TWENTY-SEVENTH YEAR
RIOT JURY INDICTS MANY TWO DISSIDENT FROM VERDICT FOR KILLING OF STRIKERS

MacLaren Brothers, Special Con-stablers and Coroner Rodrigue Held Responsible for Deaths of Belanger and Theriault at Buckingham.

ACCUSED ARE ON PAROLE
TO APPEAR SATURDAY

"That Thomas Belanger and Francois Theriault came to their death in the course of a riot, being killed by Frank Kierulff and John C. Cummings of Buckingham, Pierre Picard of Mon-real, Roy Ingram of Montreal, F. W.
Warner (deceased) and the other special constablers, shooting at them in such circumstances that they should be sent before the criminal court."
"We also find that Albert MacLaren and Alexander MacLaren, both of the Town of Buckingham, are guilty of their death in bringing those constablers in and should go before the criminal court."
"We also find that Adelard Hamelin, Eliane Charotte, Louis Landry, Jean B. Clement, Collier Bastien, and Robinson Croteau, all of the Town of Buckingham, aforesaid, and many others, are guilty in that they accompanied these men in this riotous assault in which they met their death and should be sent before the criminal court."
"We also find that Dr. Alexandre Rodrigue of the said Town of Buckingham (coroner) is more guilty than any of the other magistrates in the length in that he anticipated serious trouble and neglected to do his duty and that he should go before the criminal court."
"Two jurors do not agree to this verdict, Mose Goulette and Janvier Hamelin."
Buckingham, Que., Oct. 31.—(Special).
—Fourteen out of sixteen jurors in the Belanger-Theriault inquest to-night agreed on a sweeping verdict in the terms of the above.
The verdict was entirely along the lines of Coroner McMahon's address, which occupied an hour in the delivery, and the jury was out four hours and a half.
One of the dissenting jurors, Janvier Hamelin, is related to the indicted Adelard Hamelin.
All of those indicted appeared before Coroner McMahon after the inquest, and were allowed to go on parole till 2:30 p. m. Saturday.
J. Lamontagne, legal adviser of the striker's union, says he is pleased with the verdict, but the coroner for the other side intimates that objection may be taken to the charge of the coroner on some legal point he interpreted to the jury. In all, 99 witnesses testified in the inquest.
Ed Guerin, K. C., crown prosecutor, says the most important part is to come yet.
The coroner frequently remarked that there were many perjuries in the evidence. He made special reference to Coroner Rodrigue's failure to do his duty in the critical moment. The verdict caused an immense sensation.

JILTED AT THE CHURCH.
Ottawa East Young Woman Waits for Groom Who Changed Mind.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—(Special).—Ottawa East fair circles were agitated to-day by the jilting of one of the young ladies of the village, who was gowned and waiting to meet her lover at the altar in Holy Trinity Church at 2 o'clock. The rector was also ready, but a previous inking that the groom would not appear prevented a scene in the church.
The groom—who was to be worked in the car shops, and it is said that yesterday he removed his tools and probably left for parts unknown last night.
The bride is a pretty French-Canadian Protestant, and is seriously grieved by the despicable trick played her.

are convinced that the new departure

SENATOR COX AND COBALT HAS NO INTEREST IN CAMP

Not Connected With Trethewey Purchase—Report That Beaver Has Changed Hands.

The World made a somewhat serious error yesterday in stating that Senator Cox had been to Cobalt and had joined Mr. McCuaig in the syndicate which has got control of the Trethewey mines. The mistake was caused by misreading at a late hour a cipher despatch. The World, therefore, insofar as it connected Senator Cox with the proposition, admits a mistake which it now corrects.
Senator Cox assured The World last night that he has not been to Cobalt, nor is he interested in, or with intentions of becoming interested in, Cobalt stocks. All The World can say is that it was not surprised to hear that Senator Cox had gone to Cobalt to see that great mining centre.

In fact, it now respectfully suggests to the senator that he should go up and see it. The World is confident he would say on his return what The World yesterday erroneously credited him with saying, namely, that Canadians did not know what they were letting pass their door.
However, the re-organization of the Trethewey, as was stated, Cobalt, has a large portion of the money has been put up, and a syndicate is formed, and the deal is one of the most important that are taking place in connection with Cobalt.
But how anxious some of our good friends of the press are to discredit The World's Cobalt mining news, and how anxious others of them are to challenge The World's leadership in telling the story of this silver camp from day to day.

And yet we are simply giving the news as fully and as accurately as we can give it. We have, and have had for months, the only resident special correspondent in the camp. We have had a corps of special writers visit the camp from time to time, and we keep tabs on all that transpires in Toronto in connection with these mines. As a consequence, The World is read by everyone at all interested in Cobalt. It is the most sought for Canadian paper in and around Broad street and Wall-street in New York, and what is more significant, nearly everyone of the floating army of Cobalt pilgrims who are now daily passing thru the King Edward Hotel has a World sticking out of his pocket.

The influx of Americans yesterday in Toronto on their way to Cobalt was simply surprising. The King Edward was full of them, and the train that went up last night to North Bay and Cobalt was made up of nothing but capitalists on their way to the Silver City.

"It was announced that a strong and representative body of Americans had been placed in charge of the Foster Cobalt Mining Company, who intend pushing the work of development as fast as conditions will permit."
"First-class machinery and plant have already shipped to the mines. The following comprise the new board: President, W. K. George; Vice-president, W. H. Blake; directors, H. S.
Strathy, C. A. Foster, W. C. Kerr." It was told yesterday, the official confirmation lacking, that the Silver Cobalt Mining Company had changed hands and had passed into the possession of a syndicate. The purchase price was placed in the neighborhood of $140,000, on which a substantial payment has been made, with the balance payable in three equal amounts within the next six weeks. The Beaver has a 20-acre claim adjoining the Temiskam-ing. The company is capitalized at $500,000 in $1 shares. While the sale could not be confirmed, it was declared by one in a position to know that negotiations had been going on for the transfer of shares on a scale that would be sufficient to provide a controlling interest. Montreal and Cobalt people are principal holders.

The Good to Believe.
A party of New Yorkers passed thru the city yesterday en route for the camp to verify the report of an engineer sent some time ago in regard to a copper and lead proposition. The engineer's report was so amazing that the capitalists were incredulous and are now accepting his invitation to themselves visit the place with another expert to verify the original calculations.
Cobalt reports say that the Silver Queen shipped yesterday and La Rose and Nipissing the previous day.

Opened Ballot Box Just to "See How" Got Money Lost by 2 Who Voted Wrong

Wm. Spence, D.R.O., Relates the Story of His Temptation and Fall—Geo. Gibbons Declares His Fight Was Always for Pure Elections and He's Glad for the Exposures.

VOTERS AT BROCKVILLE
GIVEN PREPARED BALLOTS

"They tempted me several times and at last I fell."
So said William Spence of London, deputy returning officer, as he yesterday explained to Magistrate Denison the circumstances leading up to the illegal opening of a ballot box. He had not done it for money; it was to see whether Steve Collins and another had voted right. Deputy returning officers had marked the ballots, and when they were exposed in Wm. Serviss' house it was shown that the two men hadn't earned the bribe money that was to have been theirs. Spence said he had been urged by Sifton to open the box.

George Gibbons, K.C. of London, president of the Liberal Association, made a strong denial that he had ever countenanced crooked work and entered into a long statement to prove that election history in London laid corruption at the doors of the Conservative party. Speaking of the earlier Hyman election, he said: "No party ever tried harder to bring about a crooked election and no man on God's earth did more than I did."

He said that Collins' appointment as a deputy returning officer had been a serious mistake, and related his refusal to "bribe the briber."
He had always tried to carry on elections without the illegal use of money; he knew that in the last election this policy had not been carried out, and he was glad the exposures have resulted.
The respectable voters in London like good, clean politics, he said.

The Brockville elections were touched on, too, and Rufus Smith related having been promised $100 to slip in prepared ballots marked for the Liberal candidate. He had agreed to do the job, but hadn't. He had promised just to "keep in" with the party, he said.

Begin With Brockville.
When the case opened yesterday morning Antoine Winding of Brockville was the first witness called. He told of the election trouble and tricks in the Comstock-White election. A man named MacNabb came to him and told him to look after two men named Macintosh. He gave him ballots marked for Comstock to give to them.
They were to put these ballots in the box and bring back the ones they got from the returning officer. They would get $10 each, but the witness was not paid. He did not know Lew-Lew.

THE CONFESSIONS OF A D.R.O.

"I yielded to the temptation. That was my only excuse. I'll explain: I have been tempted for years, but never yielded. All along I considered it a great crime, but on this particular night I fell down. Mr. Serviss invited me to stay for tea, and after tea we went up town to get the returns and met Sifton. That's where I made the mistake. I should have taken my box and gone home.
Sifton urged me to go back and go over the ballots and see which of the voters had gone back on their promises. Under the impulse of the minute I went back, altho I felt guilty at the time.
I don't know who opened the box, but Sifton went over his list.
I had the key, but I don't know whether Sifton or I opened the box. It was about 8 o'clock at night. Serviss knew all about it.
I got ten dollars—the money of the two parties who did not vote right, Steve Collins and one of the Gibbons. I knew it was a serious crime, but I did not do it for the $10. It was merely to see how they voted. I had been asked several times to tamper with the ballot boxes, and was offered money by a stranger, but never yielded to the temptation. I abstained from taking any part in elections where money was connected. I yielded only once and I felt guilty."—Evidence of Wm. Spence, of London.

BODY IS THAT OF ANOTHER STRANGE PLEA OF DEFENCE

Unexpected Development in the Trial of Doyle for Murder in Manitoba.

Morden, Man., Oct. 31.—(Special).
The Doyle murder trial, which promised to be the most sensational ever heard in the west, opened here today. Doyle, an American, is charged with killing Vincent Weiler, also an American, at Snowflake, Man., on Nov.
26 last. The body was not found until this spring.

The startling feature of the day was the arrest of Charles Foley, Killarney, at the close of the proceedings. He is accused of intimidating witnesses from North Dakota who are here. Foley is an old chum of Doyle.
The line of argument to be taken by the defence, as revealed to-day, is most unexpected. The defence evidently intends to try and prove that it was not Weiler's body which was found, but that of an unknown man found near Morris, Man., about a week before the body supposed to be that of Weiler was found, and which mysteriously disappeared. The claim is, it was dressed up as Weiler to secure the reward money. It is said the defence will try to prove Weiler has been seen since Nov. 20 in the Northwest.

Halifax, Oct. 31.—Complete returns of the Shelburne-Queen's by-election make Hon. W. S. Fielding's majority 4001. The total vote was 92 less than in the general election of 1904.

FIELDING'S SWEEP.
Halifax, N. S., Oct. 31.—(Special).
The election in Shelburne-Queen's today resulted in a victory for Finance Minister Fielding by about 1000 majority over R. C. Weldon, the Conservative candidate.

The campaign has been remarkable in several respects. Never before have the Liberals in this province made such desperate efforts to win an election. From fifteen to twenty-five platform workers were in the constituency continuously during the past two weeks, holding meetings day and night. The officials of the Dominion and local governments in the riding and outside of it, made the fight their own, and made every effort to secure the election of the finance minister.

The Conservative workers, led by Dr. Weldon, the few in numbers, put up a clean, hard fight against great odds. Fielding's majority in 1904 was 385 over J. J. Ritchie, K.C.

SPY AND INTRUDER.

Visit of U. S. Warship to Newfoundland land Inland to Colony.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable).
London, Oct. 31.—Judge Proves writing from St. John, N. B., in The Standard, relative to the action of the Newfoundland government compelling the United States warship Potomac to pay duty on supplies, declares the Potomac came as a spy and intruder.

Her visit was an insult to Newfoundland, and a breach of international courtesy, which no government but a British Liberal cabinet would tolerate for a moment. The English people, he says, would approve the conduct of the colonial government.

LIVED OVER A CENTURY.

Amrhop, Oct. 31.—The oldest resident of this district died on Tuesday in the person of Samuel Williams, at the remarkable age of 103 years. He had been in fair possession of all his faculties, and was quite smart until recently.

THE BETTING.

New York Sun: Election odds on Bond-street yesterday followed the opposite course to that of the previous day. They opened at 3 to 5 Hughes, declined to 11 to 4 and closed at 1 to 2.
The bulk of the day's betting was at 1 to 1, but in the afternoon no takers could be found for an offer of $10,000 against $2,500 on Hearst made by C. G. Wood. Mr. Wood's offer was as all or none
