

usefulness, let us not fail in this emergency to afford it that aid which it imperiously demands, and which our delegates have unanimously resolved to give.

The Weekly religious Newspaper, which has long been under consideration, received due attention. Several addresses were made setting forth the advantages of such Paper, and showing how it might hopefully be sustained. The objects of the Paper have already been published in the Magazine, and future numbers of that work may more fully explain its design. Several persons came forward and proposed to become responsible for the charges of the paper, who will constitute a publishing committee as soon as the work shall be commenced. The Association passed a resolution to relinquish the present Magazine and adopt the Paper, as soon as it is fairly ascertained that the latter will be sustained. A committee was appointed to obtain all needful information on the propriety of relinquishing the Magazine and adopting the Paper. All persons interested in the subject are requested to express their sentiments to that committee. It is hoped the Paper will very shortly go into operation.

The most perfect harmony pervaded the Association throughout the deliberations. The resolutions and measures adopted by the body all appear judicious, and when carried into effect must be highly beneficial to the interests of the people of this Province. The weather was exceedingly fine during the whole session—the attention and hospitality of the people of Halifax were extraordinary—and every circumstance favourable to our meeting combined to make the season delightful. May our hearts overflow with the warmest gratitude to our God and Saviour.
