

CAE has been dealing with Air India since 1970, when it sold it a Boeing 747-100 simulator, which was upgraded to a 747-200 simulator in 1985.

CAE will manufacture, test and supply the simulator as well as provide on-site installation, calibration and support services.

CAE Electronics Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of CAE Industries Ltd., Toronto, is one of the world's major builders of sophisticated commercial and military aircraft flight simulators and of supervisory control and data acquisition systems and energy management systems for international utilities.

EDC is a Canadian Crown corporation established to support Canada's export trade. EDC arranges medium- and long-term financing for foreign buyers of Canadian goods and services and also provides insurance and bank guarantee services to Canadian exporters.
