ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., MARCH, 4, 1910.

sian nobleman, who was exiled to bleak Saghalien island, off the Siberian has coast, held the interest of a large audience in Witherspoon Hall last night. Lieutenant Colonel Alexander M.Lochwitzky, a former bureau chief in the Russian war office, was the lecturer, and the nobleman about whom the story centered. The lecture was held under the auspices of the University Extension Society.

Colonel Lochwitzky is the son of General Michael D. Lochwitzky, who was assistant to the minister of war until his death in 1902, and was descended from one of the oldest families in the Russian aristocracy.

Thirteen years ago the colonel was arrested on the charge of building a public school for the peasants who lived on his estate, 120 miles from St. Petersburg. He was incarcerated in the fortess of St. Peter and St. Paul, where he was cut off from the outside world for sixteen months. Then, without being given a trial, he was sentenced to four years of hard labor on the island of Saghalien, Siberia. was of the opinion that more and were liquor could be had in P. E. Island, under prohibition, than anywhere cless. Mr. McSweensy should qualify this. It is not correct to say that more liquor can be had in P. E. Island, while his swife, but he seemed to the start of the test of the test of the control of money than any other province. It is also true that It is worse liquor, largely because it is of home manufacture, It is not whisk, when the seemed to control of alcohol and other drugs is any of the manufacture. It is not whisk, when the seemed to control of alcohol and other drugs is any of the manufacture. It is not whisk key, the greater part of It, but a conciction of alcohol and other drugs in the seemed to control.

In Charlottetown a quart bottle can be bought for thirty-five cents, which is much cheaper than would be paid in St. John, but there is this difference, that three drinks of the Island stuff will make a man crazy, while the licensed whiskey of St. John only makes the glad come. Senator McSweeney suggested that those who wished to see the work of the prohibitory law of Prince Edward Island should watch a steamer load of harvesters from that province landing at vesters from that province landing at Point du Chene. No doubt the sight live with any degree of comfort on what they receive from their congregations, should become professional becomes. The Country Church to the receive from their congregations are unable to "Well," he said, "I would like to find out where the Russian consul's office is, so as to avoid that street." bcosters. The Country Church Association of New England, in convention in Boston, advises its underpaid members SUBMARINE BELLS to become associated with agricultural societies and devote their spare time to booming the districts in which they live. Isn't it just a great idea? And so easily applied. These country preachers who have nothing to do but Goasts of U. S. and Great Lakes Will be conduct six or eight services on Sunday, visit the sick in an area of ten miles square, perform the marriages, preach at the funerals, and generally officiate at those few score or odd other duties which fall to the lot of the rural parson, must find time hanging heavy on their hands. Then, the munificent selaries usually paid must undoubtedly develop in these men a spirit of optimism and enthusiasm which fully qualifies them to expound the remarkable advantages and attractions of their ccuntry. The man who is supporting a family on five or six hundred a year, with as little work as is required from duties which fall to the lot of the rural with as little work as is required from the average rural minister, is in every way qualified to take the stump as a booster. Point du Chene. No doubt the sight would be impressive; in fact, anybody going to the Island need only get on the train at Summerside and ride to Charlottetown to witness the admirable results achieved under the present raw. Yet this is not the fault of the law, but rather of its lack of proper enforcement and the latter weakness is not wholly due to local conditions. The act now in operation needs to be strengthened by such bills as Mr. Scott is at present promoting and by other measures which will enable the officials on the Island to more effectively perform their duties:

A FINE SCHEME.

Here's a solution of the salary problem found in all the churches. Those country ministers who are unable to live with any degree of comfort on the country in the country in the country of the Russian form of government and what changes he would suggest, Colonel Lochwitzky said:

"The Russian government is over-ditions in the distant provinces, try to govern them from the capital. A centralized governments is a good thing, if the central government busy itself only with matters of national importance and let the provinces themselves attend to their local affairs. If the Poles could elect their own governor and legislature, and the Armenians their own, it would be much better than to have an Armenian appointed as governor of Lithuania, and a Pole as governor of Lithuania, and a Pole as governor of Armenia. This is what I admire about the United States. While the Washington government is strong and centralized the individual states have practically supreme power in their local affairs."

"Will you visit the Russian consulting while in this city,?" he was asked.
