Centenary church had the largest attendance at Communion for many years after the morning Easter service yesterday. Rev. Robert G. Fulton was assisted by Rev. Henry Penn. Twenty-two persons were taken into the membership of the church. The choir sang with good effect at both morning and evening services and Rev. TRINITY
In Trinity church there were about 700 communicants at the four celebrations, an increase over the number of last year. Rev. C. J. Markham, curate, assisted. Rev. C. Gordon Lawrence was the preacher in the morning and in the evening Rev. A. H. Moore, president of King's College, Halifax. The Sunday school doors were opened and additional accommodation secured in that way. In the Fairview Baptist church ten candidates were baptized, five at each service. Rev. C. T. Clark, pastor, officiated. The choir appeared in surplines for the first time, and in the evening rendered the choral service, "From the Manger to the Throne."

Letters to The Editor

The Cape Breton Strike.

To the Editor of The Times-Star:
Sir—In Saturday evening's press despatches, the following appeared under the heading "John Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers arrives in Cape Breton." The whole article is too long to print, but two extracts are: "Mr. Lewis, upon whose action depends in a great measure the outcome of the labor struggle that has for five weeks paralyzed the coal mines in Nova Scotia, &c., &c." "Questioned directly as to whether or not he would order the maintenance men back to the mines, and whether the International headquarters would grant financial assistance to the men, &c., &c." Now does not this tend to prove the truth of my original assertion that the Canadian labor organization affected is controlled from the United States? To all right thinking patriotic Canadians it seems intolerable that the settlement of one of our own domestic industrial problems should be dependent on the decision of any alien. A great deal could truthfully be written about the unreasonableness to use a mild word, of recent strikes here and in Great Britain, particularly the latter, all of which have done injury to the general well-being of the community. It is too big a subject to be dealt with in a short letter, but in the present case it is simply deplorable that while the whole country is crying for cheap fuel, the supply should be so seriously interfered with.

Yours truly,
F. T. SHORT.

Local School Bodies To Blame.
To the Editor of The Times-Star:
Sir—In the report touching the closing of the Moncton night schools as published by you on the 9th inst., it is stated that I blamed the provincial governments in the Maritime Provinces for not taking up their full appropriation under the Technical Education Act of Canada. This is not quite correct. While it is true that none of the Maritimes has taken up its full quota, I pointed out and sought to emphasize the fact that responsibility for permitting this money to lapse, as far as New Brunswick is concerned, rested with the local school boards with whom the law places the initiative. The provincial government has done all in its power. It stands ready, not only to assist school boards in working out their policies, but also provides them with one dollar of provincial money for every federal dollar they choose to utilize.

Local School Bodies To Blame.
To the Editor of The Times-Star:
Sir—In the report touching the closing of the Moncton night schools as published by you on the 9th inst., it is stated that I blamed the provincial governments in the Maritime Provinces for not taking up their full appropriation under the Technical Education Act of Canada. This is not quite correct. While it is true that none of the Maritimes has taken up its full quota, I pointed out and sought to emphasize the fact that responsibility for permitting this money to lapse, as far as New Brunswick is concerned, rested with the local school boards with whom the law places the initiative. The provincial government has done all in its power. It stands ready, not only to assist school boards in working out their policies, but also provides them with one dollar of provincial money for every federal dollar they choose to utilize.

The new priests celebrated their first masses on Easter Sunday. Father Nichol, Kinsella, Butler and Gillen, ordained on last Saturday, will remain at the Cathedral for the present. Father Henneberry, also ordained on Saturday, will take the place of Rev. M. P. Howland, Kingsclear, while the latter is in Rome on his Holy Year visit.
