Insane Hospital.—We are happy that the attempts made a few weeks since to injure the reputation of the Medical Superintendent of this Institution, and thereby to lesson public confidence in the Institution itself, have proved abortive. The Committee of the House of Assembly, who have had the matter under examination, have entirely exculpated Dr. DeWolfe from blame. There was a great readiness on the part of some to take up an evil report upon insufficient grounds, and we are happy that their surmises have been swept away.
