WEEKLY MONITOR,

Troubles That Do Not Come

Of the hard and weary loads 'Neath which we bend and fall, The troubles that do not come Are the heaviest ones of all.

For grief that outs like a knife There's oil of comfort and cure, And the Hand which binds the weight Brings strength and grace to endure.

But to phantoms of pain and woe The lips of pity are dumb, And there's never oil or wine For troubles that do not come

There's a song to lighten the toil, And a staff for climbing the height, at never an alpenstock For the hills that are out of sight.

There are bitter herbs enough In the brimming cup of to day, Without the sprig of rue From to-morrow's unknown way.

Then take the meal that is spread, And go with a song on thy way, And let not the morrow shade The sunshine and joy of to-day. -Lettie S. Bigelow, in Zion's Herald.

cert was given last night in aid of the Widows' s' Fund organized by the war corlent. The leaders of the army were pre ant, and the feature was Kipling's new poet music of "Auld Lang Syne." It is His death.

We welcome to our hearts tonight, Our kinsman from afar, Brothers in an Empire's fight And comrades of our war. For Auld Lang Syne, my lads, And the fights of Auld Lang Syne! We drink our cup of fellowship To the fights of Auld Lang Syne.

The shamrock, thistle, leek and rose, With heath and wattle twin With heath and wattle twine, And maple from Canadian snows, For the sake of Auld Lang Syne. For Auld Lang Syne take hands From London to the line! Good luck to those that toiled with us Since the days of Auld Lang Syne!

Again to all we hold most dear In life we left behind, The wives we wooed, the bairns we kiss And the loves of Auld Lang Syne. For surely you have your sweetheart, And surely I have mine:

We toast her name in silence here And the girls of Auld Lang Syne. And last to him the little man. And last to him the little man, Who led our fighting line From Kabul on to Kandahar In the days of Auld Lang Syne. For 'Auld Lang Syne and Bobs, Our chief of Auld Lang Syne! We're here to do his work again As we did in Auld Lang Syne!

If We Had Time.

If we had time, how we would climb If we had time, how we would climb Up Fame's ascent to heights sublime? We'd have a name with lustre bright To fill the after years with light: We'd do such deeds of high renown Our memories would thunder down That Time would pause in listening; We'd show such lofty statesmaship Our praise would pause in listening; We'd ahow such lofty statesmaship Ot the unborn ; upon the field And do such mighty feats in war That men would crown as conqueror; We'd show such magic in our art, The world would know our life by heas
