His first proposition is to the effect that the company will put in a new and up-to-date system, estimated to cost about $500,000, if the city will guarantee the company's second mortgage bonds to that amount. It is admitted on all sides that the present railway outfit is utterly inadequate. The roadble of is in wretched condition, and the cars are mainly the old horse cars equipped many years ago with motors.

One proposition, as pointed out, is to have been seriously contain the city council and the citizens to take steps to obe tain such legislation, it would make the cataract-street railway combination sit up. Mr. Studholme will cheer fully present such a bill, and his friends say that Col. Hendrie is an other Hamilton man who is not afraid of the Cataract people.

The men who built this line struggled with it and very faithfully kept their contract with the city, and in 1893 obtained a second franchise, also to run for 20 years. It was in 1898 that the Cataract Power Company obtained control of the road and electrified it.

Convenient Bookkeeping. It is true that no dividends have ever been paid upon the stock of the Hamilton Street Railway since it was acquired by the Cataract Power Communication of the Cataract Power pany, but this has simply been a matter of bookkeeping. The profits were earned, but they were absorbed by the Cataract Power Company in its own in some danger of being successful.

Mayor Stewart expressed himself to The World as being opposed to either proposition submitted by the company.

Not only did the Cataract Power Company so manipulate the books and finances of the street railway company as to show no profits, but they apparently set aside no money for improvements, and did not, in fact, expend anything on betterments for many years. The result was that the system became so worthless and inadequate that last summer it seemed as tho it could not possibly continue operation. Last November (1905), I was seriously ill, resulting I believe from kidney troubles. Finding doctor's medicine doing me no good, I persuaded my husband to purchase me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, after having read of a case somewhat resembling mine. I commenced taking them according to directions (not taking the doctor's medicine), and on second day a swelling commenced in my feet, legs and body. The following day I was so changed and swollen my husband, in alarm, hastened to Mr. Johnson's drug store, who told him to tell me he thought the pills were drawing something out of the blood, and to keep on taking them. I did so and after taking them a week, the swelling disappeared leaving them a week, the swelling them a week, the swelling them a week, the swelling them a week them a week taking them. I did so and after taking them a week, the swelling disappeared leaving me with a complexion free from pimples, tired, weary feeling gone, constipation, from which I suffered for years, gene, pain in the back, gone, and a general feeling of joy and light heartedness, I have not feit since a child, took place in me.
