

PLATT'S SON SMUGGLES HIM AWAY FROM WIFE

Aged Senator Taken in State of Collapse from His Hotel to Prevent the Couple Meeting—The Former New Brunswick Woman in a Rage Over the Situation.

(From Our Own Correspondent)
New York, Oct. 3.—Old Senator Platt, in a state of collapse, was borne off to the Hotel Gotham today and carried off to an impenetrable fortress in his suite of private offices in the United States Express Company's building at 49 Broadway, just one hour before the time of the expected arrival of his son, coming from the hotel where he had been staying. Mrs. Platt, who with the avowed intention of taking her proper and wife place at the side of her aged husband, but he might as well have stayed in his hotel. Mrs. Platt, who had just arrived from the hotel where she had been staying, did not come to town. She was still at the hotel, although she had been able to take some of the edge off her temper by smashing the camera and smashing the cheeks of a photographer who tried to snap her in the main street of Highland Mills. Mrs. Platt's intention to join her husband was due to the knowledge that she had come to her within the past twenty-four hours that Senator Platt had been disposing of his fortune, possibly to prevent her from forcing a big money settlement upon him and to exclude her from any substantial pecuniary benefit in the event of his death. Mrs. Platt thinks she can once again get the aged senator, as she once upon the plans of the senator's sons to prevent him marrying her.

Guarding Senator from His Wife
Because of this state of affairs, there is probably significance in the fact that the senator's lawyer son, Frank H. Platt, the son who has never noticed the former Mrs. Janeway since she married his father, who took the old senator away from the Hotel Gotham at noon.
Mrs. Platt, who took the old senator away from the Hotel Gotham at noon, took her husband away from the Hotel Gotham at noon. Mrs. Platt, who took the old senator away from the Hotel Gotham at noon, took her husband away from the Hotel Gotham at noon.

Platt Collapses.
Frank Platt and a porter bore Senator Platt across the lobby at a time today, steering his helpless form toward the street door. He was apparently unconscious, and fell in his arms as they limped in his long black coat as a bag of broken bones. His legs dangled helplessly, with his arms outstretched. He was a very ill man—too ill to be venturing abroad—but the son and the porter, who had been waiting for him, took him to his room. The porter, who had been waiting for him, took him to his room. The porter, who had been waiting for him, took him to his room.

Mrs. Platt Talks.
Mrs. Platt, after failing to effect a combination for mutual protection with her husband, began talking yesterday. She said that the coachman, Hedges, was not her protégé, but Senator Platt's, and that the senator intended taking him to Washington with him this winter, and having him educated. She also said that only a threat on her part to leave Senator Platt prevented the presence of the senator's wife—whose name and Senator Platt were linked, Mrs. Platt said, while she was still Mrs. Janeway, of Washington.

RECORD MOOSE HEAD PRIZE OF MARYSVILLE MAN
Shot One With Spread of Antlers That Measured 67 Inches—News of Fredericton.

Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 4.—Roy Robinson, son of Alex. G. Robinson, of Marysville, shot a moose at Young's Brook, on the Nashwaak, on Saturday night, for breadth of antlers, is easily the largest of any moose of the forest taken in the province this year. The head was brought out of the woods this afternoon, and on being measured at Enacks Bros' establishment, showed an antler spread of sixty-seven inches. The antlers are massive, of good formation, and carry twenty-six points. Mr. Robinson secured the prize seven miles from the settlement, and less than twenty-five miles from the city. He left his home at Marysville Saturday morning and got his moose the same afternoon. The young man was accompanied by his father and Alex. Somerville, and each member of the party shot a moose.

Savage laborers, while excavating Queen street, near the post office, unearthed two old copper coins, four feet below the surface. One was an English half penny, in a good state of preservation, and the date on the reverse side looked like 1313, but may have been 1315, as the second figure was a little indistinct. The words "trade and navigation" appeared on the reverse side, and on the face side was the figure of a woman. The denomination of the other coin could not be deciphered.

A branch of the woman's auxiliary of the Canadian church was organized at a largely attended meeting at the church hall here this afternoon. Addresses were delivered by Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Kulring and Mrs. Coster, of St. John. The officers elected were: President, Mrs. R. F. Randolph; first vice, Mrs. Street; second vice, Miss Hunt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Weaver; recording secretary, Mrs. R. A. Cropley; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Aiken; Dorcas secretary, Mrs. Morris. A girl's branch was also formed, with Miss Taylor president, Miss Taylor and Sterling vice-presidents. Miss Golding corresponding secretary, Miss Lindsay recording secretary, Miss Taylor treasurer, and Miss Whitehead Dorcas secretary.

Rev. Gordon Pringle, of Kincardine, Victoria county, is visiting Rev. A. M. Hill, Fairville, and will also visit Lorneville, where he was pastor of the Presbyterian church ten years ago.

Cabinet Vacancies.
Several important changes in the make-up of President Roosevelt's cabinet are imminent. One of them will be filled by the recall from St. Petersburg, of Ambassador George V. L. Meyer, of Massachusetts. It is not known just what portfolios will be left vacant by retirements and the shuffling which it is understood the president has in mind, but it seems probable that Mr. Meyer will eventually become either attorney general or secretary of the treasury.

Leslie M. Shaw will retire from the treasury on February 1, 1907, and William H. Moody will relinquish the attorney generalship even earlier.
Mr. Roosevelt has considered Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte for the attorney generalship, but Mr. Bonaparte, it is now said, wishes to remain where he is. Secretary Metcalf, of Commerce and Labor, may be advanced to one of the vacancies and Mr. Meyer will be asked to assume the other.

Cuba's Future.
President Roosevelt has made it plain he has no intention of calling a special session of Congress to consider the Cuban situation. According to the view which he has taken there is no occasion to secure legislative authority under present conditions. In assuming control of Cuba in the name of the United States the administration acted under the authority conferred upon this government by the Platt amendment, which is a federal statute and is incorporated in the Cuban constitution.

The president could not, however, annex the island without the authority of Congress, and as there was no thought of annexation the necessity for legislative action at this time does not exist.
While the president may have something to say about Cuba in the regular annual message which he will send to Congress in December, it is probable that he will review the matter at length in a special communication to be transmitted later. This special message is expected to be a strong anti-annexation document. The feeling in Washington is that the attitude of the president will tend to quell any agitation that may be started in behalf of annexation. When the Cuban republic has been restored, as the administration in Washington is firmly convinced it will be, promises will be exacted from the new government to observe a strict code of conduct with respect to the future. It is understood that once the management of affairs is restored to the Cubans, President Roosevelt will deliver a warning in very explicit terms which will leave no room for doubt that a revival of disorders will probably mean the end of independence.

MR. SAVARY HAS GONE TO THE STATES

Said St. Martins Young Men Had Prepared Warm Reception

SOME NEW STORIES WHICH ARE HEARD
Reported Incident of Letters Which Received No Answer—The Visit of Mrs. Savary and Threatened Action Against the I. O. R.

It may perhaps be assumed that this part of the country has seen the last of H. S. Savary, theological student, whose matrimonial venture has been a matter of considerable interest during the past few days. It has been learned that, after spending Monday night at the home of a friend, he returned to his home in the village, where he was in the city Tuesday, in conversation with a Telegraph reporter, were inclined to consider Mr. Savary as more than a warm reception if he ventured again to that vicinity. It was said that soon after his arrival in St. Martins about three months ago a letter bearing a postmark in Nova Scotia was received by the postmaster asking for information as to the whereabouts of a young man who was believed to be proceeding in a Presbyterian church in the village or neighborhood.

The letter was signed by a Mrs. Savary, who is the woman believed to be his wife, and went on to say that the writer had written him several times, and although no answer had been received, they had been returned through the dead letter office.
A few days later, the story goes, Mr. Savary, while in the post office, was in all innocence shown the letter, and it is said, the effect was so surprising that he appeared nervous and much upset and left without making any comment. In August a telegram from his wife informing him that she was on her way to St. Martins had, it is said, similar disturbing effect. When she arrived it was apparent that she was weak and ill and there were signs that she was rapidly sinking in consumption. She is described as fair and about twenty-four years of age. After a stay of only a few days Mrs. Savary seems to have taken to her bed. Her husband took her home, presumably to Plymouth (Mass.).

An incident of her departure is remembered. On boarding the train she was standing for a moment in the car when the engine caused a sudden jolt, which she was too weak to withstand and she was thrown to the ground. Mr. Savary was indignant and made threats against the railway of instituting a claim for heavy damages. Some additional light also comes from St. Martins as to the occurrence during the convention in September. At the evening session on the first day the girl who has figured in the recent events was reported to be present, and, on recovering to have been escorted to the home of her friends by the young preacher. Not much is known of the meetings between the two since Samuel, on recovering to have been escorted to the home of her friends by the young preacher. Report of U. S. Consul at Moncton to His Government at Washington.
The Boston Herald published the following Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—Industrial conditions are on the "boom" in New Brunswick, and the U. S. Consul at Moncton, Gustave Deutscher, of Moncton. The building trades especially are active, although skilled labor is scarce and wages are being rapidly raised. Men are leaving for the Canadian Northwest.

"Wages," says the consul, "are continually on the increase and the cost of living is very expensive, as the price of provisions almost doubled during the last few years. Statistics for foreign shipments for the year 1905 show a gain of $200,000. In 1906 the total trade of the district was $200,000. The plaster shipments at Hillsboro, all for the American market, show a remarkable gain, being 91,000 tons in 1904 and 123,233 tons in 1905. Great quantities of lumber, and the United States took $460,000 worth, besides crude and calcined gypsum valued at $136,413 and $183,147, respectively.

"In the last ten years the dairy industry has made rapid strides. In 1906 the output of butter and cheese in New Brunswick amounted to $76,000, and in 1905 the value was $34,400. In some counties the factories are run on a co-operative plan and the returns show that the system is a good one. Very little butter and cheese is exported from the local market, and the West Indies took most of the output. The average price for cheese was 12 cents and for butter 21 cents a pound. In 1905 the output was an increase of 10,701 pounds.

DIGBY COUNTY MERCHANT SUICIDES
Digby, N. S., Oct. 3.—(Special)—Wallace Trask, general merchant, of Little River, Digby Co., and one of the most prominent citizens in that village, committed suicide at 6:30 o'clock this morning by hanging himself with a rope in his home near his store and residence. He was got up as usual and seemed in the best of spirits. After going to the store and waiting on a customer, he returned to the house for his milk pail. As another customer was waiting to get in the store Mrs. Trask went to the barn to call her husband. She found the door fastened on the inside. She entered from the rear of the building and found her husband hanging by a rope from a beam with his feet just clearing the floor. Assistance was immediately summoned but he was dead. The affair had been carefully arranged with a banana case which he kicked aside after he was hanged. An inquest is now being held but the verdict can be nothing else but suicide.

No motive can be learned as the cause of his taking his own life. He was well known among the wholesale merchants of St. John and his credit was excellent. The whole village is thrown in a state of excitement this morning and the facts of the end of a young man, with difficulty. He leaves four brothers, Capt. Manning, Wentworth, Kiley and Burwell, of Little River, and four sisters, Mrs. George Devore and Mrs. McAlpine and Mrs. Arthur Haines, of Louisbourg, C. B. and also a large family connection in Massachusetts. The deceased was 35 years of age.

TELEPHONE WAR ON N. HAMPSHIRE

Nova Scotia Company Invades the Territory of the Cumberland Concern

AMALGAMATION TALK
It is Reported That the New Brunswick Company, if Its Merger With the Central Goes Through, Will Consolidate With the Big Nova Scotia Company.

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 2.—What promises to equal the recent telephone war in New Brunswick, is now on in Amherst between the Nova Scotia and Cumberland concerns. Shortly before the amalgamation of the Central and New Brunswick companies the Cumberland obtained a ten years' contract with the former, which gave it connections over all the Central lines. It also claims that it has connections over all the New Brunswick lines and an injunction was placed on the Central restraining the amalgamation of the two companies until the rights of the Cumberland were recognized and it is rumored that the injunction also restrains the contemplated amalgamation of the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick companies.

The Cumberland Company have in the town about 300 phones and throughout the country 200, with a capital of $30,000, which speaks well of the enterprise. The Nova Scotia, with 500,000 capital, has about 4,000 phones in use.
Prominent business men of the town state that the local company will be backed for whatever capital is required so that telephone subscribers will not have to wait long for the privilege of installing and the prospect of their being continued.

NEWS REACHED HERE THURSDAY
Son of Man Who Originated Short-hand System and Himself Elaborator of It—Conducted School in King Street for Some Time.

W. B. Wallace, K. C., received Thursday from his brother, Frederick, of Buenos Ayres, a clipping telling of the death of W. E. Scovil, elaborator of the Scotch system of shorthand, which his father had begun.
The following, copied from a Buenos Ayres paper of recent date, was sent him: "It is with sincere regret that we announce the death of William Elias Scovil, a member of the New York Herald Tribune, 122 Calle 25 de Mayo, on Wednesday evening, after a very long and painful illness. The deceased was born in Kingston, Canada. Graduated at King's College, Windsor, Nova Scotia, founded the King Street Academy, the largest school in the city of St. John, New Brunswick, where he taught for eleven years.

"Upon the death of his first wife he gave up the establishment and resided in New York city for thirteen years, where he was a professional reporter, connected with the New York Herald, Montreal Daily Witness and the law courts. He was a member of the New York Produce Exchange, established in 1882. He arrived in Buenos Ayres on Jan. 5, 1885, and occupied here various positions in business. One of his last appointments was as chief clerk in the correspondence department of the administration office.

After ten and a half years' service he left to take up other business and had been on the Standard staff during the past two years. Mr. Scovil was a Free Mason, and a member of the Citizens' Lodge, No. 628, F. and M. of New York city. He was a son of an Episcopal clergyman, a descendant of the old Loyalists, who left the United States in the time of the revolution. The subject of this notice was the son of Rev. William Elias Scovil, of Kingston, Kings county (N.B.). Many older citizens will remember him well. In company with Thomas W. Lee, he conducted a school for some years on the east side of the Mechanics' Institute. The Academy mentioned in the article was the St. John Academy, and was the site of a story of a building that stood near the head of King street.

Mr. Scovil's first wife was the only daughter of the late Dr. Wetmore, who lived in Cliff street. His family by his wife consisted of two daughters and one son. The daughters are Mrs. Gilmore and Mrs. Scovil. The son is Dr. Frank Brown, of Fredericton. Besides these Mr. Scovil's mother is still living at 108 Bedford street, Montreal. Anniversary of Royal Black Knights
The sixty-second anniversary of the founding of Queen's Royal Black Preceptory, No. 62, was celebrated at the Barker House, Loch Lomond, Wednesday night by a supper, two bands, and a large gathering of the party. The dining room and tables were decked with autumn leaves and bunting. Sir Knight Chas. B. Ward occupied the chair, and after Sir Knight D. McArthur had offered up thanks, all fell to and a right royal repast was enjoyed.

A round of toasts next followed. That to the King called forth the national anthem. Sir Knights D. McArthur and Robt. H. Robins responded to Queen's Preceptory, and the Orange Order brought speeches from John Kennedy, jr., and Sir Knight C. White. Ald. Spruiell answered the toast to the city, and Sir Knights W. C. Currie and Geo. A. Blair spoke for the ladies.

Stephen C. Matthews and J. E. Holder enjoyed matters with local sections, and Gilbert Davidson performed on the piano. With cheers for Mrs. Barker, and the singing of Old Lang Syne, the merry party left Ben Lomond and arrived home before the peep of dawn.

Got Two Years for Arson.
Toronto, Oct. 4.—(Special)—Judge Webster today sentenced John W. Dobson to two years imprisonment for setting fire to his piano factory. The judge said the possible penalty of arson was a life sentence, but the jury had recommended mercy. The prisoner had much trouble including his unfortunate experience with loan sharks. He had made a deliberate plan, however, regarding the act for which he was charged, and it was necessary to impose a penalty.

NOVA SCOTIA ELECTION CASES UP AT OTTAWA

Appeals in Halifax Cases Allowed and Petitions Ordered to Trial—Shelburne-Queens Now Before Court.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The case of the Halifax election, Hetherington v. Roche, was taken up first in the supreme court today. The appeal is from a judgment dismissing the petition because the trial was not commenced within the prescribed time. On November 14th, 1905, the petitioner obtained an order extending the time for filing his petition to the 15th day of July, 1906. On that day the trial judges refused the petition, holding that there was no enlargement after the 15th day, it being out of court.

Acting Chief Justice Groulx gave judgment, saying the appeal be allowed and the case set for trial on the 15th day of July, 1906. The case of the appeal was taken up first in the supreme court today. The appeal is from a judgment dismissing the petition because the trial was not commenced within the prescribed time. On that day the trial judges refused the petition, holding that there was no enlargement after the 15th day, it being out of court.

The case of Roche v. R. L. Borden and Carney vs. O'Mullin, the defeated candidates, the same judgment was given with the exception that the appeals were allowed without costs as the objection to the jurisdiction had been taken by the appellants in the court below and the respondents being ready to answer.

The Shelburne-Queens election appeal case, Governor Fielding vs. J. M. Leitch, was taken up next. It was only a few minutes before the hour of adjournment. Mr. Leitch, for the appellant, said that the appeal was on personal charges against the minister of finance and based on the refusal of the justice to compel the respondent to answer a question related to an expenditure of $100 in election case.

Acting Chief Justice Groulx seemed to be of the opinion that the appeal should be allowed. The case of Roche v. R. L. Borden and Carney vs. O'Mullin, the defeated candidates, the same judgment was given with the exception that the appeals were allowed without costs as the objection to the jurisdiction had been taken by the appellants in the court below and the respondents being ready to answer.
