ADVERTISE IN THE FARMER'S ADVOCATE

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Veterinary.WASHY MARE

Driving mare, twelve years old, purges when driven. W. J. C.

Ans.—It is probable her teeth need attention. Get your veterinarian to dress them. Take three ounces gentian, three ounces ginger, three ounces catechu, and six ounces bicarbonate of soda. Mix and make into 24 powders. Give a powder every night and morning. Repeat the prescription, if necessary. V.

LUMPY JAW.

A cow, three years old, calved five months and apparently in the best of health. A gathering has come upon her jaw. It is about two weeks since I saw it first; was very small then. It is about six inches in diameter at base now. Is it lumpy jaw? If so, will you prescribe for same? Will the milk be affected for family use? Oxbow.

Ans.—See answers to lumpy jaw in recent issues. The milk may be used unless the general health of the cow seems affected, or the lump is a raw sore.

RINGWORM.

Colt was in the field with calves that had ringworm. Now, the colt is breaking out in blotches on the hips. Do you suppose he has contracted the disease? Is a person liable to infection? A. E. K.

Ans.—No doubt the colt has ringworm. The disease is due to a parasite, which is readily communicable from one animal to another, and a person is also liable to infection. You must be very careful, or your whole herds of both cattle and horses will become affected, as the parasite can be carried on clothing, pails, etc., as well as be transmitted directly from animal to animal. Isolate all affected; soften the scales with sweet oil, remove them, and paint with tincture of iodine daily as long as necessary. After the disease has been eradicated, give the premises a thorough coat of hot lime wash with five-per-cent. carbolic acid. V.

DISLOCATION OF PATELLA.

Cow has an affection of the hock after standing a while. When she attempts to walk, the joint will not flex, and the leg is dragged along for a while, and often yields with a snap. H. G.

Ans.—The trouble is not in the hock, but in the stifle. The patella (stifle bone) becomes dislocated. Put her in a box stall, and keep quiet. Blister the front and inside of the stifle once every three weeks, as long as necessary, with two drams each biniodide of mercury and cantharides, mixed with two ounces vaseline. Clip the hair off; rub blister well in; tie so that she cannot bite the part. In twenty-four hours rub well again with the blister, and in twenty-four hours longer wash oil, and apply sweet oil every day. Allow her to be loose in stall. Repeat blistering in three weeks, etc., etc. If the bone will not remain in in the stall, tie the foot of the affected limb forward about a foot with strap from fetlock to neck until blister is washed off. V.

ROARER.

Horse had strangles last March. Abscesses continued to form for three months. He appears all right, when in the stable, but when at work, we can hear a distinct whistling, as the air is being drawn into the lungs.

1. Give treatment.
2. Is owner liable for damages for selling him?
3. If sold could he be returned?
4. If sold at public auction without warranty, would the seller be liable, in any way?
5. Will he improve, or get worse?

Ans.—1. This roaring is due to an abnormal condition of the larynx, caused by strangles. There is no successful treatment. An operation sometimes effects a cure, but the result is doubtful, and the operation and necessary subsequent attendance cost about $100.

2. It is not a contagious disease, hence no liability arises from sale, unless he has been misrepresented.

3. and 4. Guarantee, same as in case of unsatisfactory sale, unless otherwise stipulated.

5. Will he improve, or get worse?

Why don't you regulate that variable appetite, and condition the digestive organs so that it will not be necessary to starve the stomach to avoid distress after eating?

The first step is to regulate the bowels. For this purpose
