WASHINGTON, March 14.
Private advices received to-day say that President Cabrera of Guatemala has acceded to the demands of the British Government for the settling of the outstanding British claims. The London Foreign Office issued an ul-timum to Cabrera giving him until to-morrow to settle, and a British warship was on her way to Puerto Barrios to emphasize the demand.

Dynamite planted in three places under the tracks of Mount Hope Mineral Railroad, exploded in its main minutes yesterday at points less than a quarter of a mile from the Mount Hope Mine of the Empire Steel and Iron Co., where miners have been on strike for two months. The tracks were bent and twisted, cross ties were scattered about and nearly three hundred feet of railroad blown up.

LONDON, May 14.
Sufragette bombs were found today between the cars of a local train running between Kingston on the Thames and London, on the Southwestern Railway, making the third outrage on the same line within three months. On arrival at Waterloo terminus, the Kingston train was crowded with passengers on their way to business. The conductor notices three parcels in one compartment which aroused suspicion and investigating two were found to contain two canisters filled with explosive substances wrapped in suffragette placards. No explosion occurred. The bombs were handed over to the police.

repairs, and because of labor disturbances, the annual dividend of the Oceanic Steam Navigation Co., own-half of that paid last year. In 1911 the dividend was 49 per cent. This Company paid 30 per cent in March but owing to the loss of the Titanic and other troubles, no final dividend was recommended. The Company wrote off $540,790 on account of the Titanic sinking fund, which is described as a portion of the loss of the first cost of the litigation report. The directors express regret at the retirement of Bruce Lanyon.

All the Turkish peace delegate Greek and Serbian representative will be here within the next two days. The Montenegrin delegates arrived in Paris. The belief is entertained that peace will be signed before the end of the week, though before an-signatures are appended, it is probable the representatives of the Allies will meet in conference. The treaty will not only end the war between Turkey and the Allies, but will define the future status of the States in the near East. Several questions such as the ultimate disposition to be made of the Aegean Islands and the construction of the Albanian frontiers will be left to the Powers to adjudicate upon; while internal troubles in the ranks of the Allies, emphasized as they are by conflict between Bulgaria and Greece, will need straightening out by the parties concerned.

LONDON, May 14.
Striking evidence as to the extensive operations of the suffragette engaged in the militant campaign and the bad effect on the women's cause, through the outrages committed, were given during to-day's resumed hearing at the Bow Street Court of the charges against the leaders under the Infringement Malicious Damage to Property Act. The case against General Drummond was postponed until July, owing to illness. Testimony was given by the letter carriers and post office officials as to damages done the mails by chemicals and other fluids being poured into public letter boxes. The former business manager of the suffragettes gave evidence as to the responsibility of the various publishers for different departments of the newspaper. The witness explained his services were dispensed with by the militant society as Mrs. Pankhurst thought it was better that only women should conduct the paper. The witness told of the loss of circulation after their militant acts had been committed. At first 30,000 were circulated, but the sales were only 17, 000. The circulation then dropped to 7,500, but 3,000 copies were circulated in other ways. Just before last Christmas he told Mrs. Pankhurst the circulation was falling off, and that this was due to the letter box raids.
Mrs. Pankhurst said it was impossible, because when women were most militant they were most successful.

Fellowship.

If I can have it said of me,
When ended is my time of toil, That I have fought to helpful be,
And have not laboured just for spoil, I'll greet death's angel with a smile And take his hand and journey on, Believing that I've been worth while And still shall live although I've gone.

If friends of mine shall only say That I was friendly to them all, That I had time for them each day And answered every piteous call For help that fell upon my ears And stretched my hand out here and there I shall not, when Death's form appears Hold back, afraid with Him to fare.

If I can have it said of me
That I have borne my burdens well, That good in man I've tried to see,
That good in man I've tried to tell,
That I have faced my time of strife With patience, and have been a friend, That helpfully I've lived my life, I shall not fear to face the end.

If I can atone along my way The roses of remembrance sweet, Can leave a few friends here to say That I have cheered them in defeat, If I can leave in human hearts One trace of me when I am gone, When God the veil of mystery parts I need not fear to journey on.

Beethoven.

BY H. L. RAN.

Ludwig van Beethoven was a well-known musician who specialized on the piano-forte and could play just as well with one hand as the other. He was of foreign descent, but most of his music has been translated into the English language and is intelligible to anybody who knows a diminished seventh from a sidewalk.

Beethoven came from a musical family. His father was born with a tenor voice, for which he was not responsible, and which annoyed all who heard it. The elder Beethoven was addicted to liquor and singing of the key, and he never broke himself of either so that the music critics needed it.

Mr. Beethoven kept a piano in his home which he used to pit his voice against several times a day, between drinks, and at the age of four years young Ludwig began to toy with the victrolite scale and coax melody out of the bass clef. At nine years he could play a tune with his right hand and keep time with his left foot, and by the time he was able to reach both pedals at the same time he began to compose that series of masterly symphonies which are now sold to the piano-player public at $5 per roll. He also got up a number of songs which are still sung by vocalists who regret on inserting the Swede into the German language.

The later years of Beethoven's life were saddened by a great calamity. One day, while engaged in drawing plans and specifications for a new opera by lost his hearing. He looked around his studio for it, as it was the only one he had, but he never was able to find it. However, this relieved him from the necessity of listening to pulls who played everything in waltz time and were not handicapped by a sense of rhythm.

Beethoven never composed any rag time music, as it had not broken out in its present eruptive form. What he did write, however, is very durable and can be heard over and over again without causing people to edge uneasily to the rear.

Suffragette Outrage.

London May 8.—The latest militant suffragette outrage in placing a powerful bomb close to the high altar of St. Paul's Cathedral has so aroused Church and State that a suggestion to exile all the militant leaders to St.
Helena is being discussed seriously.
Only by sending them to this isolated island, where Napoleon and the Boer leaders were kept out of harm's way, do prominent members of Parliament believe it possible to prevent untold vandalism and loss of life.
The Bishop of London, speaking in St. Paul's Cathedral last night, invited the congregation to sing the Doxology in thanksgiving that "the Devil's work had miscarried and this had perhaps prevented the sacrifice of many lives."
The Doxology was heartily sung.
