Moncton is meeting with some very serious losses tely, so far as her social circle is concerned, and

Mrs. J. S. Benedict left on Monday for her home in Washington, D. C., called by the dangerous illness of her father, who has been in failing health for months past. Very little hope is entertained of his recovery, so that even if Mrs. Benedict should return this winter, it is improbable that she will go into society at all.

recovery, so that even if Mrs. Benediet should return this winter, it is improbable that she will go into society at all.

Mr. Proctor has broken up his charming little home on Bonnacord street, and will in future reside at the Brunswick, Miss Grassie, of Halifax, courin of the late Mrs. Proctor, who has been presiding over the household since Mrs. Proctor's death, will spend a few weeks with friends in Moncton, returning to her home in Halifax before the winter. Many people will miss the hospitable little home, where the welcome was always so cordial that one entered with pleasure and departed with regret.

As soon as I begin to write about departing friends I grow alarmed when I count them up, there are so many leaving us. Mrs. and Miss Lindsay, who have been spending the summer at Riviere du Loup, are paying a short visit to Moncton at present, and I regret to say that their object in coming is to make arrangements for leaving Moncton, if not permanently at least for the winter. Mr. Lindsay being engaged on the Temiscouata railway, the family have decided to make their home at Riviere du Loup for the present. I am sorry to say that by this arrangement we shall also less Mrs. Kim Mrs. In Mrs. the present. I am sorry to say that by this arrangement we shall also lose Mrs. King, Mrs. Lindsay's their early return.

Last, though by no means least, Miss Milliken left town this morning for Saratoga, N. Y., where she intends entering for the winter term at Temple Grove seminary. Miss Milliken is a universal favorite in Moncton, and will be greatly missed by her many friends, who will look forward to her return with the June roses. She goes under the escort of Mr. A. A. Rankin, and intends visiting her brother, Mr. Albert Milliken, of Port Henry, before entering on her studies.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. R. A. Borden entertained a few friends, and on Wednesday there were no less than three little parties. Mrs. Edward Trites entertained a few friends at a little whist party. Mr. W. F. Proctor invited a few of his friends to assist him in keeping his birthday, and Mrs. J. R. Bruce gave a delightful little dance at her home on Bonnacord street. Quite an embarrassment of riches for one evening.

Mr. A. A. Rankin, of Saratoga Springs, New York, who has been spending a week among his old friends in Moncton, left town on Frlady to spend a few days with relatives near Fredericton. Mr. Rankin is an old resident of Moncton, and his well-come to our town is always most cordial. He takes his final departure for his home tomorrow morning. Mrs. P. S.
