are good, oil will instantly spread around the puncture.

When shoes have become hard and stiff after being wet, they should be washed with warm water and then rubbed well with oil.

The cooking process of anything cooked in a double boiler can be hurried if salt is added to the water in the outer boiler.

Fine linens and pieces of lingerie will last much longer if they are wrung out by hand and not put through the wringer.

An easy and quick way to clean tarnished silver is to boil it in water to which has been added a small lump of washing soda.

When you open a box of sardines taken out on a plate and sprinkled with lemon juice.

Potatoes will remain firm and mealy all winter if air-dried lime is sprinkled over the barrels or bins; the lime absorbs the moisture.

Dry bran is said to be an excellent thing to clean dainty velvet flowers and woollen fabrics. Rub the soiled part, then brush it all off.

Radiators should be examined often to see if they are filled with cold water or condensed steam, which keeps them from radiating the heat.

A lemon that is heated will remove more juice than one that is cold. When cold, place the lemon in a heated oven until it is warm through.

If flour is placed in the oven until it is thoroughly heated, it will not be so apt to lump easily in making thickening for gravies, soups and sauces.

Save orange and lemon parings; dry them, and when you have a fire on the hearth throw them on; the flames will become very vivid and full of bright colours.

Before belting is sewed on a wash skirt it should be shrunk by pouring boiling water over it and letting it soak therein for five minutes. Then dry and iron.

Iron bedsteads can be very successfully cleaned by using a damp cloth and a little cooking soda. Soda is also very good to remove stains from the sink.

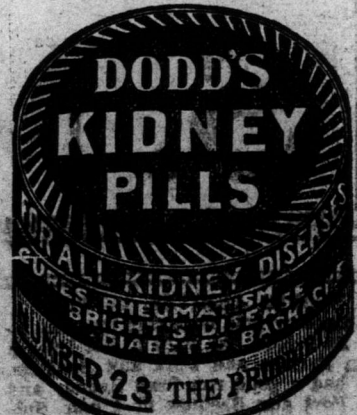

When you are running curtain rods through the curtains they sometimes catch and tear the material. To prevent this, put a thimble on the end of the rod.

Secured Scoop With Airship

Portland, Ore., Nov. 6.—How a newspaper reporter raced in an aeroplane to the scene of a wrecked gasoline schooner, from which six men had perished, was told by F. D. Guyton, the Marshfield correspondent of the Portland Journal.

Guyton received word that the schooner had been smashed to bits when it crashed into a submerged strait early to-day. He ran to the shore from his office after having sent a bulletin to Portland. The wreck was about twelve miles from Marshfield. Guyton went to several points, but they were unwilling to go to the spot where the Osprey had been wrecked. He was told that he would have to wait several hours before he could get the details of the wreck.

The newspaper man was in a dilemma. He had no craft, and despite the queries that kept pouring in, his office each time he returned was out of breath he had no detailed account to send.

Suddenly it occurred to Guyton that his friend, St. Christopher, had an airplane. The wind was pretty strong, but Guyton knew that Christopher would brave any reasonable weather.

"I want to go to where that schooner was wrecked," Guyton told his friend.

Christopher smiled at his friend and tantalizingly told him that he had either get a boat. Guyton paid no heed to this remark.

"You've got to take me out there," he told the owner of the aeroplane.

"Right you are," said Christopher, and in a few minutes the air raft was ready.

The reporter, acting as if it were an everyday occurrence, stepped in the aeroplane—something he never before had done in his life—and was aching through the air at a speed of forty miles an hour.

The biplane soared safely over the air despite the high wind. It went round the spot where the Osprey was wrecked. The biplane swooped down as near as it was safe to the wrecked schooner. From there the reporter saw the fragments of the vessel swept away by the rough water.

In the first trip the two men in the biplane saw some of the wreck, and it was decided that another visit would be paid to the scene. By that time the life-saving crew were at work. The tug Rescue got near enough to the wrecked schooner to throw a line to Captain Gus Johnson.

He broke away from the line and was washed into the sea. Captain Johnson, of San Francisco, a passenger, also lost his life, as did four of the crew.

The aeroplane then swept back to Marshfield where Guyton sent in a thrilling account of the attempted rescue and the sight of the wreck from a height of a couple of hundred feet.

After looking your opponent over you generally can decide whether to be courageous or merely judicious.

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY.

THERAPION

This successful and highly popular remedy, as employed in the Continental Hospitals by Alcock, Ross, Jobert, Velpeau, and others, combines all the desiderata to be sought in a medicine of the kind and surpasses everything hitherto employed.

THERAPION No. 1 maintains its world-renowned and well-merited reputation for derangements of the kidneys and bladder, pains in the back, and kindred ailments, affording prompt relief where other well-tried remedies have been powerless.

THERAPION No. 2 for impurity of blood, erysipelas, pimples, blotches, rashes and swelling of the joints, gonorrhoea, and all diseases for which it has been too much a fashion to employ mercury, arsenic, calomel, etc., to the destruction of the system and ruin of health. This preparation purifies the whole system, through the blood, and thoroughly eliminates every poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3 for indigestion, flatulency, constipation, and the consequences of indigestion, worry, overwork, etc. It possesses surprising powers in restoring strength and vigor to those suffering from the enervating influence of long residence in hot, unhealthy climates.

THERAPION is sold by all Chemists and Druggists throughout the World. Price in England 1/6 a dose is ordering, state which of the three remedies is required, and enclose above Trade Mark, which is a facsimile of word "THERAPION" as appearing on British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package, by order of His Majesty's House of Commons, and without which it is a forgery.

THERAPION may now also be obtained in Druggists' (Tasteless) form.
