Ryerson's new twist in stage presentation

There was an unusual experiment in theatre Friday night at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, involving seven students from the Mississauga area.

The presentation was called "This is Toronto", and had a cast of 100 students, none of which had ever been on stage before.

The performers were students from the Walter Thornton Modelling School who graduated this summer.

The audience arrived at the theatre, but was kept outside and served coffee in the quadrangle. As the speculation mounted as to what was going on a busload of "tourists" arrived, with a tour guide.

These were the performers. They were led into the theatre, followed by the audience.

The performance continued on-stage, including a scene from the Toronto Zoo, boutiques, the stock exchange, the planetarium, and the night life finale.

When the audience left the theatre, they became

Old age pensions on the up and up

OTTAWA — Federal Health and Welfare Minister John Munro said last Thursday that old-age security pensions will be increased in 1970.

Also announced by Mr. Munro and Revenue Minister J. P. Cote were increases in Canada Pension Plan benefits, survivor benefits, and contributions.

The increases follow a two percent increase in the pension index, the maximum allowed by legislation 113.7 for 1969 to 116.0 in 1970.

The pension index reflects increases in the consumer price index, which was converted in January of this year to a 1961 time base instead of a 1949 base.
