MANY "HEATHER JOCKS"

Scotland seems to have held a multiplicity of Heather Jocks, says the Glasgow News. The wandering minstrel from Renfrew who bore that name cannot possibly be the same Heather Jock who amused the passengers on the stage coach from Glasgow to Edinburgh when they put up at the Old Cannon Inn, Coathridge. This Heather Jock was also a wandering minstrel, being a post of no mean order, and he sang riddle stanzas of song of his own composition. Wherever he went he was sure of a hearty welcome; copious supplies of beer and coppers were his in exchange for selections from his extensive "repertoire." There was another Heather Jock, famous about twenty years ago down Kilmaronock way. He got his name from the fact that he sold scrubbing brushes made of heather. And another "character" of the same name frequented the moor between Strathaven and Muirkirk.

UNDERPAID CLERGY IN THE CANADIAN WEST

New Dean of Durham Pleads For Christian Unity and Independent Ministry

(Times' Special Correspondence)
London, Dec. 13.—Canon Hansley Henson, newly appointed Dean of Durham, who has just returned from Canada, draws attention to the low salaries paid to the clergy in western Canada.

"Adequate payment of the Christian clergy," he said, "is needed, not only in order to provide a career which shall attract competent men; but also to make it possible for the clergy to stand outside the gambling in real estate, which is one of the most unwholesome features in western Canadian society.

"The sum of $800 per annum without a house is the payment which the average minister is offered; and even this small salary is by no means always given. Remembering that the cost of living is much higher in Canada than in England, it is easy to understand that those underpaid clergy are reduced to squalid antiseptic and too often are mixed up in business enterprises more gainful in promise than creditable in character.

"This serious evil of low salaries is intimately associated with the question of Christian unity for, the simple reason that no church at present possesses an adequate population properly to maintain a clergyman of its own. If a reasonable arrangement were made, by which one minister could be maintained by the combined churches, he might be adequately paid, and then required to stand wholly outside the dubious speculations which have such a fascination for the people."

The harmful effects of dust in our large towns is even greater than that of the roads, for it infects the sweepers with tubercle, and it is a fact that the men employed in the dirty and poorer parts of a town suffer more than those employed in the better and cleaner parts.

EMPIRE CITIZENSHIP

Earl Grey's Promise to Query About Reform in Naturalization Laws

London, Dec. 13.—That was a good point the Hon. A. L. Sifton made in his speech last week. He referred with regret to the fact that foreigners who went to Canada and became naturalized there did not enjoy the privilege of becoming British citizens. He regarded this as a weakness in our naturalization laws, and expressed the hope that before long steps would be taken so that a man who emigrated to Canada, Australia, or any other of the British dominions would, on becoming naturalized in those countries, also become a British subject.

Lord Grey, turning to Lord Emmott, under secretary of state for the dominions, said he would give him notice there and then that, in consequence of the appeal made by Mr. Sifton, he would, some day next week, ask him in the House of Lords, what were the intentions of His Majesty's government as to carrying out the resolution of the colonial conference with regard to naturalization.

Venetian blinds which require varnishing can be made to look quite fresh if sponged over with a solution of glue size. The size should be allowed to dry on, and the blinds washed and dried before it is applied.
