SUGGESTIONS FOR JULY.—Grain-fields will demand attention if any weeds are found therein; and when the heads are fairly developed, go through the fields and pick out such spots as look best, and save the grain thereon for next season's seed. Oats blown down or lodged may be cut and cured for hay, and odd spots of wheat and barley may require the same treatment.

Wheat-stacks are best built long and narrow, with one side a little higher than the other, with boards to cover the stack.

Potatoe Ground.—If dug early for market, set cabbages fast as ground is cleared.

Cabbages may also follow field-peas if the ground is rich; and if not, a fine rich compost may be plowed in.

Corn, sorghum, millet, and Hungarian grass may be sowed for selling or for hay.

The Market Reports published in the Almonte GAZETTE are reliable, and are worth the whole price of the paper—one dollar per annum. No farmer in central Canada should be without it.
