Mission House at Bobbili (From a Photograph).

IN THE PHOTOGRAPH OF OUR MISSION HOUSE, you will see the doors and a window opening off the verandah on the right. These open into our own and the children's sleeping rooms. The two doors on the left, open into the study or young lady's room—if the Lord send us one, and she prefer to live with us. The house is built in the form of a cross, the centre room running from front to back, and is to be divided by a screen into dining and sitting-rooms.

We moved in the last of May, a few days over a year and a half from the time the foundations were commenced; and such a year of toil, anxiety and trouble with workmen, no person at home can understand, and but few missionaries have experienced. All our chunam, bricks and tiles had to be dug from mother earth, and made up by, or under the superintendence of, the missionary. All the timber either purchased in the log or cut in the forest, sawed and made up under the eye, and much of it by the hands of the missionary, and he frequently far from well. But the Lord, for whom we have done this, knows all about it and He has enabled us to complete and enter into possession.

And now, our prayer is that we may have health to remain to lay the foundation, and build up in Bobbili, a structure of a more durable and spiritual nature than the one we have just completed. We have seen the fruit of our labour in this; may we see it in that also, and rejoice in it, if it be the will of our Master.—M. F. CHURCHILL.
