Fredericton, N. B., Aug. 21.—Fredericton won from the Houlton, Me., baseball team this evening, 9 to 4, making it fourteenth games in a row without a defeat. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning because of darkness. After the game, Johnny Bolater, who leads the Fredericton club in batting, was presented with a gold watch, the presentation being made by ex-Mayor W. S. Hooper.

St. Stephen Defeated.
East Millinocket shut out the St. Stephen team last night, 10-0. Paul was wild, and allowed sixteen hits.

Rain Interferes.
Rain caused postponement of the game between the Boston Travelers and St. Peter's last evening. These two teams, however, will appear this evening in an exhibition game for the benefit of the health centre fund and a close contest is expected.

BROWNS GO DOWN ANOTHER NOTCH

Now Game and Half Behind Yankee — Detroit Wallops Red Sox Pitchers — Late Sport.

New York, Aug. 22.—The St. Louis Browns continue to pound the ball hard, but succeed only in fattening their batting averages while their struggle to stay near the front runners in the American League race grows weaker. They out-hit the Athletics in the last of the four game series but lost 7 to 6. This loss of the Browns placed them a game and a half behind the leading Yankees, who were idle. The Browns today will engage the Red Sox at Boston, while the Indians open a series with the Yankees at the Polo Grounds.

Detroit had another of its heavy hitting days in Boston, gathering nineteen blows of four Red Sox pitchers and winning 16 to 8.

Pittsburg easily defeated the Braves 6 to 1, Hamilton holding the Boston hitters at bay until the ninth when three hits produced their single run.

HANSEN TO PITCH FOR ST. PETER'S THIS EVENING

One of the season's biggest events for the baseball fans will be the game in St. Peter's Park tonight between the St. Peter's team and the Boston Travelers, one of the anapuet teams which has been seen in St. John this season. Ray Hansen is to pitch for St. Peter's. He is out to do his best, and that best is mighty hard to beat. The Boston Travelers have learned of his prowess and are bringing into the field their "Lucky" Geary, who is a twirler of deadly aim. The game is sure to be a good one and the whole of the gate receipts are to go to the funds of St. John's new health centre, a cause which has the whole-hearted support of everybody. It is to be a gala night altogether, and the Carleton Cornet Band will parade through the city from the head of King street, down King, along Dock and Mill to Main, up Main to Douglas street and to St. Peter's Park. The forty-eight members of the band served overseas and remained together overseas for nearly five years, dispensing music wherever Canadians were engaged.

RAUB TAKES DRASTIC STEPS TO GET DOWN TO FOOTBALL WEIGHT

New Brunswick, N. J., Aug. 22.—Howard Raub, captain of the Rutgers College football team, planned for a trip half way around the globe during the summer vacation as a purser's clerk, or something of the sort, on ocean liner. That is, he planned it, until Coach George Foster Sanford planted him on the scales one day and gasped for Raub tipping the beam around 21 pounds. Sanford's orders were slow but to the point. "Take off some of that if you want to play football," he quoted as saying. Here's how Captain Raub has been doing it: During July he shoveled coal as a fireman in a rubber plant here; during July worked for the City of New Brunswick mending roads and paving street, a pi and shovel being part of his tools; at this month he is slinging around bags of coal and merchandise on a D. & I. coal boat. Raub declares he learned a heap about calories and vitamins.

FIELDS BALL IN RIVER AND GETS HIS MAN AT THE THIRD CORNER

New York, Aug. 22.—In the co-ed Kernose baseball circuit in Illinois players must be swimmers in addition to other accomplishments if they desire to hold the spotlight. In a recent game between Champaign and Newman played at Newman a Champaign batsman hit the ball a slinging around bag of coal and merchandise on a D. & I. coal boat. Raub declares he learned a heap about calories and vitamins.

JAMAICA MAY BAR CHINESE

885 of Them Under Contract To Do Farm Work — No Labor Shortage Says Consul.

Panama, Aug. 22.—The steamship Bermuda, passing through the Panama Canal yesterday, bound for Jamaica, had on board 885 Chinese laborers, said to be under contract to do farm work there. Haligianians, as residents of Halifax are called in Jamaica, say there is no labor shortage in Jamaica and that the Chinese may not be permitted to land under the provisions of the immigration restrictions law.

THE DUKE OF YORK WILL BE PRESIDENT

London, Aug. 22.—The Duke of York, who is a captain in the Royal Air Force, has consented to become president of the General Council of the International Air Congress which is to be held in London next June. The congress is to discuss the technical and scientific development of aeroplanes. Lord Weir is a vice-president.

An organizing committee representing all phases of British aeronautical activity has been formed, with the Duke of Sutherland as chairman.

The congress will be open to all countries which are signatories of the International Air Convention or are represented on the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

According to present arrangements the congress will occupy one week during the last fortnight in June. The reading of papers will alternate with visits to various aircraft factories and other aircraft establishments. It is suggested that the air ministry may arrange for a Royal Air Force pageant to take place at the end of congress week, and that the Royal Aero Club may organize an air race meeting. The congress will wind up with a banquet.

The International Air Congress should be called up each year by the British air ministry. This latter is of a domestic nature, dealing with aeronautical matters only so far as the British Empire is concerned.

HOMICIDE VERDICT IN GARY INQUEST

Gary, Ind., Aug. 22.—"Deliberate homicide" was the verdict of E. E. Evans, Lake county coroner, who has been investigating the wreck of the Chicago express train which was derailed near here Sunday, killing two Gary members of the crew and injuring several others. The coroner said he found that thirty-seven spears were removed from the tracks by persons unfamiliar with use of a crowbar.

NEW "OXFORD" FOR HALIFAX

What New York Times Says of The Proposed Amalgamation.

The New University would Rank in Importance With The Foremost Institutions of Learning in The World.

(New York Times)

Halifax, N. S., is soon to be the seat of a great university which will rank in importance with the foremost institutions of learning in the world. Already Haligianians, as residents of Halifax are called in Canada, are talking about their "Oxford." The heads of six universities in the Maritime Provinces (New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, to name them in the order of their geographical location) have held several meetings to promote the union of their several institutions.

The last meeting was held in the present month, and it is virtually certain that the suggestion of this union, which emanated from the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching, will be adopted as soon as the minor obstacles to a basis of agreement are swept away.

The suggestion for the union came from the Carnegie Foundation after it had completed a survey of the educational resources of the three provinces. The investigation was carried on by Dr. William S. Learned of the staff of the Foundation and Dr. Kenneth C. M. Sills, President of Bowdoin College. Whatever faults were found in the system of elementary and secondary education in the Maritime Provinces have been pointed out.

The situation regarding educational facilities, the extent to which they are used, and the difficulties under which some of these institutions labor have been incorporated in a report.

The Carnegie Foundation has not so far made public what financial support of such a plan, but it is obvious, since it names the amount that will be required—$4,000,000—and since that amount cannot be looked for from the institutions which are to enter into the union, that it will advance a sum sufficient to insure the success of the project.

It is proposed, then, to unite the following institutions: University of King's College at Windsor, N. S.; Dalhousie University at Halifax; Acadia University at Wolfville, N. S.; Mt. Allison University at Sackville, N. B.; St. Francis Xavier's University at Antigonish, N. S.; and the University of New Brunswick at Fredericton, the capital of New Brunswick. The name of the new institution has not been decided upon.

The University of the Maritime Provinces has been suggested.

Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, Acting President of the Carnegie Foundation, in making public the report tells how the survey came to be made.

"At various times during the past ten years," he says, "each of the principal higher institutions of the Maritime Provinces of Canada has applied to the Carnegie Corporation for financial assistance. These applications have always been sympathetically received by the trustees of the corporation. The educational interests of Canada and of the United States are intimately related, and the welfare of Canadian colleges and universities properly concerns the people of one country almost as much as it does those of the other."

"In spite of the apparent need, a practical policy for aiding this group of small colleges scattered over the coast provinces was not so clear. One college could not be fairly considered without the others, and it seemed necessary, finally, to take up the whole matter as a single problem. An adequate reason for this course lay in the fact that many institutions, including an official proposal from the Government of Nova Scotia, had been received from time to time, suggesting a general inquiry into the educational situation in these provinces."

The proposal of the Foundation is an adaptation of English collegiate organization. Each college would maintain its own student residence, classrooms, chapel, etc., where most of the freshman and sophomore work would be conducted. Advanced courses, all honor courses and the expensive laboratory sciences would be taught in a central university, controlled by a joint board.

An attractive feature of the plan from an American point of view is the method suggested for the better organization of large bodies of students—a serious problem in American colleges. It may be said that virtually the only obstacles to be overcome in perfecting the plan are those that would naturally arise from the fact that the participating institutions are denominational; but these obstacles would be smoothed away, it is expected.

The only other obstacle would be the fear of some of the institutions of losing their identities. For instance, a small university which has its credit as a graduate as Sir George Elias Foster, former finance minister of Canada and now vice-president of the League of Nations; the late Sir George St. Patrick, a lecturer on imperial federation and later traveling administrator of the Carnegie Foundation; Bill Carleton, the poet; Charles G. D. Roberts, the author, and many others equally prominent, would naturally be concerned with preserving individuality with reluctance. Those named are all graduates of the University of New Brunswick. This feeling the Foundation feels confident will be overcome; in fact, the Foundation may be said to be confident that the identity of each of the colleges will acquire strength by the merger.

The area of the three provinces is about 80,000 square miles, or approximately the size of New York State, and their population in 1921 was a little more than a million. The six universities mentioned together with a few lesser institutions not included in the union, appear in number to be more than adequate to serve the needs of a population of a million. Since the war, however, many of them have been hampered by insufficient income. Moreover, the foundation found that academies and seminaries of the rank of secondary schools were responsible, in several instances, for whoever prospered the universities enjoyed and really overshadowed the colleges.

Since the above was written several New Brunswick educators have publicly voiced a desire to have the new university located at Moncton, N. B., which is virtually the geographical centre of the maritime provinces. Dr. L. H. Price of Moncton, a well-known provincial physician, has backed up this preference by offering free fifty acres of land on Victoria Heights, within the city limits, as a site for the university. During the Boer War, Dr. Price was the surgeon who ministered to General Cronje and other Boer prisoners on the island of St. Helena, where he occupied Napoleon's residence, Longwood Old House.

CENTURY PLANT IN BLOOM.

Brooklyn Botanic Garden Specimen Belies Legend of Rare Blossoming.

New York, Aug. 22.—A century plant is in bloom in the Brooklyn Botanic Garden. It stands in the center of a circular grass plot between the two lily pools just west of the conservatories.

The erect shoot bearing the flowers is about fifteen feet tall. From a distance it looks like a bare pole with several candelabra on top. As a matter of fact, however, the pole is not quite bare. It bears small, bract-like leaves.

This flower-bearing shoot has been growing for fully three months and during the last of July the flowers fully appeared. They have a homely, greenish appearance and a slightly fetid odor which successfully entices insects, a large variety of which may usually be seen hovering about the candelabra-like flower clusters.

The popular notion that "the century plant" blooms once in a century is entirely erroneous. About 800 species are known, mostly natives of the dry Mexican tablelands, although each island of the West Indies has its own peculiar
