P. Bickell & Co. say at the close of the market:

Wheat—Lower. Weak foreign cables and continued dulness in cash demand, were again the factors for liquidation, values recording new lows for econidecline. We expect rallies occasionally, but on all good bulkes we advise sales, as supplies are burdensome and unless cash demand becomes active values must decline to a commercial level and reduce visible materially before the long side has safely covered.

Erickson Perkins & Co. had the following at the close:

Wheat—The market opened weak and so continued thruout the session, rallies so continued thruout the session, rallies so weak as our own, with Minneapolis leading the decline. The selling in this leading the decline of the long wheat for country account and advices state that there is no improvement in the flour demand, buyers being pretty well filled up at a higher level of values. Kansas City quoted cash wheat le to 2c per bushel lower. The underlying facts, however, in the world's position of wheat offer no incentive as yel, to a speculative long. Corn—The market showed surprising the tast few world good rallies, as we are unable to see but one ultimate outcome to values.

Oats—Prices followed closely the course
