effects upon your friends.

My wife and I take great comfort in the thought of the comparatively agreeable nature of your position in England, and the good effect it will no doubt have upon your health and happiness. As an ardent lover of Canada I rejoice in the good you will be able to do to our Country. We need not say that we trust that you and Lady Pupper will command our services whenever we can do any thing for you.

Of the political consequences of your departure it is not for me to speak. But I cannot help feeling that in leaving you, the party with whose fortunes the interests of the Country are so bound up are losing the "Charists of Israel and the horsemen thereof". I hear me after another spoken of as your successor, but you will have no successor. The utterances of your enemies at this time
