When the dynamite scare was fresh upon a good deal of fuss was made over netables Cole and Cox, who were so fously injured by the Westminster Hall seriously injured by the Westminster Hall seriously injured by the Westminster Hall explosion that they were incapacitated from retaining their places in the police force. Among other things, the two men were promoted to the rank of sergeant. It seems, however, that they have now retired, not on sergeants' but on constables' pensions. Considering the men had no chance of continuing in the force, I should like to know what was the object of promoting them except to give them sergeants' pensions; and when if this was the intention, they have the fells to cure me.

Somewhat Too Literal.

Errom the Parts Morning News,

The practice of literal translation is full falled by the mother, "I aim't drawing on my stocking."

The practice of literal translation is full of pisfalls, as may be judged from the unfortunate case of the French paper which yesterday, in writing of the American strikes, made the Knights of Labor figure as "Lee Chevaliers d'Industrie." This is almost as good as the celebrated case of the lady who wished to acquaint the non-English-speaking George I. with the fact that she had seen a performance of "Love's Last Shift" and thought to render herself intelligible by speaking of "La Derniere Chemise de l'Amout." If the French press calls Mr. Fowderly and his companions "Chevaliers d'Industrie," in what terms would it speak of Mr. Gould?

The "Mikado" Among the Bankers. The "Mikado" Among the Bankers.

The following parody upon the "Mikado." composed by a bank officer of the City of Boston, and sung at the recent meeting of the Bankers' Association in that city, was received with enthusiastic applause and heartily encored. It is parody on a ditty of Koko's:

As it very rarely happens that our grievances are shown.

Among the many remedies used for the cure of coughs and colds, none more speedily gains the confidence of the sufferer than "Hailamore's Expectorant." —Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup stands at the head of the list for all diseases of the throat and lungs. It acts like magic in breaking up a cold. A cough is soon subdued, tightness of the chest is relieved, even the worst case of consumption is relieved, while in recent cases it may be said never to fail. It is a medicine prepared from the active principles or virtues of several medicinal herbs, and can be depended upon for all pulmonary complaints.
