

Correspondence.

Poor "Yank." Burns Himself.

Markinch, Sask., Sept. 19, 1911.

Dear Editor,—I have just lately become a subscriber to your valuable paper, the W.H.M., and must say I certainly do enjoy reading it, especially the correspondence pages. Some of your correspondents give good advice, I must say, and I believe if they would all take the same stand against certain habits it would do a world of good. For myself I am a total abstainer from liquor and tobacco. However, I do swear at times, especially when doing my culinary duties and happen to burn myself. I do not see any harm in card playing and dancing if done merely for pleasure. I am what is called a "Yankee" in this country, as I hail from Ohio. Have been in this Western land for three years, although I have also lived in Ontario. I see most of the correspondents describe themselves, so here goes: Am 22 years old, 5 ft. 8 ins. in height, weigh about 165 lbs., and have brown hair and blue eyes. I would like to have some correspondence from some of your fair readers. So if anyone should care to write to me, my address is with the editor. Will close, wishing your paper and all readers success.

Chatham, Sept. 14, 1911.

Dear Sir,—This is the second attempt I have made to join your correspondence column. We take the Western Home Monthly and have taken it for some years, and I enjoy it very much, not only the correspondence, but all the reading is interesting. I am a young girl, 19 years of age, am five feet six inches tall, weigh one hundred and thirty pounds, have grey eyes and dark hair. I like writing letters very much but enjoy receiving them better and I trust that these pages will win me a few more correspondents. So if any young people would care to write to me, I will answer their letters promptly. Would like to hear from "Last Grain" in the September number. Wishing your paper every success, I will sign myself

A Lonely Child.

"A Western Cowgirl."

Alberta, Sept.

Dear Sir,—Here comes Western "Cowgirl" again. Although I did not see my first letter in print, I am not discouraged yet, but will try my luck again. I have some jolly laughs when I read the letters in our dear Western paper. I am one of the jolly sex, and when started talking can go pretty hard. But, of course, am shy in getting started. What has happened to Archibald lately? He wants to show up again or we will all be asleep. Poor fellow; he got some pretty hard knocks. I will soon be seventeen and am 5 ft. 3 in. tall, weigh 103 lbs., brown hair and brown eyes. As for looks, I will let them pass. I would be pleased to hear from "Riches" and "Albertan" if they will please write first. Now, boys, brave up and write, as I don't think you are all shy. If you once write, you won't be able to stop. I will "halt." Leaving my address with the Editor and wishing the W.H.M. every success, "Western Cowgirl."

A Broadening Influence.

Manitoba, Sept. 7, 1911.

Dear Editor,—The correspondence column of your valuable paper has attracted our attention for some time. We believe in corresponding. What has a more broadening influence upon one's mind and character than meeting the many and varied personalities that people our earth? And is it not preferable to meet people on paper to not meeting them at all? We agree with "Truehearted" in his views on social problems. If women could but have the franchise what wrongs upheld by our laws in these matters might not be bettered! But will no truehearted man come forward to champion the cause of the weaker sex regarding our laws?

A Valuable Paper.

Regina, Sask., Aug. 12, '11

Dear Mr. Editor,—I have just finished reading over the correspondence column of your very valuable paper, the W.H.M., I take upon myself the liberty of congratulating you for sending out such a very instructive paper to cheer the hearts of so many lonely bachelors in this Western country. I have been out here for nearly two years, and I find it very lonely after being used to living in a town in the Old Country, so I would like to have one or two correspondents to keep me from feeling home sick. My chief reason in writing this letter is to congratulate you on having such an excellent way to draw young people together, by means of the correspondence column. I would also like to correspond with A Willing Bee from Alberta, whose letter I saw in the August issue of the W.H.M. I will now close, wishing your valuable paper every success, Scotty.

Poultry Farming and Dairying.

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 18, 1911.

Dear Sir,—As a subscriber to the W.H.M., and one of those who wants to get acquainted, I seek admission to the circle of the W.H.M. In other words, I am seeking again, my former efforts not getting me there. I am a bachelor all right, but am getting tired of it; the only thing I am not tired of in "batching" is reading the W.H.M. I am engaged in the business of poultry farming and dairying and like it fine. I am working up a good business, but think I would do a whole lot better if I had a life partner. I would like to hear from any young lady of good character, and would prefer those who are working for their living at any kind of work—housekeeping, clerking, etc. I suppose I should describe myself to keep up with the rest of the bunch. I am 30 years old, nearly six ft. up in the air, very seldom use tobacco, but smoke once in a
