namely, 3, 4, and 5 per cent. solutions, or 15 lbs., 20 lbs., and 25 lbs. of sulphate of copper respectively to 50 gallons of water. The trials last year were carried out in nine different centers, in four different counties. The practical destruction of the weed was accomplished in many cases, and in others 70, 80, and 90 per cent. was destroyed, and in other cases where the grain was tinged, it made a complete recovery. On one farm in Flintshire, June spraying killed about half the plants to three-quarters; the remainder were greatly checked, but looked like recovery. Accordingly the July spraying with a 4 per cent. solution was tried, the mustard then getting past the flowering stage, and most of the seed-pods formed. A week later every mustard plant was found to be dead and even the oldest seed-pods shrivelled up and killed. The grain was slightly brown, but speedily recovered, while the clover and grass seeds were not damaged at all. Summarising the results of the trials, Professor Winter remarks that they confirm in the main those of previous years. The 3 per cent. solution gave rather better results than usual, owing to the hot, dry season. Having regard to the moist climate of Wales, however, probably a 4 per cent. or 5 per cent. solution will be more effective. Of these experiments, the application of the solution on the young plants was not so effective as when spraying was conducted when the plants were quite matured.

EDUCATION, CULTURAL AND VOCATIONAL.

Principal Robertson of the Macdonald Agricultural College, near Montreal, addressed the Toronto Canadian Club recently on the value of education for culture as contrasted with education for a vocation. All thoughtful teachers will agree with him in the opinion that progress from the humanitarian standpoint, is more important than progress from the materialistic standpoint, and that increased satisfaction in living is more than increased wealth in land and buildings and manufactures. Unfortunately it is not easy to induce people to accept this view and act on it in practice. They persist in asking with regard to each subject of the school course of study what it is good for, and if there is no revenue to be obtained by its application to some industrial pursuit they have no more use or toleration for it.

This is, of course, in strict keeping with the general tendency of the times. To make money is apparently the first duty of man, and the second is to make as much display with it as possible. Materialism brings its own penalty in the form of vulgarization. The man who thinks of nothing but making money will ultimately find himself unable to give attention to or take pleasure in any other occupation. Rational recreation becomes for him an impossibility, because, being no longer able to take interest in anything except what costs or produces money, he is compelled by necessity to think only of that. Even the too ardent and persistent pursuit of science, as such, tends to crush and starve the emotional side of human nature. Charles Darwin says he was fond of literature in his youth, but he lost all liking for it as he grew older, and would at last take no interest in anything but physical science.

In education the term "culture" is used of both the intellect and the emo-

10,000 Well-Bred Cattle For Sale

Owing to the curtailment of their range by settlement, the New Walrond Ranch Company, Livingston, Alberta, intends to offer during the coming summer their entire herd of Shorthorn, Hereford and Galloway Cattle for sale.

Owing to the winter feeding and careful handling these cattle are semi-domestic, the young heifers are easily made gentle. For settlers they are the most desirable imaginable, being absolutely free from tuberculosis and other diseases common among dairy breeds, and while they are high-class beef cattle, they yield a large quantity of very rich milk.

When necessary to car them, neighbors should combine so as to purchase a train-load, say 300 to 400, smaller numbers cannot be handled profitably.

Bulls will also be disposed of.
