After the execution, the Champ de Mars compact was made, and in accordance with its terms, the Toronto Globe declared that the Government had wrong fully taken the life of an insane man. At this stage Mr. Blake made the speech which Mr. Davies praised so highly. The best men in his party hoped that their leader would take the opportunity to condemn the spitation then waxing hot in Quehec.

Mr. Blake did not a condemn it. It. SACKVILLE, N. B., JAN. 27, 1887.

A WORD FOR POWER AND POSITION.

Not quite a year ago Mr. L. H. Davies, of Charlottetown, under a speech in Music Hall, Sackville. On that occasion he referred in exceedingly high terms to Mr. Blake. Replying to the statement that his party had no platform, Mr. Davies said "A policy of which any party high the proud has recently been laid down by Mr. Blake at his great banquet speech in London, Ontario." Proceeding. Mr. Davies gain these words; "On that occasion he referred in the habit of works and the proud that the noble sentiment. ment of the Sackville men who cheered Mr. Davies, Mr. Blake said the word. Had Mr. Davies known that his leader would yield to the that his leader would yield to the temptation he would never have both repeal and Mr. Pipes. This is praised the nobility of not yielding, certain to happen if Sir Charles Tupthe braised the nobility of not yielding. Had the Sackville audience believed at that time that Mr. Blake would use the Regina scaffold to climb into power they would have withheld this applause. It was believed by many until the day that Mr. Blake made his speech in Parliament that he was wrongly charged with being a party to the bargain made at Quebec by his lieutenant J D Edgar. If the Quebec parties to the bargain can give Mr. Blake power and position they will do it. To this end they are straining every nerve. To this end Sir John Macdonald and the French Canadien Ministers are spoken of under no other designation in the Rouge press than as "pendards," "hangmen." The most incendiary appeals are made to the ignorance and the race prejudicies of those who can be roused to revenge by this means. "Vote for Edward Blake and revenge." These are the appeals which are daily made in Quebec. Half Mr. L. H. Davies been told last winter that this would be at a factor of the construction that the could not stand the test of Mr. R. McConnell, who may have been roused to result the strong of the could not stand the test of Mr. R. Minister Thompson will be a case. Case The cother parts and m noble than any statesman had spoken before.

Not many weeks after Mr. Davies had addressed the meeting at Sack ville Mr. Blake made another speech. This time he spoke in Parliament, and he followed his speech with his vote. His speech was a long argument in favor of a motion consuring the Government for allowing Louis Riel to be executed. On that occasion more than before, Mr. Blake the more pleasure would they look forward to the time how to the time how the premier of Canada. But a past not allowing act, can never be recalled, and some more than before, Mr. Blake, however nobly he may like this can never henceforth be regarded as a noble man.
